U. S. Leathernecks Slug Way Close to Crest but Chinese Troops Hold Fast

Hit Supply Dump

Most of Action Centers on Western Front in Korea

Seoul, Korea, Oct 6 (AP)—U. S. Marines fought through six bloody hours of Chinese Communist artillery and machine gun fire today in a futile effort to recapture an important hill position on Korea's western front.

Leathernecks of the Seventh Marine Regiment slugged their way close to the crest of the low outpost hill, but the Reds held fast. Chinese troops captured the hill Friday.

Most of the action along the 155-mile battlefront last night and today centered on the sensitive western front. Patrol clashes were reported from the eastern end of the line.

Carrier-based navy warplanes teamed up with U. S. Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers yesterday and unloaded tons of bombs, rockets and napalm on a sprawling Red supply dump at Hoeyang, south of Wonsan on North Korea's east coast.

The navy said 263 planes from the carriers Princeton, Kearsage and Essex took part in the raid, the biggest naval air strike in several months.

Hit Both Coasts

Night-flying B-26 invader bombers swung into action a few hours later and attacked Red targets on both coasts of North Korea.

The armor-vested marines launched their attack on the battle-scarred hill northwest of Korangpo shortly after dawn today. Almost immediately Red artillery and mortar shells rocked the area.

For four weary hours the marines clawed up the slopes, only to be pinned down by Communist machine gun fire. The battle continued at close range for two hours more before the marines withdrew.

Some of the marines were within 50 yards of the crest. The Chinese retired a few yards from the ridge line and hammered the area with mortar fire.

Allied warplanes darted about the contested hill all day. When the marines withdrew the fighter-bombers plastered the crest with bombs and jellied gasoline.

Say Reds Lose 150 Men

Eighth Army said the Reds lost an estimated 150 men killed or wounded. Allied losses were not announced.

The hill is the western half of twin peaks. The Reds on top overlook marine positions on the eastern height.

The leathernecks of the Seventh Regiment are part of the U. S. First Marine Division. The U. S. Eighth Army announced today that the division is holding the alllied western flank in Korea.

Report Deliberate Wounds to Escape Battle in Korea

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP) — In the Korean war, as in all others, there are some soldiers who deliberately wound themselves to get out of battle or out of the army.

But the army believes, although it can't prove it one way or the other, that the number in this war is comparatively small.

In response to questions, the provost general's office today made a spot check of records of the Far East command from the period July 1, 1951, to June 30, 1952. The office said that showed only seven cases which were established definitely as self-inflicted wounding.

Difficult to Be Sure

However, other army officers with long experience in such matters point out that it is difficult to detect and prove an actual case of self-inflicted wound. Almost the whole burden of evidence rests on the surgeons in the field who treat wounded men and on checks made at the scene by investigators. And they must rely primarily on the type of wound (including its location and whether there are suspicious powder burns from close firing of a weapon) and on testimony of the man and his comrades to show conclusively the act was intentional.

All but an infinitesimal fraction of the cases the surgeons treat obviously are enemy-inflicted or accidental.

Adult School Registration Slated Wednesday at KHS

Interest Is Indicated in Several Classes; Registrants May Sign 7:30 P.M.

Registration for the adult evening school sponsored by the Kingston Board of Education will be held Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 7:30 p. m., in the high school, Hubert Hoderath, director, said this morning.

In announcing registration, Hoderath said "through this adult education program the Kingston public schools endeavor to meet the needs of the adult population of the community. Inquiries and suggestions as to possible new offerings are invited."

Further information regarding the courses may be obtained by calling the director, 1884.

Other Classes Offered

The following courses have been taught in recent years:

Those in the academic field including English, public speaking, Spanish, social studies, chemistry, algebra, geometry, trigonometry and physics.

Child Study—The Pre-School Child and child psychology.

Business — Bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, business arithmetic and business machine operation.

Vocational — Auto-mechanics, electrical work, machine shop practice, toolmaking, mechanical drawing, sewing, food preparation and garment machine operation.

Americanization — English, American History and government

Enough Must Sign

Hoderath said today that new classes will be formed provided qualified teachers may be found and if there is a nucleus of from 12 to 15 interested persons.

The adult program director also reported that there has been interest shown in the formation of a band music class and another for a class on hooked rugs. Both classes would meet once a week, he said.

Interest also has been shown in parliamentary procedure, Hoderath announced this morning. Providing enough persons are interested, such a class will be formed to meet once a week, he added.

The program director also pointed out today that no student enrolled in regular day school will be admitted to the adult classes.

Billy Loes, Dodger Flinger, Holds Foes to One Hit; Brooklyn Can End Series Today

Brooklyn, Oct. 6 (AP) — Billy Loes, 22-year-old Brooklyn pitcher, held the Yankees to one hit in a duel with Vic Raschi as the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees battled scorelessly through the first three innings of the sixth World Series game today. Raschi limited the Dodgers to two hits in three innings.

The Dodgers, winners of three of the five games played, needed only one more victory to hand the Yankees their first World Series defeat since 1942. Since then the Bronx Bombers have won five fall classics.

Billy Loes, 22-year-old right-hander (13-8) was Manager Charlie Dressen's choice to oppose New York's Vic Raschi (16-6).

After Loes had retired McDougald and Rizzuto on five pitches to start the first inning, Mantle drew a walk on a 3-2 pitch. Mize drew a big hand when he came to bat, but he went out on a fly to Snider, who made a nice running catch in right center.

The Dodgers also failed to score in the first although they put two men on.

Cox looped a double inside the left field foul line to open the inning. After Reese popped to Berra trying to sacrifice, Snider walked on four straight balls but Robinson dribbled a grounder down the third base line and McDougald took it and stepped on third to force Cox for the second out. Shuba then was thrown out by Martin.

Woodling Gets Hit

With one out in the second, Woodling got the first Yankee hit, lining a single past Robinson's outstretched glove into right center. But he died on first as Noren and Martin both went down swinging.

Uptrend Reported At Polls in All Of Upstate Sectors

Registration Is Expected to Be Heavy in City of New York and Westchester

Almost 1,000 more voters registered in the city for the first two days this year than in the 1948 presidential election year, and the total at closing time Saturday was more than 2,000 above that of 1951.

The uptrend in the city was consistent with that in most upstate communities and when all totals are finally verified a local as well as statewide record may be shown.

Kingston's first two registration days drew out 7,961 voters, topping 1951 by 2,070, and 1948 by 917, and 1944 by 563.

Saturday's total of 3,812 was 337 under the record 4,149 on Friday, but a heavy four-day total is still indicated in the turnout.

The two-day total in 1948 was 7,044 and that in 1951 was 5,891.

Upstate Runs Ahead

The Associated Press reported that unofficial tallies for two-day personal registration Friday and Saturday in upstate communities of 5,000 or more ran well ahead of 1948, and said records were smashed in some cities.

This trend is expected to be shown during registration in New York city and Westchester county, which starts today and continues from 3 p. m., to 10:30 p. m., daily until Friday. The hours on Saturday will be from 7 a. m. to 10:30 p. m.

Newburgh Increase

Newburgh, which despite its population advantage, has been frequently below Kingston in registration totals, this year showed a two-day total of 8,169, which was 1,303 above 1948, but 115 under 1944.

Poughkeepsie, which has also lagged in registration as compared to its population, had a two-day total of 10,422 this year. This was 2,489 above the 1948 total of 7,933 and 132 above the 1944 total of 10,290. The 1951 two-day total in Poughkeepsie was only 5,470

Goodyear Retail Store Planned For Property Sold by McSpirit

Richard J. McSpirit announced today the sale of his property at 113-115 North Front street and all his land to the rear along Converse street to Raymond E. Craft, local realtor, and Albert C. Flick of 105 Main street, and the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio, has completed negotiations with Craft for the rental of the major portion of the property.

The Goodyear cmopany is planing to make extensive alterations to the property which will house a new Goodyear owned and Goodyear operated retail store and tire recapping center.

The property extends 68 feet on North Front street with about a half acre overall. It consists of a large modern showroom and garage, four adjoining buildings, two apartments and a large parking space. Mr. McSpirit completely renovated and remodeled the property to house his Kaiser-Frazer agency, later temporarily leasing the garage to the Bev Anderson Chevrolet agency. For the past two years he has conducted his used car business there. McSpirit will move his business on or about November first at which time an announcement of that change will be made.

Craft and Flick who recently purchased the McBride building on Broadway directly across from the new Rondout National Bank building, expressed great confidence in the future development of the North Front street area as well as the Broadway area.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company will carry a complete line of electrical appliances, household items, etc., as well as the tire and rubber products which have made the name of Goodyear known the world over.

It is understood that a long term lease has been taken by the Goodyear company and an announcement of the full plan of the company will shortly be made.

Goodyear operates similar stores in numerous cities. One of the features of the new Kingston store will be a modern tire recapping department, it was announced.

Craft and Flick are planning further development of the rear of the property to accommodate another rapidly growing industry which seeks expansion in this area.

Don't Like Attacks

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—The New York Times said today that public reaction "is on the whole distinctly unfavorable" to President Truman's attacks on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, according to reports from Times correspondents in the 48 states. "Most of the resentment expressed by persons interviewed," the Times said, "stemmed from the President's charges that General Eisenhower had given him wrong information on Russia and Korea, that the nominee was attempting to make political capital out of the Korean war, that the general's 'irresponsibility' was the cause of the precarious situation of the United States forces in Berlin."

Stalin Present for Talk Calling West Nations War Mongers

Moscow, Oct. 6 (AP)—Georgi M. Malenkov opened the 19th all-Soviet communist party congress last night with an hour-long denunciation of the United States and its "Bosses," who he said were bent on world domination and war on the Soviet Union.

Keynoting the first such party congress in 13 years, the leading member of the Soviet Union's ruling Politburo charged the United States is driving the capitalistic world toward economic breakdown and war, while the Soviet Union seeks only peace and is growing ever stronger and more prosperous.

Joseph Stalin and an audience of 2,000 delegates in the Kremlin's great hall heard Malenkov as he charged the "Bosses" of the United States had decided to "Wreck the peace and prepare a new war," a war on the Soviet Union, the "chief opponent of a new war and the chief pillar of peace."

Urges Red Strength

The Soviet Union, Malenkov continued, is "unwaveringly carrying out a policy of peaceful cooperation with all countries," but he warned that because of the "threats of new aggression from the side of the western warmongers, it is strengthening and will strengthen its defense capabilities."

Malenkov's long speech was made public first on a broadcast early today by Tass, the Soviet news agency. (Non-communist reporters are not attending the Congress sessions.) The keynote address, delivered in the past by Stalin himself, presumably laid the basis for policies to be approved by the congress. (Malenkov is generally regarded as Stalin's most likely successor.)

Congress Set for Week

Also on the agenda of the Congress sessions, expected to last a week, are approval of the new five-year plan launched 18 months ago for vast increases in industrial and agricultural production, and major changes in the party's organization, including replacement of the Politburo and

42 Jets Fly Non-Stop From West to Hawaii

Honolulu, Oct. 6 (AP)—Forty-two F-84G Thunderjet fighters flew non-stop from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., to Hawaii yesterday in the second trans-Pacific mass jet flight in history.

Their commander, Col. Donald J. M. Blakeslee, 35, Fairport Harbor, O., said it was "no strain."

The Thunderjets were refueled in the air by Boeing aerial tankers.

The planes are part of the 27th Fighter Escort Wing of the Strategic Air Command, based at Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin, Tex.

Thirty-three more, the remainder of the wing, are due today from Travis.

The 75-plane group is scheduled to leave for Japan next week for a three-month tour of duty with the Far East air forces, replacing the 31st Fighter Escort Wing which made the first historic trans-Pacific flight last July. The 31st will return to its base at Turner, Albany, Ga.

Truman Feud Livens Speeches Of Ike in West

Adlai's Campaign Is At Cross Roads

Shifts From Good Times to Issue of Communism in Talks

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6 (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign for the presidency reached a cross roads today—with a shift in emphasis and issues.

From a series of speeches built largely around selling the idea that another Democratic election victory will mean continued prosperity, the Democratic nominee turned to drafting a major address on the menace of communism.

The prosperity theme ran through speeches Friday and Saturday in Ohio, Iowa and Minnesota. The communism issue, on the basis of present plans, is to be the topic of a major address in Detroit tomorrow night—the first major address on a five day aerial sortie into seven states in the midwest and deep south.

Is Hitting Hard

From using a deft, sharp needle to jab at the GOP and at Republican candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower, Stevenson apparently has switched to a sledgehammer approach.

As he swung through Ohio, Iowa and Minnesota at the close of last week, Stevenson bore down on the premise that the American people have been pretty happy and prosperous for the better part of 20 years under Democratic administration. That, obviously, was intended to counter the Republican time-for-a-change chant, and Eisenhower's statements that dollars aren't worth as much as they used to be.

The Illinois governor summed it up in Minneapolis when he hit

Changes Battle Plan

Eisenhower began his campaign by announcing he would not deal in "personalities." And he couched his criticisms in general terms against the administration, the Democrats as a party, and the leadership in Washington.

But he was stung to anger by the attacks on him by Truman who asserted he was a "front man" for special lobby interests.

Eisenhower decided to pin-point Truman as his main target in the Fargo speech. All day Saturday as he flew between stops in the Dakotas, he made notes aboard his plane. Some of his aides tipped reporters a surprise speech was coming up.

That night Eisenhower opened his address by reminding his audience that "another campaign" had preceded his through the city a few days before. This was a reference to Truman's appearance in Fargo.

Not Afraid of Noise

"Now from its rear platform," he said, "I am told, salvo after Red not salvo was fired at me. Now, I merely say that I have been shot at by real artillery. I am far too old to be greatly disturbed by noisy but harmless blanks.

"However, it seems that we are supposed to accept that kind of racket as typifying the purpose or nature of the current Democratic campaign: Sound without substance; promise without performance; howls without harmony."

His audience roared with laughter. And Eisenhower appeared to be enjoying himself, too, in this new kind of assault on his opposition.

He took off his spectacles and leaned on the rostrum.

Calls Truman Drum Major

"Now the whole is blended into a raucous din and jangle led for seven years by the drum major of the administration's band," he said. "He asserts that the Democrats must march to the weird clatter he inspires, but his handpicked lieutenant shows definite signs of annoyance, even disagreement. He has gone so far as to

Truman Train Is Costing Taxpayers A Certain Share

Protection for President One of Items U. S. Pays for on 'Give 'Em Hell Special' Trip

Aboard Truman Train, Oct. 6 (AP)—How much is President Trupaign tour for Adlai Stevenson costing the government and "or the taxpayers?"

This was the query, relayed to this correspondent aboard the 10-car special train taking the president from whistle-stop to whistle-stop coast-to-coast.

An editor of a newspaper wanted to know.

The answer to that question is beyond the determination of a reporter without the power to subpoena witnesses and compel their testimony and time in which to record and weigh it.

The answer would involve a decision as to exactly where a political action starts and an official action begins.

Need Complete Record

It would require a complete record not only of the salaries of everyone aboard the "give 'em hell" presidential special, but of many others along the route it travels.

The Democratic National Committee has announced it is picking up the check for this 15-day speaking tour by Truman with an estimated figure of something under $25,000.

That apparently covers the railroad transportation, meals, hotel and other such expenses of the president, his speech writers, stenographers, secretaries, clerks and others.

It does not cover the expenses of the secret service men.

The law requires that they be with the president at all times, wherever he is and whatever his

President Covers Everything in His Boost for Party

Aboard Truman Train, Oct. 6 (AP)—President Truman asserted today that the Republican party appears unable to "see or understand what it takes to meet the menace of Communist aggression and subversion."

Whistle-stopping eastward through Utah in behalf of the Stevenson-Sparkman Democratic ticket, the President hit anew at the GOP and its presidential candidate, Dwight D. Eisenhower, in a speech prepared for delivery at Brigham Young University in Provo.

Lists His Points

The Democrats, he said, can take credit for the United Nations, the Marshall Plan, the North Atlantic Treaty, the Japanese Peace Treaty and the Point Four program of assistance to retarded areas.

"We had a lot of Republican help on these programs for awhile," Truman said, "but we also had a lot of Republican opposition."

"If the Republican opposition had prevailed, I have no doubt that France and Italy and almost all of western Europe would be under Communist yoke today."

Eisenhower, Truman asserted, has swallowed "isolationism whole."

He also denounced Republican talk of "government by crony" in Washington as "sheer poppycock—and politics."

Meanwhile, Truman's campaign strategy board worked on two new speaking itineraries for the "give 'em hell" campaign.

Tentative plans call for a whirlwind tour of New England—highlighted by a major address in Boston—and still another midwestern tour carrying Truman into Pennsylvania, Ohio and other states on his way home to Missouri to vote.

Tried to Stop Blood Flow As His Wife Sat in Daze

Tokyo, Oct. 6 (AP)—The army tonight disclosed that Col. Aubrey D. Smith tried vainly to stop the flow of blood from his mortal stab wound while his dazed wife, clutching a knife, sat on the bed opposite his.

The wife, Dorothy, daughter of famed U. S. Gen. Walter Krueger, is accused in an official announcement by Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters of "allegedly" slaying her husband. It did not say what prompted the slaying, or whether charges would be filed.

Smith died at dawn Saturday, six hours after a knife was plunged into his right side while he was lying in his bed at his Tokyo home.

The 45-year-old officer from San Antonio, Tex., was chief of the entire plans and operations division of the logistics section of the U. S. Far East Command.

His attractive wife is undergoing psychiatric examination at an army hispital here. There are two children, Aubrey Jr., 16, and Sharon 14.

The army said it confiscated a hunting knife from the house.

Eisenhower's Aides Say He Will Deal With President in Sharp Answers

Changes Tactics

GOP Candidate Is Stung Hard by Crack He's Just 'Front Man'

Aboard the Eisenhower Special, Oct. 6 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower beamed his political charm on Washington State today amid signs that a rip-snorting Eisenhower-truman feud will highlight the final month of the presidential campaign.

Eisenhower has scrapped his "no personalities" tactics and aides say he can be expected to rip into President Truman in future speches as he did Saturday night in Fargo, N. D.

The GOP presidential nominee—completing his first cross-continent drive—began his bid for Washington's nine electoral votes with a brief speech scheduled in Spokane. Then he was to visit Ephrata, Wenatchee and Everett before making a major speech in Seattle tonight.

He was expected in these speeches to outline his views on reclamation and power development.

No one could say just where Eisenhower might choose as the next point from which to open fire against his one-time close friend, Truman, who has been attacking the general in every speech he has made.

Newburgh Increase

Newburgh, which despite its population advantage, has been frequently below Kingston in registration totals, this year showed a two-day total of 8,169, which was 1,303 above 1948, but 115 under 1944.

Poughkeepsie, which has also lagged in registration as compared to its population, had a two-day total of 10,422 this year. This was 2,489 above the 1948 total of 7,933 and 132 above the 1944 total of 10,290. The 1951 two-day total in Poughkeepsie was only 5,470

Richard J. McSpirit announced today the sale of his property at 113-115 North Front street and all his land to the rear along Converse street to Raymond E. Craft, local realtor, and Albert C. Flick of 105 Main street, and the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio, has completed negotiations with Craft for the rental of the major portion of the property.

The Goodyear cmopany is planing to make extensive alterations to the property which will house a new Goodyear owned and Goodyear operated retail store and tire recapping center.

The property extends 68 feet on North Front street with about a half acre overall. It consists of a large modern showroom and garage, four adjoining buildings, two apartments and a large parking space. Mr. McSpirit completely renovated and remodeled the property to house his Kaiser-Frazer agency, later temporarily leasing the garage to the Bev Anderson Chevrolet agency. For the past two years he has conducted his used car business there. McSpirit will move his business on or about November first at which time an announcement of that change will be made.

Craft and Flick who recently purchased the McBride building on Broadway directly across from the new Rondout National Bank building, expressed great confidence in the future development of the North Front street area as well as the Broadway area.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company will carry a complete line of electrical appliances, household items, etc., as well as the tire and rubber products which have made the name of Goodyear known the world over.

It is understood that a long term lease has been taken by the Goodyear company and an announcement of the full plan of the company will shortly be made.

Goodyear operates similar stores in numerous cities. One of the features of the new Kingston store will be a modern tire recapping department, it was announced.

Craft and Flick are planning further development of the rear of the property to accommodate another rapidly growing industry which seeks expansion in this area.

Don't Like Attacks

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—The New York Times said today that public reaction "is on the whole distinctly unfavorable" to President Truman's attacks on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, according to reports from Times correspondents in the 48 states. "Most of the resentment expressed by persons interviewed," the Times said, "stemmed from the President's charges that General Eisenhower had given him wrong information on Russia and Korea, that the nominee was attempting to make political capital out of the Korean war, that the general's 'irresponsibility' was the cause of the precarious situation of the United States forces in Berlin."

Warns Reds U. S. Plans Soviet War

Malenkov Tells Meeting of Communists Story Americans Bent on World Domination

Stalin Present for Talk Calling West Nations War Mongers

Moscow, Oct. 6 (AP)—Georgi M. Malenkov opened the 19th all-Soviet communist party congress last night with an hour-long denunciation of the United States and its "Bosses," who he said were bent on world domination and war on the Soviet Union.

Keynoting the first such party congress in 13 years, the leading member of the Soviet Union's ruling Politburo charged the United States is driving the capitalistic world toward economic breakdown and war, while the Soviet Union seeks only peace and is growing ever stronger and more prosperous.

Joseph Stalin and an audience of 2,000 delegates in the Kremlin's great hall heard Malenkov as he charged the "Bosses" of the United States had decided to "Wreck the peace and prepare a new war," a war on the Soviet Union, the "chief opponent of a new war and the chief pillar of peace."

Urges Red Strength

The Soviet Union, Malenkov continued, is "unwaveringly carrying out a policy of peaceful cooperation with all countries," but he warned that because of the "threats of new aggression from the side of the western warmongers, it is strengthening and will strengthen its defense capabilities."

Malenkov's long speech was made public first on a broadcast early today by Tass, the Soviet news agency. (Non-communist reporters are not attending the Congress sessions.) The keynote address, delivered in the past by Stalin himself, presumably laid the basis for policies to be approved by the congress. (Malenkov is generally regarded as Stalin's most likely successor.)

Congress Set for Week

Also on the agenda of the Congress sessions, expected to last a week, are approval of the new five-year plan launched 18 months ago for vast increases in industrial and agricultural production, and major changes in the party's organization, including replacement of the Politburo and

42 Jets Fly Non-Stop From West to Hawaii

Honolulu, Oct. 6 (AP)—Forty-two F-84G Thunderjet fighters flew non-stop from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., to Hawaii yesterday in the second trans-Pacific mass jet flight in history.

Their commander, Col. Donald J. M. Blakeslee, 35, Fairport Harbor, O., said it was "no strain."

The Thunderjets were refueled in the air by Boeing aerial tankers.

The planes are part of the 27th Fighter Escort Wing of the Strategic Air Command, based at Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin, Tex.

Thirty-three more, the remainder of the wing, are due today from Travis.

The 75-plane group is scheduled to leave for Japan next week for a three-month tour of duty with the Far East air forces, replacing the 31st Fighter Escort Wing which made the first historic trans-Pacific flight last July. The 31st will return to its base at Turner, Albany, Ga.

Tried to Stop Blood Flow As His Wife Sat in Daze

Tokyo, Oct. 6 (AP)—The army tonight disclosed that Col. Aubrey D. Smith tried vainly to stop the flow of blood from his mortal stab wound while his dazed wife, clutching a knife, sat on the bed opposite his.

The wife, Dorothy, daughter of famed U. S. Gen. Walter Krueger, is accused in an official announcement by Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters of "allegedly" slaying her husband. It did not say what prompted the slaying, or whether charges would be filed.

Smith died at dawn Saturday, six hours after a knife was plunged into his right side while he was lying in his bed at his Tokyo home.

The 45-year-old officer from San Antonio, Tex., was chief of the entire plans and operations division of the logistics section of the U. S. Far East Command.

His attractive wife is undergoing psychiatric examination at an army hispital here. There are two children, Aubrey Jr., 16, and Sharon 14.

The army said it confiscated a hunting knife from the house.

Truman Feud Livens Speeches Of Ike in West

Shifts From Good Times to Issue of Communism in Talks

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6 (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign for the presidency reached a cross roads today—with a shift in emphasis and issues.

From a series of speeches built largely around selling the idea that another Democratic election victory will mean continued prosperity, the Democratic nominee turned to drafting a major address on the menace of communism.

The prosperity theme ran through speeches Friday and Saturday in Ohio, Iowa and Minnesota. The communism issue, on the basis of present plans, is to be the topic of a major address in Detroit tomorrow night—the first major address on a five day aerial sortie into seven states in the midwest and deep south.

Is Hitting Hard

From using a deft, sharp needle to jab at the GOP and at Republican candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower, Stevenson apparently has switched to a sledgehammer approach.

As he swung through Ohio, Iowa and Minnesota at the close of last week, Stevenson bore down on the premise that the American people have been pretty happy and prosperous for the better part of 20 years under Democratic administration. That, obviously, was intended to counter the Republican time-for-a-change chant, and Eisenhower's statements that dollars aren't worth as much as they used to be.

The Illinois governor summed it up in Minneapolis when he hit

Protection for President One of Items U. S. Pays for on 'Give 'Em Hell Special' Trip

Aboard Truman Train, Oct. 6 (AP)—How much is President Trupaign tour for Adlai Stevenson costing the government and "or the taxpayers?"

This was the query, relayed to this correspondent aboard the 10-car special train taking the president from whistle-stop to whistle-stop coast-to-coast.

An editor of a newspaper wanted to know.

The answer to that question is beyond the determination of a reporter without the power to subpoena witnesses and compel their testimony and time in which to record and weigh it.

The answer would involve a decision as to exactly where a political action starts and an official action begins.

Need Complete Record

It would require a complete record not only of the salaries of everyone aboard the "give 'em hell" presidential special, but of many others along the route it travels.

The Democratic National Committee has announced it is picking up the check for this 15-day speaking tour by Truman with an estimated figure of something under $25,000.

That apparently covers the railroad transportation, meals, hotel and other such expenses of the president, his speech writers, stenographers, secretaries, clerks and others.

It does not cover the expenses of the secret service men.

The law requires that they be with the president at all times, wherever he is and whatever his

President Covers Everything in His Boost for Party

Aboard Truman Train, Oct. 6 (AP)—President Truman asserted today that the Republican party appears unable to "see or understand what it takes to meet the menace of Communist aggression and subversion."

Whistle-stopping eastward through Utah in behalf of the Stevenson-Sparkman Democratic ticket, the President hit anew at the GOP and its presidential candidate, Dwight D. Eisenhower, in a speech prepared for delivery at Brigham Young University in Provo.

Lists His Points

The Democrats, he said, can take credit for the United Nations, the Marshall Plan, the North Atlantic Treaty, the Japanese Peace Treaty and the Point Four program of assistance to retarded areas.

"We had a lot of Republican help on these programs for awhile," Truman said, "but we also had a lot of Republican opposition."

"If the Republican opposition had prevailed, I have no doubt that France and Italy and almost all of western Europe would be under Communist yoke today."

Eisenhower, Truman asserted, has swallowed "isolationism whole."

He also denounced Republican talk of "government by crony" in Washington as "sheer poppycock—and politics."

Meanwhile, Truman's campaign strategy board worked on two new speaking itineraries for the "give 'em hell" campaign.

Tentative plans call for a whirlwind tour of New England—highlighted by a major address in Boston—and still another midwestern tour carrying Truman into Pennsylvania, Ohio and other states on his way home to Missouri to vote.

Crowds Like Way He Rips Foe Asunder

GOP Candidate Is Stung Hard by Crack He's Just 'Front Man'

Aboard the Eisenhower Special, Oct. 6 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower beamed his political charm on Washington State today amid signs that a rip-snorting Eisenhower-truman feud will highlight the final month of the presidential campaign.

Eisenhower has scrapped his "no personalities" tactics and aides say he can be expected to rip into President Truman in future speches as he did Saturday night in Fargo, N. D.

The GOP presidential nominee—completing his first cross-continent drive—began his bid for Washington's nine electoral votes with a brief speech scheduled in Spokane. Then he was to visit Ephrata, Wenatchee and Everett before making a major speech in Seattle tonight.

He was expected in these speeches to outline his views on reclamation and power development.

No one could say just where Eisenhower might choose as the next point from which to open fire against his one-time close friend, Truman, who has been attacking the general in every speech he has made.

Changes Battle Plan

Eisenhower began his campaign by announcing he would not deal in "personalities." And he couched his criticisms in general terms against the administration, the Democrats as a party, and the leadership in Washington.

But he was stung to anger by the attacks on him by Truman who asserted he was a "front man" for special lobby interests.

Eisenhower decided to pin-point Truman as his main target in the Fargo speech. All day Saturday as he flew between stops in the Dakotas, he made notes aboard his plane. Some of his aides tipped reporters a surprise speech was coming up.

That night Eisenhower opened his address by reminding his audience that "another campaign" had preceded his through the city a few days before. This was a reference to Truman's appearance in Fargo.

Not Afraid of Noise

"Now from its rear platform," he said, "I am told, salvo after Red not salvo was fired at me. Now, I merely say that I have been shot at by real artillery. I am far too old to be greatly disturbed by noisy but harmless blanks.

"However, it seems that we are supposed to accept that kind of racket as typifying the purpose or nature of the current Democratic campaign: Sound without substance; promise without performance; howls without harmony."

His audience roared with laughter. And Eisenhower appeared to be enjoying himself, too, in this new kind of assault on his opposition.

He took off his spectacles and leaned on the rostrum.

Calls Truman Drum Major

"Now the whole is blended into a raucous din and jangle led for seven years by the drum major of the administration's band," he said. "He asserts that the Democrats must march to the weird clatter he inspires, but his hand-picked lieutenant shows definite signs of annoyance, even disagreement. He has gone so far as to

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Know Your School Was Topic of PTA Meeting Thursday

Woodstock, Oct. 6—Know Your School was the topic discussed and actively illustrated at the first fall meeting of the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night at the school. Walter Van Wagenen, principal, outlined the general plan of the school curriculum and management, and also read a letter from the state Education Department to principals and supervisors. In the letter were contained the answers to the questions concerning subjects studied in an elementary school, student grouping and activities.

"We have 109 days in the school year to teach 14 subjects," Van Wagenen stated. Among subjects covered are arithmetic, reading, spelling, writing, history, social studies, patriotism, highway safety, art, music, etc.

In reply to the question, "What are children doing during the day?" he explained how a typical day's program is set up, and how the children are grouped according to their abilities within the framework of the various grades.

Referring to the question of textbooks, Van Wagenen stated that all books brought around by salesmen are approved by the New York State Board of Regents, but that the teachers and the principal select the books, which are an expensive item today. Books are furnished to the youngsters with the exception of work books which are paid for by the parents.

Van Wagenen believes that holding two classes in one room, such as a combined seventh and eighth grade science class is helpful to the students. While one group is studying and the other is in discussion, portions of the active work penetrate to the study group, aiding in the review or exciting interest in new subjects.

Pointing out the difficulties encountered by teachers in social studies, he explained that the text books, which now cover the period of the last 30 years, are not followed page by page. The teacher selects items from the book, or may even change the books from day to day. In modern education there are also many supplementary materials available to the teacher, including visual aids such as slides and film strips.

As to the large and controversial question of homework Van Wagenen said that school teachers believe that 85 per cent of the children should not have to do homework if they really work at school. If it is necessary for a child to do homework, he advised parents to be sure that he gets started on it early in the evening. He also advised against parents doing their children's reading for them.

Giving an account of the activity period which is held at the school from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., he said that the school now has a wide variety of activities including square dancing, photo club, science group, the newspaper and others. No child, however, is required to participate in any activity.

Although tests are given, every teacher could grade her students accurately without them. Achievement tests are now being given as low as the first grade, and one of the lacks they reveal is the small amount of good reading being done generally by the youngsters. This he attributes to the emphasis on the funny books in many homes.

At the conclusion of Van Wagenen's remarks, parents were invited to visit the various classrooms where they were met by the respective teachers. Books and methods of study and teaching were demonstrated. In the first grade, for instance, Mrs. Howard Bell displayed the newest, extremely helpful picture book titled, The New Before We Read. Mrs. Montano, second grade teacher, showed several work books and explained how they are developed from day to day.

During the business meeting which followed the program, which was attended by an unusually large group of fathers, Mrs. Joseph Marr, president, introduced the new officers elected last June. They were Mrs. Anthony DeLisio, vice president, Mrs. Melvin Leshen, secretary, and Mrs. Milton Houst, treasurer.

Mrs. Leshen read a letter from the School District No. 2, thanking the P-TA for the fine benefit play presented last spring and for the party given the graduates last June.

Mrs. Marr announced the following standing committees: Mrs. Ruth Kelly and Mrs. Ann Hefty, membership and hospitality; Mrs. Margaret Ruff, publicity; Mrs. Paul Perlman, chairman of program committee, assisted by Mrs. Hans Cohn, Mrs. Ira Deutsch, Allen Wetterau, Mrs. Vernon Wilber and Mrs. Sylva Hutchins. Mrs. Perlman announced a tentative list of programs for the coming year. Other committees are Mrs. Harmon Fischer, health; Mrs. William Stiffler, recreation, and Mrs. DeLisio, P-TA publications.

Considerable discussion took place on the matter of room mothers. Van Wagenen spoke highly in their favor. It was requested that the teachers make recommendations as to the functions of the room mothers and report on the subject at the November meeting.

Veteran Beef Wins Three From Peper's

Woodstock, Oct. 6—In the Saugerties B League Peper's Garage lost three games to Veteran Beef Wednesday night. Veteran Beef scored 751-815-729, and Peper's 641-715-700, with handicaps of 1-18-25. Individual scores for Veteran Beef were: C. Stewart 124-150; F. Slabodn 172-183-139; G. Terpining 168-146-170; C. Miller 168-145; M. Lucente 119-167-143; J. Phleghaar 174; T. Lucente 127. Individual scores for Pepers were: K. Harder 125-141-163; C. Harder 200-163-157; R. Baumgarten 87-132-103; C. Nicponski 142-142-122; J. Raymond 119. C. Harder was high single and high triple scorer with 200 and 520.

Local Garden Club Hears Miss Hubbard

Woodstock, Oct. 6—A meeting of the Woodstock Garden Club was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Samuel Gregg. A talk was given by Miss Florence Hubbard on her experiences with gardening. She particularly stressed the need for ground limestone and compost in this area. Several members were interested in her instructions as to how to make a compost heap.

A decision was reached to use the money, generously donated by the Woodstock Civic Organization, for planting flowering shrubs on the school grounds. It has been tentatively planned to put a row of forsythia along the entire right side of the driveway and to add several dogwood trees and other shrubs across the front.

Inflation and High Costs Called Worst Domestic Enemies

Inflation and high living costs are the worst domestic enemies of the nation, Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, told 125 postal clerks gathered here yesterday in a meeting of the Hudson Valley District, National Federation of Post Office Clerks in the local Elks club.

Price and Wage controls have been ineffective when the pressure of inflation becomes too great, he said, and the trouble comes of spending more than we take in.

The Congressman also charged that "There are too many schools of thought in Washington today . . . first, the tax more spend more group, and second, those who believe that taxes are already too high, and that we should live within our national income. I subscribe to the latter, as do most of the people of our district."

Criticizes Top Brackets

The rank and file of government workers, he said do a good job, but "we hear of glaring examples of incompetence and corruption at top levels." This, he held, "must be corrected, and the sooner, the better."

"Assuming," he said, that this situation has affected the cost of the federal government but five per cent, that is the approximate amount of the expected deficit this year in the budget, and the elimination of waste would in itself stop the inflationary spiral, and put us on a businesslike basis again."

Patrick Fitzgerald, president of Local No. 10, New York city, also spoke, and among those attending were William McGrath of Scranton, Pa., and Orlando Francione, of Rochester, both national vice presidents.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Trading interest was at a low ebb today in the stock market with prices showing a sagging tendency.

Gains amounted to fractions for the most part while losses extended from fractions to between 1 and 2 points.

Volume was at a rate right around the Friday total of 980,000 shares.

The market started narrowly mixed but by the end of the second hour it had begun to back down here and there an eighth or so at a time. The decline wasn't concentrated in any particular division but few areas escaped the cut-back.

Sees Strong Law Needed

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Henry H. Fowler says a strong stand-by price control law "and an organization ready to deal with a possible emergency" will be needed when controls expire April 30.

Brooks, Yanks Are

Pitler protested briefly when the Dodger catcher was thrown out at first in the second inning. Rizzuto made a good stop of Campanella's low drive and his wide throw pulled Mize off the base, but Mize got his foot back in time. After Hodges fanned, Furillo singled sharply to left, but he was stranded when Loes went out on strikes.

With two innings over, the stands were far from being filled. Entire rows of vacant seats showed in the upper left field section.

Quick Outs

The Yanks went out in order in the third. Raschi and McDougald failed to get the ball out of the infield, but Rizzuto belted a long fly to left center which Snider took near the wall.

The Dodgers also went out quickly as Raschi needed only five pitches to get Cox, Reese and Snider.

A capacity crowd of some 35,000 was on hand in the bright, sunny weather.

The lineups:

New York	Brooklyn
McDougald, 3b	Cox, 3b
Rizzuto, ss	Reese, ss
Mantle, cf	Snider, cf
Mize, 1b	Robinson, 2b
Berra, c	Shuba, lf
Woodling, lf	Campanella, c
Noren, rf	Hodges, 1b
Martin, 2b	Furillo, rf
Raschi, p	Loes, p

First Inning Yankees

Art Passarella, who figured in yesterday's controversial decision at first base, was soundly booed when his name was announced as the plate umpire.

McDougald took two called balls, then went out on a hard grounder to Cox.

Rizzuto raised a soft pop to Reese on the edge of the outfield grass.

Mantle walked on five pitches.

Mize flied to Snider who made a fine running catch of the loping drive in right-center.

First Inning Dodgers

Reese, attempting to sacrifice, lifted a stort pop to Berra in front of home plate.

Snider walked on four pitches.

McDougald fielded Robinson's hopper inside the line and stepped on third forcing Cox.

Shuba bounced out, Martin to Mize.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Second Inning Yankees

Berra went out on a high pop to Reese on the grass to the left of the mound.

Woodling lined a single past Robinson's outstretched glove and into right-center.

Noren went down swinging, the game's first strikeout.

Martin also went down swinging, on a 3 and 2 pitch.

Second Inning Dodgers

Rizzuto darted to his right for Campanella's grasscutter and threw him out at first.

Hodges struck out on a wide sweeping curve, marking his 15th official time at bat without a hit in the series.

Loes struck out, swinging at a fast ball.

Third Inning Yankees

Loes deflected Raschi's bounder to the left of the mound, and Reese came in fast to make a fine pickup and underhand throw to Hodges, retiring the slow-moving pitcher.

Third Inning Dodgers

McDougald whipped out Cox.

Woodling charged in to make a nice running catch of Reese's low liner to left.

Martin skirted to his left for Snider's fast-moving grounder and tossed him out at first.

Fourth Inning Yankees

Mantle went out on a soft pop to Robinson near second base.

Mize walked on four pitches.

Berra bounced to Robinson who threw to Reese forcing Mize at second. Reese's relay bounced past Hodges and Berra reached second on the error for Reese.

Woodling flied to Snider deep in dead center.

Fourth Inning Dodgers

Robinson was caught looking at a third strike, a slider that broke over the inside corner of the plate.

Shuba struck out, swinging.

Hodges struck out for the second straight time, missing a curve that broke low and outside.

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Know Your School Was Topic of PTA Meeting Thursday

Woodstock, Oct. 6—Know Your School was the topic discussed and actively illustrated at the first fall meeting of the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night at the school. Walter Van Wagenen, principal, outlined the general plan of the school curriculum and management, and also read a letter from the state Education Department to principals and supervisors. In the letter were contained the answers to the questions concerning subjects studied in an elementary school, student grouping and activities.

"We have 109 days in the school year to teach 14 subjects," Van Wagenen stated. Among subjects covered are arithmetic, reading, spelling, writing, history, social studies, patriotism, highway safety, art, music, etc.

In reply to the question, "What are children doing during the day?" he explained how a typical day's program is set up, and how the children are grouped according to their abilities within the framework of the various grades.

Referring to the question of textbooks, Van Wagenen stated that all books brought around by salesmen are approved by the New York State Board of Regents, but that the teachers and the principal select the books, which are an expensive item today. Books are furnished to the youngsters with the exception of work books which are paid for by the parents.

Van Wagenen believes that holding two classes in one room, such as a combined seventh and eighth grade science class is helpful to the students. While one group is studying and the other is in discussion, portions of the active work penetrate to the study group, aiding in the review or exciting interest in new subjects.

Pointing out the difficulties encountered by teachers in social studies, he explained that the text books, which now cover the period of the last 30 years, are not followed page by page. The teacher selects items from the book, or may even change the books from day to day. In modern education there are also many supplementary materials available to the teacher, including visual aids such as slides and film strips.

As to the large and controversial question of homework Van Wagenen said that school teachers believe that 85 per cent of the children should not have to do homework if they really work at school. If it is necessary for a child to do homework, he advised parents to be sure that he gets started on it early in the evening. He also advised against parents doing their children's reading for them.

Giving an account of the activity period which is held at the school from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., he said that the school now has a wide variety of activities including square dancing, photo club, science group, the newspaper and others. No child, however, is required to participate in any activity.

Although tests are given, every teacher could grade her students accurately without them. Achievement tests are now being given as low as the first grade, and one of the lacks they reveal is the small amount of good reading being done generally by the youngsters. This he attributes to the emphasis on the funny books in many homes.

At the conclusion of Van Wagenen's remarks, parents were invited to visit the various classrooms where they were met by the respective teachers. Books and methods of study and teaching were demonstrated. In the first grade, for instance, Mrs. Howard Bell displayed the newest, extremely helpful picture book titled, The New Before We Read. Mrs. Montano, second grade teacher, showed several work books and explained how they are developed from day to day.

During the business meeting which followed the program, which was attended by an unusually large group of fathers, Mrs. Joseph Marr, president, introduced the new officers elected last June. They were Mrs. Anthony DeLisio, vice president, Mrs. Melvin Leshen, secretary, and Mrs. Milton Houst, treasurer.

Mrs. Leshen read a letter from the School District No. 2, thanking the P-TA for the fine benefit play presented last spring and for the party given the graduates last June.

Mrs. Marr announced the following standing committees: Mrs. Ruth Kelly and Mrs. Ann Hefty, membership and hospitality; Mrs. Margaret Ruff, publicity; Mrs. Paul Perlman, chairman of program committee, assisted by Mrs. Hans Cohn, Mrs. Ira Deutsch, Allen Wetterau, Mrs. Vernon Wilber and Mrs. Sylva Hutchins. Mrs. Perlman announced a tentative list of programs for the coming year. Other committees are Mrs. Harmon Fischer, health; Mrs. William Stiffler, recreation, and Mrs. DeLisio, P-TA publications.

Considerable discussion took place on the matter of room mothers. Van Wagenen spoke highly in their favor. It was requested that the teachers make recommendations as to the functions of the room mothers and report on the subject at the November meeting.

Local Garden Club Hears Miss Hubbard

Woodstock, Oct. 6—A meeting of the Woodstock Garden Club was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Samuel Gregg. A talk was given by Miss Florence Hubbard on her experiences with gardening. She particularly stressed the need for ground limestone and compost in this area. Several members were interested in her instructions as to how to make a compost heap.

A decision was reached to use the money, generously donated by the Woodstock Civic Organization, for planting flowering shrubs on the school grounds. It has been tentatively planned to put a row of forsythia along the entire right side of the driveway and to add several dogwood trees and other shrubs across the front.

Inflation and High Costs Called Worst Domestic Enemies

Inflation and high living costs are the worst domestic enemies of the nation, Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, told 125 postal clerks gathered here yesterday in a meeting of the Hudson Valley District, National Federation of Post Office Clerks in the local Elks club.

Price and Wage controls have been ineffective when the pressure of inflation becomes too great, he said, and the trouble comes of spending more than we take in.

The Congressman also charged that "There are too many schools of thought in Washington today . . . first, the tax more spend more group, and second, those who believe that taxes are already too high, and that we should live within our national income. I subscribe to the latter, as do most of the people of our district."

Criticizes Top Brackets

The rank and file of government workers, he said do a good job, but "we hear of glaring examples of incompetence and corruption at top levels." This, he held, "must be corrected, and the sooner, the better."

"Assuming," he said, that this situation has affected the cost of the federal government but five per cent, that is the approximate amount of the expected deficit this year in the budget, and the elimination of waste would in itself stop the inflationary spiral, and put us on a businesslike basis again."

Patrick Fitzgerald, president of Local No. 10, New York city, also spoke, and among those attending were William McGrath of Scranton, Pa., and Orlando Francione, of Rochester, both national vice presidents.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Trading interest was at a low ebb today in the stock market with prices showing a sagging tendency.

Gains amounted to fractions for the most part while losses extended from fractions to between 1 and 2 points.

Volume was at a rate right around the Friday total of 980,000 shares.

The market started narrowly mixed but by the end of the second hour it had begun to back down here and there an eighth or so at a time. The decline wasn't concentrated in any particular division but few areas escaped the cut-back.

Sees Strong Law Needed

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Henry H. Fowler says a strong stand-by price control law "and an organization ready to deal with a possible emergency" will be needed when controls expire April 30.

Brooks, Yanks Are

Pitler protested briefly when the Dodger catcher was thrown out at first in the second inning. Rizzuto made a good stop of Campanella's low drive and his wide throw pulled Mize off the base, but Mize got his foot back in time. After Hodges fanned, Furillo singled sharply to left, but he was stranded when Loes went out on strikes.

With two innings over, the stands were far from being filled. Entire rows of vacant seats showed in the upper left field section.

Quick Outs

The Yanks went out in order in the third. Raschi and McDougald failed to get the ball out of the infield, but Rizzuto belted a long fly to left center which Snider took near the wall.

The Dodgers also went out quickly as Raschi needed only five pitches to get Cox, Reese and Snider.

A capacity crowd of some 35,000 was on hand in the bright, sunny weather.

The lineups:

New York	Brooklyn
McDougald, 3b	Cox, 3b
Rizzuto, ss	Reese, ss
Mantle, cf	Snider, cf
Mize, 1b	Robinson, 2b
Berra, c	Shuba, lf
Woodling, lf	Campanella, c
Noren, rf	Hodges, 1b
Martin, 2b	Furillo, rf

First Inning Yankees

Art Passarella, who figured in yesterday's controversial decision at first base, was soundly booed when his name was announced as the plate umpire.

McDougald took two called balls, then went out on a hard grounder to Cox.

Rizzuto raised a soft pop to Reese on the edge of the outfield grass.

Mantle walked on five pitches.

Mize flied to Snider who made a fine running catch of the loping drive in right-center.

Reese, attempting to sacrifice, lifted a stort pop to Berra in front of home plate.

Snider walked on four pitches.

McDougald fielded Robinson's hopper inside the line and stepped on third forcing Cox.

Shuba bounced out, Martin to Mize.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Second Inning Yankees

Berra went out on a high pop to Reese on the grass to the left of the mound.

Woodling lined a single past Robinson's outstretched glove and into right-center.

Noren went down swinging, the game's first strikeout.

Martin also went down swinging, on a 3 and 2 pitch.

Second Inning Dodgers

Rizzuto darted to his right for Campanella's grasscutter and threw him out at first.

Hodges struck out on a wide sweeping curve, marking his 15th official time at bat without a hit in the series.

Loes struck out, swinging at a fast ball.

Third Inning Yankees

Loes deflected Raschi's bounder to the left of the mound, and Reese came in fast to make a fine pickup and underhand throw to Hodges, retiring the slow-moving pitcher.

Third Inning Dodgers

McDougald whipped out Cox.

Woodling charged in to make a nice running catch of Reese's low liner to left.

Martin skirted to his left for Snider's fast-moving grounder and tossed him out at first.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Fourth Inning Yankees

Mantle went out on a soft pop to Robinson near second base.

Mize walked on four pitches.

Berra bounced to Robinson who threw to Reese forcing Mize at second. Reese's relay bounced past Hodges and Berra reached second on the error for Reese.

Woodling flied to Snider deep in dead center.

Fourth Inning Dodgers

Robinson was caught looking at a third strike, a slider that broke over the inside corner of the plate.

Shuba struck out, swinging.

Hodges struck out for the second straight time, missing a curve that broke low and outside.

Dies After Fall at Dance

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Jennie Sekinda, 43, of Maspeth, Queens, died yesterday after falling and striking her head on a ballroom floor during a dance. Police, who listed the death as accidental, said she slipped while dancing. Her friends took her to Wyckoff Heights Hospital, where she was pronounced dead on arrival. The hospital said the cause of death had not been determined immediately.

BPW Meets Today On Sewer Bids

The Board of Public Works was scheduled to meet at 2 p. m. today to discuss the awarding of a contract for the rebuilding of a section of the Clinton avenue sewer line betwen Cedar and Henry streets

Bids were opened Friday and the board adjourned until today pending tabulation before a final decision.

The three contractors submitting bids were James Barardi, the Kingston Blacktop Paving & Construction Co., both of this city, and V. J. Costanzi, Inc., of this city and Poughkeepsie.

The board also decided to advertise for bids to construct storm water and sanitary sewers for the local housing project off Flatbush avenue.

Governor on Sunday

Gov. Adlai Stevenson walks thorugh Springfield, Ill., on his way to the First Presbyterian Church to take Communion. He is accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ives, and her husband, Ernest, (right). (NEA Telephoto).

Adlai's Campaign

at the GOP as talking about false prosperity.

"False prosperity, indeed," he snorted. "As false as money in the bank, fertilizer in the soil, a new tractor, and a new washing machine.

Gives His Reasons

"You will find your reasons for supporting the Democratic party in debt-free farms, in markets for your harvest, in your strong cooperatives, in the homes you own, in the vacations you take, * * * in your new security * * *, in schools * * *, in plans you can make for your future."

All day long Saturday, at Fort Dodge, Iowa, then at Minneapolis and finally at St. Paul, Stevenson took harder and harder swats at Eisenhower and the GOP. He built up to a climax in St. Paul, where he named names and even called a few.

He called Eisenhower a captive of the GOP "old guard," man who "seems to have embraced or been embraced by the most reckless and embittered wing of his party."

Jabs McCarthy, Taft

He said Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin is a "champion of the inquisition, champion of trial by ordeal and slander."

He said Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio is the political mentor of the general and a man who had "made opposition a matter of principle."

While his audience cut loose with lusty boos, Stevenson said McCarthy, Taft, and other GOP senators would be part of a murderers' row" in the Senate, in charge of key committees, if the Republicans elect to office all the candidates Eisenhower has endorsed.

Refers to Depression

Then, in one of the broadest swipes he has taken so far at the rival party the Democratic nominee went on to say:

"With do-nothing, care-nothing, mindless mumbo-jumbo they will let America and the world slide into depression. And such misery bears the seeds of another world war.

"They are the party of confusion, hesitation, weakness, and that is the signpost that points to disaster and war."

Six Persons Hurt In Route 32 Crash

Six persons were injured, none of them seriously, in an accident on Route 32 near the Ulster-Greene county line about 5:55 p. m. Sunday, according to a state police report.

Three of those listed among the injured were admitted to Greene County Memorial Hospital in Catskill, where their conditions were reported as "good" this morning. They were Mrs. John McLoughlin, 43, of Dumont, N. J.; Paul Puccio, of Long Island City, and Earl Geck, 48, of Buffalo.

Three McLoughlin children were treated by a passing New Jersey physician for contusions and abrasions, according to the troopers' report, but were not hospitalized. They were Eleanor, 19; Margaret, 18, and John McLoughlin, 7, all of Dumont.

State police said that the McLoughlins were traveling south on Route 32 in an automobile driven by Puccio when it was in collision with a northbound truck driven by Geck. The accident occurred in Ulster county about three-tenths of a mile south of the Greene county line, troopers said. No arrest was made.

Arrives for Inspection

Tokyo, Oct. 6 (AP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chief of U. S. naval forces in the Pacific, arrived today on what he called a routine inspection.

None Are Injured In Three-Car Mishap

No one was reported injured in a three-automobile accident on the Onteora Trail near the junction of Route 28A three and a half miles west of Kingston about 11:50 p. m. Saturday, the sheriff's office reported.

Jailer Wesley O'Brien and Deputy Chester A. Wolven reported an automobile driven by Allan Drake, 28, of Hurley, who was driving on the downgrade toward Kingston was in collision with an automobile driven by Carmen Finelli, 28, of Kearny, N. J., which was backing out of the parking lot at the Avalon. The Drake vehicle then struck the left fender of a parked automobile operated by Robert Beesmer, 25, of RFD 4, Kingston, the sheriff's men said. No arrest was made.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

Dies After Fall at Dance

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Jennie Sekinda, 43, of Maspeth, Queens, died yesterday after falling and striking her head on a ballroom floor during a dance. Police, who listed the death as accidental, said she slipped while dancing. Her friends took her to Wyckoff Heights Hospital, where she was pronounced dead on arrival. The hospital said the cause of death had not been determined immediately.

Reds Defeated Again

Tokyo, Oct. 6 (AP)—Japan's Communist party, shut out completely in last week's national election, took another beating yesterday. Incomplete returns today showed they failed to win a single seat in the nation-wide voting for local boards of education.

BPW Meets Today On Sewer Bids

The Board of Public Works was scheduled to meet at 2 p. m. today to discuss the awarding of a contract for the rebuilding of a section of the Clinton avenue sewer line betwen Cedar and Henry streets

Bids were opened Friday and the board adjourned until today pending tabulation before a final decision.

The three contractors submitting bids were James Barardi, the Kingston Blacktop Paving & Construction Co., both of this city, and V. J. Costanzi, Inc., of this city and Poughkeepsie.

The board also decided to advertise for bids to construct storm water and sanitary sewers for the local housing project off Flatbush avenue.

Governor on Sunday

Gov. Adlai Stevenson walks thorugh Springfield, Ill., on his way to the First Presbyterian Church to take Communion. He is accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ives, and her husband, Ernest, (right). (NEA Telephoto).

Adlai's Campaign

at the GOP as talking about false prosperity.

"False prosperity, indeed," he snorted. "As false as money in the bank, fertilizer in the soil, a new tractor, and a new washing machine.

Gives His Reasons

"You will find your reasons for supporting the Democratic party in debt-free farms, in markets for your harvest, in your strong cooperatives, in the homes you own, in the vacations you take, * * * in your new security * * *, in schools * * *, in plans you can make for your future."

All day long Saturday, at Fort Dodge, Iowa, then at Minneapolis and finally at St. Paul, Stevenson took harder and harder swats at Eisenhower and the GOP. He built up to a climax in St. Paul, where he named names and even called a few.

He called Eisenhower a captive of the GOP "old guard," man who "seems to have embraced or been embraced by the most reckless and embittered wing of his party."

Jabs McCarthy, Taft

He said Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin is a "champion of the inquisition, champion of trial by ordeal and slander."

He said Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio is the political mentor of the general and a man who had "made opposition a matter of principle."

While his audience cut loose with lusty boos, Stevenson said McCarthy, Taft, and other GOP senators would be part of a murderers' row" in the Senate, in charge of key committees, if the Republicans elect to office all the candidates Eisenhower has endorsed.

Refers to Depression

Then, in one of the broadest swipes he has taken so far at the rival party the Democratic nominee went on to say:

"With do-nothing, care-nothing, mindless mumbo-jumbo they will let America and the world slide into depression. And such misery bears the seeds of another world war.

"They are the party of confusion, hesitation, weakness, and that is the signpost that points to disaster and war."

Six Persons Hurt In Route 32 Crash

Six persons were injured, none of them seriously, in an accident on Route 32 near the Ulster-Greene county line about 5:55 p. m. Sunday, according to a state police report.

Three of those listed among the injured were admitted to Greene County Memorial Hospital in Catskill, where their conditions were reported as "good" this morning. They were Mrs. John McLoughlin, 43, of Dumont, N. J.; Paul Puccio, of Long Island City, and Earl Geck, 48, of Buffalo.

Three McLoughlin children were treated by a passing New Jersey physician for contusions and abrasions, according to the troopers' report, but were not hospitalized. They were Eleanor, 19; Margaret, 18, and John McLoughlin, 7, all of Dumont.

State police said that the McLoughlins were traveling south on Route 32 in an automobile driven by Puccio when it was in collision with a northbound truck driven by Geck. The accident occurred in Ulster county about three-tenths of a mile south of the Greene county line, troopers said. No arrest was made.

Arrives for Inspection

Tokyo, Oct. 6 (AP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chief of U. S. naval forces in the Pacific, arrived today on what he called a routine inspection.

None Are Injured In Three-Car Mishap

No one was reported injured in a three-automobile accident on the Onteora Trail near the junction of Route 28A three and a half miles west of Kingston about 11:50 p. m. Saturday, the sheriff's office reported.

Jailer Wesley O'Brien and Deputy Chester A. Wolven reported an automobile driven by Allan Drake, 28, of Hurley, who was driving on the downgrade toward Kingston was in collision with an automobile driven by Carmen Finelli, 28, of Kearny, N. J., which was backing out of the parking lot at the Avalon. The Drake vehicle then struck the left fender of a parked automobile operated by Robert Beesmer, 25, of RFD 4, Kingston, the sheriff's men said. No arrest was made.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

TIME TO CALL A HALT

Fire is taking an increasingly heavy toll of life and property in the United States.

Deaths totaled over 12,000 in 1951, a new high. About half of this number died in fires in their own homes. Four thousand, almost a third, were children under 14 years of age. Thirty-five hundred lived on farms or in rural areas. The total was within 500 of the number of Americans killed in the first year of the Korean War.

Property losses totaled $823,500,000 in 1951, also a new high. Not satisfied, Americans apparently are going to burn up $855,000,000 in property in 1952. About a fifth of this loss will be in homes we've needed so badly and have been building so quickly. A quarter, almost $250,000,000 will be in industrial plants. A little more than a hundred million dollars' worth of farm buildings will go up in smoke and flame—far more expensive to rebuild at today's costs than they were when built.

Perhaps there is no way out. Perhaps such losses are inevitable, but the National Fire Protection Association, source of these statistics says, "No, we can stop burning ourselves up if we will."

Here's a seven-point program that the N.F.P.A. says will prevent 90 per cent of the fires in homes: Be careful with matches and smoking. Don't smoke in bed. Be careful with flammable liquids. Don't use explosive cleaning fluids. Throw out papers, rags, old furniture out of attics, closets and basements. Inspect and clean chimneys once a year. Keep heating plants clean and in good repair. Recover combustible wood shingles with fire-resistant roofing, such as asphalt shingles. Don't overload electrical circuits. Replace frayed cords. Don't substitute a penny for a fuse.

RUSSIAN SECRETS

East Germany as an independent state is a myth. This was revealed unwittingly by members of the East German parliamentary delegation who came to Bonn to talk over unity with West Germany. They made three damaging statements. One was an admission that the East German secret police were not under the nominal government's control. Presumably they are chosen and dominated by Russia.

As a second miscue the Communist delegates said that a reunited Germany would now have to pay reparations to Russia, as East Germany does now, and must continue to do so for 12 years. more. The Western estimate is that these East German reparations, styled "moderate" by the Communists, come to 30 per cent of the region's entire production.

Finally one Communist speaker blurted out that his delegation had come primarily to stop ratification of the treaty whereby West Germany would contribute men to the European army. The official Communist story has been that the delegates wished merely to promote the reunion of the two parts of Germany.

When the Kremlin realizes the damage done to its cause by the stupidity of its East German agents, trouble will descend upon the agents.

WEAK LINK IN A CHAIN

Bhutim, an undeveloped country between Tibet and India, has an unusual traffic problem. The roads which the government is trying to build through wooded mountains are continually being torn up by wild elephants. The venturesome driver who stops to change a tire has a fair chance of being eaten by a tiger.

Bhutim interests India and the West just now because it is one of the buffer states which it is hoped may hold back Communism. It is under the supervision of India as far as its foreign relations are concerned, but its population includes a good many Chinese, who, for all the government knows, may be Communist agents. These could count on the support of those inhabitants who come from neighboring Nepal, and who are dissatisfied with the corrupt and inefficient rule of their tribal chiefs.

There are many such weak links in the anti-Red chain. Constant care is needed to make sure that no one snaps.

The New York-Peiping peace meetings, a movement with strong Communist support, will be held in New York. It is possible that no Chinese Communist spies will be present. On the other hand there may be a few Peiping Toms.

An inkwell which will not spill if it is dropped or knocked over has been marketed by a Massachusetts company. What we need is a device to remind us to fill our fountain pen.

THE BATTLE OF THE FUNDS

Now that Adlai Stevenson has produced his secret fund, the battle of the funds projects itself into the future. We know from the record that Senator William Benton of Connecticut has a fund, although he has not issued the names of his contributors. His fund apparently is for a libel suit. That is startling in view of the fact that Benton is a man of wealth, having been a successful huckster, advertising the wares of capitalists before he became a professional liberal. He says that the fund came in voluntarily but he does not publish the names of the donors.

If candidates are to make public their contributors, whether the law demands it or not, Benton ought to publish his list. Also, just to make the whole business strictly correct, I would suggest that the McCarran Committee delve deeply into the contributors to the Hiss Defense Fund for the first and second trials. It would serve the public to compare the various lists published with the Hiss Defense Fund to see how often the same names reappear. It might even work out that there is a pattern of support. Although every citizen is entitled to his opinion and its free expression, it is difficult to understand the Hissites because Alger Hiss has appeared before grand juries, he has had two trials, he has lost on appeal before the Supreme Court, his lawyer came into court for a third trial and lost. These people must say that our courts are bad; that Hiss never got justice from a grand jury and two trial juries.

In this fund matter, the role of Max Ascoli would be interesting. This man was a refugee from Mussolini's Italy who married into the Rosenwald family, which got its fortune out of Sears, Roebuck. Ascoli produces a magazine called "The Reporter," a curious publication which spends considerable money on stories of an internationalist character, which, while not directly propagandistic for Communist China, do everything to fight those who oppose the Chinese Communists. It can be described as anti-anti-Communist which is a somewhat recent liberal deviation.

Ascoli lives and works in New York. Why should he contribute to a secret fund for the governor of Illinois? "The Reporter" cooperated with the "New York Post" in building the Nixon story, which boomeranged. What was Ascoli's interest in this? Here is a man, born in 1888, who has only been in this country 21 years; became a citizen in 1939; who is throwing his weight around in a most extraordinary manner. His paper, "The Reporter," is European in tone and attitude. Has Ascoli contributed to other funds? Let's have a look at this man's activities in the United States since he took refuge in this sanctuary from Mussolini.

The battle of the funds opens an important avenue into our judgment of our public men. For it is not merely a question of who takes and why, but of who gives and why. We are too prone to think of lobbyists and crooked businessmen as the contributors to campaign funds and to the careers of public men.

But there are worse people in the United States than lobbyists and crooked businessmen—much worse people. They are the debauchers of the American mind, the corrupters of our youth, the poisoners of the wells of the education of our children. These men are money honest but that is all that is honest about them. Some of them serve Soviet Russia; others are traditionally and culturally so disposed that they hate America, while living here and enjoying the fruits and freedoms of American life. Some are doctrinaire internationalists who would sacrifice America to their private opinions; others are so absorbed in European concepts that they would suck America dry to rebuild their own dying world.

Many of these persons, alien or American born, devote their lives to our destruction and we need to know about them. Many are rich or have access to other people's money or to the Foundations. They build themselves into publicly acceptable personalities and then work to achieve our undoing as a nation.

An investigation into the funds of public men will bring out the pattern. The American people are entitled to know what is happening here. From that standpoint, the battle of the funds is extremely important.

TOUR OF CANCER LABORATORIES

What some cannot understand is why, with the millions spent to fight cancer all over the world, the cause or causes remain unknown. Now, cancer organizations are aware that the public is looking for an answer to its gifts and accordingly the American Cancer Society has given an accounting to the public of the more than $20,000,000 spent during the past six years for cancer research. It did this by sponsoring a two-week tour of representative Eastern and Western laboratories by a dozen of the nation's science writers. From Boston to Minneapolis, research directors threw open all doors to the science writers, spoke candidly of their plans and progress and extended unprecedented hospitality in relations between scientists and science writers.

"The effort to let the public understand exactly and more fully just how its gift to cancer research was being spent resulted in day-to-day running stories in major newspapers and news magazines throughout the United States. Few science writing ventures ever attained the lineage accorded this story of science's attack against cancer. Coinciding with the start of the Cancer Society's April campaign, the accounts had the effect of pointing out what America is getting for its cancer control dollars. The early contributions to this cancer campaign showed that the nation was satisfied and will invest more money than ever in the fight against cancer."

Fortunately these science writers are equipped to understand the nature of the work being done on cancer research. "As many as a score of scientists were interviewed in a single day and their interests ranged from nuclear physics to complex biochemical phenomena."

Local science writers joined the group in each of the cities visited.

The above information, as recorded in the Journal of the American Medical Association, is reassuring to the public which is naturally interested in this difficult and prolonged search to fight cancer successfully.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Los Angeles — When General Eisenhower announced last week that he would publish his income-tax returns, it was presumed that his running mate, Senator Nixon, would do likewise.

However, just two hours after the Eisenhower announcement, a statement was issued by Nixon headquarters that the GOP vice-presidential candidate would not publish his tax returns and that he considered the matter a closed incident.

In view of Governor Stevenson's complete financial disclosure for ten years, and the pledge that Eisenhower and Senator Sparkman would do the same, Nixon is left in a position where the public now has a right to ask considerably more questions concerning his financial position than the brief details he gave in his nation-wide telecast.

In that telecast Nixon stated that he had been cleared by the law firm of Gibson, Dunn and Crutcher. However, this law firm happens to represent some of Nixon's biggest and most active donors, among them Jack Garland and the Garland Estate; also the Union Oil Co., of which Herbert Hoover, Jr. is a director and owner of shares worth $1,200,000. Hoover was one of the two highest contributors to Nixon's extracurricular fund.

Nixon also stated in his telecast that Price-Waterhouse, an accounting firm, had checked his expense fund and given him a clean bill of health.

It happens, however, that Price-Waterhouse was the accountant which got caught with such amazing discrepancies in checking the account of the McKesson-Robbins Drug Company that they were forced to pay McKesson-Robbins stockholders $500,000 because of their oversight.

Definite Deduction

In the case of the Nixon fund, Price-Waterhouse appeared to be more careful. For, when you read the fine print of their statement in the newspapers, you find that Price-Waterhouse stated that they had not had time to examine all of the Nixon funds.

They also stated that they had examined only one fund handled by Dana Smith, collector for Nixon, which left the definite deduction that there was at least one other fund.

This system of self-examination by self-appointed lawyers and self-appointed accountants is something which Lamar Caudle or Howard McGrath or others probed by congressional committees never could have got away with. Such a self-appointed investigation of the Democrats by the Democrats would have brought howls of protest from the Republicans.

However, since Congress is not in session at the moment and since Nixon will not bare his tax returns, it falls to the lot of the press to examine as carefully as possible the unusual expense fund and the financial situation of the man who, if elected, would be one heartbeat away from the presidency.

Family Fortunes Improved

Neighbors will tell you here in the Whittier area, near Los Angeles, that the Nixon family's fortunes have picked up considerably since Dick was elected to Congress.

One year after he was elected—1946—the family bought a farm in York county, Pa. The farm was purchased in the name of Dick's father and mother, price not known, and for a while Dick used to go up from Washington to spend weekends on the farm.

His father and mother didn't care for the Pennsylvania climate, however, and moved back to California. They still own the farm.

Back in California, Dick helped get his father a job as postmaster of a U. S. post office substation at Friendly Heights, near Whittier. The senior Mr. Nixon secured the job just about the time his son became a senator, and while it doesn't pay much—$600—it has one important advantage. It is located in the Nixon grocery store.

Thus, to buy stamps and mail letters, you pass through part of the Nixon store—a great help to any merchant.

A few blocks down Whittier Boulevard, brother Don Nixon has just opened a swank new drive-in restaurant, replete with palm trees, an orange grove, and tables under the grove. As you drive in, you give your order for food through a microphone, then pick up the food and take it out under the orange trees. The set-up must have cost well over $100,000.

The senator's home in Whittier is a modest California bungalow on which he actually has a bigger mortgage than he stated over the air. But the difficult thing to understand, and which he did not explain, is how he was able to buy two houses at about the same time, paying $20,000 down on his $41,000 house in Washington.

Retired Maj. Gen. Burr Johnson, the agent who sold Nixon the $41,000 house in Washington, states that he paid $20,600 in cash, which at that time was necessary under Regulation X.

The house is also well furnished at a cost of at least $5,000 probably more. Some of it is Chinese furniture.

Mrs. Nixon, writing in the Saturday Evening Post September 6, just two weeks before the "expense fund" storm broke, said that while running for Congress her husband was so broke sometimes "there wasn't any money to buy stamps to mail campaign literature."

This was in 1946. Yet five years later on a congressman's salary he was able to buy two houses, on one of which he paid $20,600 down in cash.

Ordinarily the public would not be concerned with any of these matters. However, when a senator has a highly unusual expense fund contributed by big businessmen, many of them doing business with the government, and when some of these contributors at first say it's for the purpose of helping Dick's living expenses in Washington, then the public has a right to know the facts—especially since Senator Nixon stated on the air that none of this money went toward his personal expenses, yet to Peter Edson he first stated that without this expense fund he would not have been able to buy his home in Washington.

Another column on the candidate's financial background will follow soon.

Truman's Blast on Ike Brings Democrats' Campaign to All-Time Low

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 6—President Truman is teaching Gov. Stevenson his concept of how to win votes and influence elections. The "give 'em hell" tour is a demonstration of how Mr. Truman thinks a campaign should be conducted. The Illinois governor started out with the earnest intention of keeping the campaign on a "high level." He visited the White House in August, and the impression was conveyed that he, the Democratic presidential nominee, would be the master strategist and would tell President Truman what to do.

But Mr. Truman stood this bit of studied mastery just about as long as he could—till he could make arrangements for a "whistle-stop trip. The Stevenson managers finally agreed, and Mr. Truman got the green light. Dispatches from Springfield, Ill., now say the Stevenson camp is jubilant— they don't think the Stevenson "highbrow" technique is as effective as the Truman style of campaigning.

Although Gov. Stevenson and Mr. Truman himself have said some strong things about "character assassins" as they denounce the methods of Sen. McCarthy, nothing that the Wisconsin Senator ever said about a great soldier, Gen. Marshall, was as wild, irresponsible and slanderous as the comment by President Truman that another great soldier—Gen. Eisenhower — did "harm to the United States" by an innocuous comment in 1945 expressing confidence in the future friendship of Russia and America. To use this sort of charge just to get votes is to bring the campaign to an all-time low. A few days later Mr. Truman said Gen. Eisenhower was playing politics with "the security of the United States" by talking about future cuts in expenditures. It wasn't an outright charge of disloyalty, but many undiscriminating listeners across the country will think that's what it plainly means when it comes from the lips of a President of the United States.

Mr. Truman isn't content to discuss policies. He makes nasty digs on a personal basis, as, for instance, when he said he no longer "respected" Gen. Eisenhower. A difference in view on public policies should not call for a torrent of personal abuse from a man who is still President of the United States and with the dignity befitting his position.

Mr. Truman may earn the epithet, "a Democratic McCarthy," as he continues his tirades of a personal nature seeking to undermine the popularity of Gen. Eisenhower. They are bound to boomerang. For Gen. Eisenhower has proved his patriotism and loyalty to the United States and its Constitution in many ways. Also, to declare, as the President did, that a man who has gone to West Point and served in the army doesn't have the capacity to fill a civilian office is to offend every officer who has chosen military service as a career. They're good enough to be shot at, but never to hold high civilian office.

The President has a right to go campaigning. His record is an issue. Instead, however, of explaining and defending those parts of the record which have strong points—especially the sound approach to the communist menace in Europe—and instead of pointing to certain phases of domestic and foreign policy which the Republicans themselves have voted for, Mr. Truman has chosen to wage a campaign aimed at the personality of the Republican nominee.

There are many parts of the Truman record which are indefensible, but it would have been wiser strategy from a political viewpoint for the President to ignore these and emphasize those that are defensible. Gov. Stevenson has made the same mistake. He has been drawn into an argument on the vulnerable points instead of extolling the strong points of his case.

Gov. Stevenson started out to conduct a sort of middle-of-the-road campaign. He veered away from Trumanism. But gradually he has gone over to the "left wing" by revising previous positions. On his attitude, for example, toward the handling of the Communist menace in the United States, he has swallowed the familiar line about "witch hunts" and "hysteria" while failing to denounce Alger Hiss, the man for whom he once innocently gave a character deposition. Nor has the Governor ever referred to the long list of individuals who have refused to testify before Congressional committees when asked a simple question: "Have you been or are you now a Communist?"

Not a word has come from Gov. Stevenson to repudiate some of the "liberal" spokesmen in his entourage who are attacking the integrity of Sen. Nixon—discoverer of Hiss's perjury. They are continuing their "character assassination" by innuendo against the Senator, though they haven't a scintilla of proof to back up their slanders. They call the Californian a "demagogue" and ridicule his television speech that turned public opinion away from their attack. But they overlook the biggest demagogue of them all who goes up and down the country calling names and making reckless charges. Not a word of repudiation or disavowal comes from the Governor of Illinois, though he keeps on demanding that the general "repudiate" Republican nominees for the Senate who hold views on public questions different from those of Gen. Eisenhower. It's a strange campaign.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

For reasons which I will not try to divine, the Reader's Digest has abandoned its objective, innocent editorial character and become a propaganda publication without fair warning to its readers. As I noted recently, the September issue of the Digest contained an article consisting of fantastic and erroneous praise of one Irving Brown, a veteran advocate of violent revolutionary Marxian socialism, who has been trying to promote a political empire in Europe for David Dubinsky, the perpetual president-dictator of the Garment Workers' Union.

This article was done by one Donald Robinson, an obscure magazine journeyman who was a propaganda colonel on General Eisenhower's staff during the war. Robinson set forth that Brown, for about 20 years a paid political instructor on the staff of Dubinsky's union, had frustrated Stalin's efforts to move the Iron Curtain westward in Europe.

When I took the Digest to task for this misrepresentation, the Digest sent out to a number of subscribers reproductions of a letter from Francis A. Henson, "director of educational and political action" of the United Auto Workers of the AFL. This is a dummy union of nominal membership which was beaten almost to death in bloody street-fights in Michigan in a showdown with Walter Reuther's CIO union in the same field.

Henson and Brown both were members of the National Executive Committee of the Revolutionary Police Committee of the Socialist Party in 1934. In that year, at the Socialist Party Convention, in Detroit, Dr. J. B. Matthews, the highest American authority on the Communist conspiracy and the most effective individual fighter against it, charged in a speech from the floor that Brown and Henson were stooges of Jay Lovestone's Communist Party, planted in the Socialist Party by Lovestone to wreck it. Lovestone was the first chief of the Communist Party in the United States.

After the purges began in Russia in 1928, he organized his own rival group to carry on his own version of communism here.

During this Detroit convention of the American Socialist Party, Lovestone was hiding out in the Wolverine Hotel in Detroit. Mathews says Brown ran out and phoned Lovestone who, in turn, telephoned Matthews a request to join him, Brown and Henson in his room to talk things over. Matthews rushed over and confronted Lovestone and Brown. In disgust, Matthews then quit the Socialist movement althogether. Later he wrote "The Odyssey of a Fellow-Traveler," a small, explosive book which blew the camouflage off a thousand dugouts of the grand treason and brought down upon him an incessant campaign of foul abuse from that element which so hotly deplores the "smear technique" of Joe McCarthy.

Brown and Henson both wrote articles for the Revolutionary Socialist Review in Nov. 1934. Henson was identified as acting secretary of the Revolutionary Policy Committee in that issue and a footnote on the fly-leaf said the review could be ordered from him at P. O. Box 125, Grand Central Annex, N. Y. There is no doubt that this is the same Henson.

The letter from Henson which the Digest mailed to readers who inquired after my recent expose, did not contain any disclosure of his political association with Brown in the revolutionary policy committee. It did not identify either of them with any violent revolutionary movement.

Henson said he could not understand why Pegler got "so excited about ex-Socialists like Irving Brown," but did not come out with a flat statement that either he or Brown had ever abandoned socialism or Lovestone communism. Brown, himself, flatly refused to discuss any subject with me when I wrote him a request for an interview in Paris last winter. Brown knew I had the goods on him, Lovestone and Du-

TIME TO CALL A HALT

Fire is taking an increasingly heavy toll of life and property in the United States.

Deaths totaled over 12,000 in 1951, a new high. About half of this number died in fires in their own homes. Four thousand, almost a third, were children under 14 years of age. Thirty-five hundred lived on farms or in rural areas. The total was within 500 of the number of Americans killed in the first year of the Korean War.

Property losses totaled $823,500,000 in 1951, also a new high. Not satisfied, Americans apparently are going to burn up $855,000,000 in property in 1952. About a fifth of this loss will be in homes we've needed so badly and have been building so quickly. A quarter, almost $250,000,000 will be in industrial plants. A little more than a hundred million dollars' worth of farm buildings will go up in smoke and flame—far more expensive to rebuild at today's costs than they were when built.

Perhaps there is no way out. Perhaps such losses are inevitable, but the National Fire Protection Association, source of these statistics says, "No, we can stop burning ourselves up if we will."

Here's a seven-point program that the N.F.P.A. says will prevent 90 per cent of the fires in homes: Be careful with matches and smoking. Don't smoke in bed. Be careful with flammable liquids. Don't use explosive cleaning fluids. Throw out papers, rags, old furniture out of attics, closets and basements. Inspect and clean chimneys once a year. Keep heating plants clean and in good repair. Recover combustible wood shingles with fire-resistant roofing, such as asphalt shingles. Don't overload electrical circuits. Replace frayed cords. Don't substitute a penny for a fuse.

RUSSIAN SECRETS

East Germany as an independent state is a myth. This was revealed unwittingly by members of the East German parliamentary delegation who came to Bonn to talk over unity with West Germany. They made three damaging statements. One was an admission that the East German secret police were not under the nominal government's control. Presumably they are chosen and dominated by Russia.

As a second miscue the Communist delegates said that a reunited Germany would now have to pay reparations to Russia, as East Germany does now, and must continue to do so for 12 years. more. The Western estimate is that these East German reparations, styled "moderate" by the Communists, come to 30 per cent of the region's entire production.

Finally one Communist speaker blurted out that his delegation had come primarily to stop ratification of the treaty whereby West Germany would contribute men to the European army. The official Communist story has been that the delegates wished merely to promote the reunion of the two parts of Germany.

When the Kremlin realizes the damage done to its cause by the stupidity of its East German agents, trouble will descend upon the agents.

WEAK LINK IN A CHAIN

Bhutim, an undeveloped country between Tibet and India, has an unusual traffic problem. The roads which the government is trying to build through wooded mountains are continually being torn up by wild elephants. The venturesome driver who stops to change a tire has a fair chance of being eaten by a tiger.

Bhutim interests India and the West just now because it is one of the buffer states which it is hoped may hold back Communism. It is under the supervision of India as far as its foreign relations are concerned, but its population includes a good many Chinese, who, for all the government knows, may be Communist agents. These could count on the support of those inhabitants who come from neighboring Nepal, and who are dissatisfied with the corrupt and inefficient rule of their tribal chiefs.

There are many such weak links in the anti-Red chain. Constant care is needed to make sure that no one snaps.

The New York-Peiping peace meetings, a movement with strong Communist support, will be held in New York. It is possible that no Chinese Communist spies will be present. On the other hand there may be a few Peiping Toms.

An inkwell which will not spill if it is dropped or knocked over has been marketed by a Massachusetts company. What we need is a device to remind us to fill our fountain pen.

'These Days'

THE BATTLE OF THE FUNDS

Now that Adlai Stevenson has produced his secret fund, the battle of the funds projects itself into the future. We know from the record that Senator William Benton of Connecticut has a fund, although he has not issued the names of his contributors. His fund apparently is for a libel suit. That is startling in view of the fact that Benton is a man of wealth, having been a successful huckster, advertising the wares of capitalists before he became a professional liberal. He says that the fund came in voluntarily but he does not publish the names of the donors.

If candidates are to make public their contributors, whether the law demands it or not, Benton ought to publish his list. Also, just to make the whole business strictly correct, I would suggest that the McCarran Committee delve deeply into the contributors to the Hiss Defense Fund for the first and second trials. It would serve the public to compare the various lists published with the Hiss Defense Fund to see how often the same names reappear. It might even work out that there is a pattern of support. Although every citizen is entitled to his opinion and its free expression, it is difficult to understand the Hissites because Alger Hiss has appeared before grand juries, he has had two trials, he has lost on appeal before the Supreme Court, his lawyer came into court for a third trial and lost. These people must say that our courts are bad; that Hiss never got justice from a grand jury and two trial juries.

In this fund matter, the role of Max Ascoli would be interesting. This man was a refugee from Mussolini's Italy who married into the Rosenwald family, which got its fortune out of Sears, Roebuck. Ascoli produces a magazine called "The Reporter," a curious publication which spends considerable money on stories of an internationalist character, which, while not directly propagandistic for Communist China, do everything to fight those who oppose the Chinese Communists. It can be described as anti-anti-Communist which is a somewhat recent liberal deviation.

Ascoli lives and works in New York. Why should he contribute to a secret fund for the governor of Illinois? "The Reporter" cooperated with the "New York Post" in building the Nixon story, which boomeranged. What was Ascoli's interest in this? Here is a man, born in 1888, who has only been in this country 21 years; became a citizen in 1939; who is throwing his weight around in a most extraordinary manner. His paper, "The Reporter," is European in tone and attitude. Has Ascoli contributed to other funds? Let's have a look at this man's activities in the United States since he took refuge in this sanctuary from Mussolini.

The battle of the funds opens an important avenue into our judgment of our public men. For it is not merely a question of who takes and why, but of who gives and why. We are too prone to think of lobbyists and crooked businessmen as the contributors to campaign funds and to the careers of public men.

But there are worse people in the United States than lobbyists and crooked businessmen—much worse people. They are the debauchers of the American mind, the corrupters of our youth, the poisoners of the wells of the education of our children. These men are money honest but that is all that is honest about them. Some of them serve Soviet Russia; others are traditionally and culturally so disposed that they hate America, while living here and enjoying the fruits and freedoms of American life. Some are doctrinaire internationalists who would sacrifice America to their private opinions; others are so absorbed in European concepts that they would suck America dry to rebuild their own dying world.

Many of these persons, alien or American born, devote their lives to our destruction and we need to know about them. Many are rich or have access to other people's money or to the Foundations. They build themselves into publicly acceptable personalities and then work to achieve our undoing as a nation.

An investigation into the funds of public men will bring out the pattern. The American people are entitled to know what is happening here. From that standpoint, the battle of the funds is extremely important.

TOUR OF CANCER LABORATORIES

What some cannot understand is why, with the millions spent to fight cancer all over the world, the cause or causes remain unknown. Now, cancer organizations are aware that the public is looking for an answer to its gifts and accordingly the American Cancer Society has given an accounting to the public of the more than $20,000,000 spent during the past six years for cancer research. It did this by sponsoring a two-week tour of representative Eastern and Western laboratories by a dozen of the nation's science writers. From Boston to Minneapolis, research directors threw open all doors to the science writers, spoke candidly of their plans and progress and extended unprecedented hospitality in relations between scientists and science writers.

"The effort to let the public understand exactly and more fully just how its gift to cancer research was being spent resulted in day-to-day running stories in major newspapers and news magazines throughout the United States. Few science writing ventures ever attained the lineage accorded this story of science's attack against cancer. Coinciding with the start of the Cancer Society's April campaign, the accounts had the effect of pointing out what America is getting for its cancer control dollars. The early contributions to this cancer campaign showed that the nation was satisfied and will invest more money than ever in the fight against cancer."

Fortunately these science writers are equipped to understand the nature of the work being done on cancer research. "As many as a score of scientists were interviewed in a single day and their interests ranged from nuclear physics to complex biochemical phenomena."

Local science writers joined the group in each of the cities visited.

The above information, as recorded in the Journal of the American Medical Association, is reassuring to the public which is naturally interested in this difficult and prolonged search to fight cancer successfully.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Los Angeles — When General Eisenhower announced last week that he would publish his income-tax returns, it was presumed that his running mate, Senator Nixon, would do likewise.

However, just two hours after the Eisenhower announcement, a statement was issued by Nixon headquarters that the GOP vice-presidential candidate would not publish his tax returns and that he considered the matter a closed incident.

In view of Governor Stevenson's complete financial disclosure for ten years, and the pledge that Eisenhower and Senator Sparkman would do the same, Nixon is left in a position where the public now has a right to ask considerably more questions concerning his financial position than the brief details he gave in his nation-wide telecast.

In that telecast Nixon stated that he had been cleared by the law firm of Gibson, Dunn and Crutcher. However, this law firm happens to represent some of Nixon's biggest and most active donors, among them Jack Garland and the Garland Estate; also the Union Oil Co., of which Herbert Hoover, Jr. is a director and owner of shares worth $1,200,000. Hoover was one of the two highest contributors to Nixon's extracurricular fund.

Nixon also stated in his telecast that Price-Waterhouse, an accounting firm, had checked his expense fund and given him a clean bill of health.

It happens, however, that Price-Waterhouse was the accountant which got caught with such amazing discrepancies in checking the account of the McKesson-Robbins Drug Company that they were forced to pay McKesson-Robbins stockholders $500,000 because of their oversight.

Definite Deduction

In the case of the Nixon fund, Price-Waterhouse appeared to be more careful. For, when you read the fine print of their statement in the newspapers, you find that Price-Waterhouse stated that they had not had time to examine all of the Nixon funds.

They also stated that they had examined only one fund handled by Dana Smith, collector for Nixon, which left the definite deduction that there was at least one other fund.

This system of self-examination by self-appointed lawyers and self-appointed accountants is something which Lamar Caudle or Howard McGrath or others probed by congressional committees never could have got away with. Such a self-appointed investigation of the Democrats by the Democrats would have brought howls of protest from the Republicans.

However, since Congress is not in session at the moment and since Nixon will not bare his tax returns, it falls to the lot of the press to examine as carefully as possible the unusual expense fund and the financial situation of the man who, if elected, would be one heartbeat away from the presidency.

Family Fortunes Improved

Neighbors will tell you here in the Whittier area, near Los Angeles, that the Nixon family's fortunes have picked up considerably since Dick was elected to Congress.

One year after he was elected —1946—the family bought a farm in York county, Pa. The farm was purchased in the name of Dick's father and mother, price not known, and for a while Dick used to go up from Washington to spend weekends on the farm.

His father and mother didn't care for the Pennsylvania climate, however, and moved back to California. They still own the farm.

Back in California, Dick helped get his father a job as postmaster of a U. S. post office substation at Friendly Heights, near Whittier. The senior Mr. Nixon secured the job just about the time his son became a senator, and while it doesn't pay much—$600—it has one important advantage. It is located in the Nixon grocery store.

Thus, to buy stamps and mail letters, you pass through part of the Nixon store—a great help to any merchant.

A few blocks down Whittier Boulevard, brother Don Nixon has just opened a swank new drive-in restaurant, replete with palm trees, an orange grove, and tables under the grove. As you drive in, you give your order for food through a microphone, then pick up the food and take it out under the orange trees. The setup must have cost well over $100,000.

The senator's home in Whittier is a modest California bungalow on which he actually has a bigger mortgage than he stated over the air. But the difficult thing to understand, and which he did not explain, is how he was able to buy two houses at about the same time, paying $20,000 down on his $41,000 house in Washington.

Retired Maj. Gen. Burr Johnson, the agent who sold Nixon the $41,000 house in Washington, states that he paid $20,600 in cash, which at that time was necessary under Regulation X.

The house is also well furnished at a cost of at least $5,000 probably more. Some of it is Chinese furniture.

Mrs. Nixon, writing in the Saturday Evening Post September 6, just two weeks before the "expense fund" storm broke, said that while running for Congress her husband was so broke sometimes "there wasn't any money to buy stamps to mail campaign literature,"

This was in 1946. Yet five years later on a congressman's salary he was able to buy two houses, on one of which he paid $20,600 down in cash.

Ordinarily the public would not be concerned with any of these matters. However, when a senator has a highly unusual expense fund contributed by big businessmen, many of them doing business with the government, and when some of these contributors at first say it's for the purpose of helping Dick's living expenses in Washington, then the public has a right to know the facts—especially since Senator Nixon stated on the air that none of this money went toward his personal expenses, yet to Peter Edson he first stated that without this expense fund he would not have been able to buy his home in Washington.

Another column on the candidate's financial background will follow soon.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 6—President Truman is teaching Gov. Stevenson his concept of how to win votes and influence elections. The "give 'em hell" tour is a demonstration of how Mr. Truman thinks a campaign should be conducted. The Illinois governor started out with the earnest intention of keeping the campaign on a "high level." He visited the White House in August, and the impression was conveyed that he, the Democratic presidential nominee, would be the master strategist and would tell President Truman what to do.

But Mr. Truman stood this bit of studied mastery just about as long as he could—till he could make arrangements for a "whistle-stop trip. The Stevenson managers finally agreed, and Mr. Truman got the green light. Dispatches from Springfield, Ill., now say the Stevenson camp is jubilant— they don't think the Stevenson "highbrow" technique is as effective as the Truman style of campaigning.

Although Gov. Stevenson and Mr. Truman himself have said some strong things about "character assassins" as they denounce the methods of Sen. McCarthy, nothing that the Wisconsin Senator ever said about a great soldier, Gen. Marshall, was as wild, irresponsible and slanderous as the comment by President Truman that another great soldier—Gen. Eisenhower — did "harm to the United States" by an innocuous comment in 1945 expressing confidence in the future friendship of Russia and America. To use this sort of charge just to get votes is to bring the campaign to an all-time low. A few days later Mr. Truman said Gen. Eisenhower was playing politics with "the security of the United States" by talking about future cuts in expenditures. It wasn't an outright charge of disloyalty, but many undiscriminating listeners across the country will think that's what it plainly means when it comes from the lips of a President of the United States.

Mr. Truman isn't content to discuss policies. He makes nasty digs on a personal basis, as, for instance, when he said he no longer "respected" Gen. Eisenhower. A difference in view on public policies should not call for a torrent of personal abuse from a man who is still President of the United States and with the dignity befitting his position.

Mr. Truman may earn the epithet, "a Democratic McCarthy," as he continues his tirades of a personal nature seeking to undermine the popularity of Gen. Eisenhower. They are bound to boomerang. For Gen. Eisenhower has proved his patriotism and loyalty to the United States and its Constitution in many ways. Also, to declare, as the President did, that a man who has gone to West Point and served in the army doesn't have the capacity to fill a civilian office is to offend every officer who has chosen military service as a career. They're good enough to be shot at, but never to hold high civilian office.

The President has a right to go campaigning. His record is an issue. Instead, however, of explaining and defending those parts of the record which have strong points—especially the sound approach to the communist menace in Europe—and instead of pointing to certain phases of domestic and foreign policy which the Republicans themselves have voted for, Mr. Truman has chosen to wage a campaign aimed at the personality of the Republican nominee.

There are many parts of the Truman record which are indefensible, but it would have been wiser strategy from a political viewpoint for the President to ignore these and emphasize those that are defensible. Gov. Stevenson has made the same mistake. He has been drawn into an argument on the vulnerable points instead of extolling the strong points of his case.

Gov. Stevenson started out to conduct a sort of middle-of-the-road campaign. He veered away from Trumanism. But gradually he has gone over to the "left wing" by revising previous positions. On his attitude, for example, toward the handling of the Communist menace in the United States, he has swallowed the familiar line about "witch hunts" and "hysteria" while failing to denounce Alger Hiss, the man for whom he once innocently gave a character deposition. Nor has the Governor ever referred to the long list of individuals who have refused to testify before Congressional committees when asked a simple question: "Have you been or are you now a Communist?"

Not a word has come from Gov. Stevenson to repudiate some of the "liberal" spokesmen in his entourage who are attacking the integrity of Sen. Nixon—discoverer of Hiss's perjury. They are continuing their "character assassination" by innuendo against the Senator, though they haven't a scintilla of proof to back up their slanders. They call the Californian a "demagogue" and ridicule his television speech that turned public opinion away from their attack. But they overlook the biggest demagogue of them all who goes up and down the country calling names and making reckless charges. Not a word of repudiation or disavowal comes from the Governor of Illinois, though he keeps on demanding that the general "repudiate" Republican nominees for the Senate who hold views on public questions different from those of Gen. Eisenhower. It's a strange campaign.

Henson was identified as acting secretary of the Revolutionary Policy Committee in that issue and a footnote on the fly-leaf said the review could be ordered from him at P. O. The letter from Henson which the Digest mailed to readers who inquired after my recent expose, did not contain any disclosure of his political association with Brown in the revolutionary policy committee. It did not identify either of them with any violent revolutionary movement.

Henson said he could not understand why Pegler got "so excited about ex-Socialists like Irving Brown," but did not come out with a flat statement that either he or Brown had ever abandoned socialism or Lovestone communism. Brown, himself, flatly refused to discuss any subject with me when I wrote him a request for an interview in Paris last winter. Brown knew I had the goods on him, Lovestone and Du-

West Coast Banker And Woman Die In Hotel Blaze

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—A socially prominent San Francisco banker and his woman companion, died yesterday in a fire in the fashionable Hotel Warwick.

The two were identified as Lloyd Wiseman, 46, of Berkeley, Calif., a vice president of the Crocker First National Bank of San Francisco, and Mary Driscoll, 40, of West Newton, Mass.

Police said Wiseman checked into the hotel alone last Wednesday and registered for Mr. and Mrs. Wiseman.

Miss Driscoll arrived in New York Friday after telling her mother in Massachuetts she planned to meet some girl friends and look for a job here.

He Gives Alarm

Wiseman, a grandfather, gave the fire alarm himself in a telephone call to the night clerk. Hotel employes then chopped through the door of their 29th-story room.

They found Wiseman and his companion nude and unconscious—the banker on the floor, she stretched across a window sill—police said. Their clothes may have burned off.

Wiseman was dead when a doctor arrived. Miss Driscoll died 14 hours later.

Newsmen were barred from the room. A hotel employe said it was gutted and that several empty and one partly-drained whiskey bottles were in the room.

Fire Confined to Room

The fire apparently started near the bed, possibly from a cigarette. It was confined to Wiseman's room.

Wiseman had come to New York after attending a bankers' convention in Atlantic City, N. J.

Police contacted J. F. Sullivan Jr., president of the Crocker First National, at another Manhattan hotel. Sullivan ordered the body sent to California.

The dead man is survived by his widow, Bernice; three children and four grandchildren.

Scientist Reveals Submarine Canyon On Atlantic Floor

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Scientists have discovered a vast new submarine canyon, possibly part of an underseas channel system comparable in extent to the Mississippi river and its tributaries, on the floor of the Atlantic Ocean.

Dr. W. Maurice Ewing, an oceanographer and professor of geology at Columbia University, announced this finding yesterday after he and a party of scientists and students returned from a 10,000-mile research voyage on the sea-going tug, Kevin Moran.

Ewing told newsmen who met the tug that the canyon was discovered by echo soundings. He said it appeared to be 250 to 300 feet deep and one to two miles wide. The canyon was located 800 miles off and a little north of Boston at a depth of three miles.

It ran generally north and south, cutting through an otherwise level plain under the sea. The scientists traced it 800 miles without picking up either of its extremities.

The canyon, Ewing said, probably links with others off Greenland in the north and ends in a river-delta-like mouth to the south.

A Columbia expedition last summer reported finding a similar canyon running dozens of miles into the Atlantic from the mouth of the Hudson river.

Cut by Currents

It is believed that underseas currents cut the canyons. The present study may provide some clues to these deep-seas currents.

The expedition was sponsored by Columbia University, the Office of Naval Research, the Navy's Bureau of Ships and the Woods Hole (Mass.) Oceanographic Society.

A second ship in the expedition was the Atlantis, specially constructed for ocean research.

A student member of the expedition was Jon Lindbergh son of Charles A. Lindbergh. Young Lindbergh is studying biology at Stanford University.

Your Church and Your Newspaper

Activities of your church are news to you as well as to the entire community. Well aware of this, newspapers often make a point of devoting an entire page to church and religious news. They report on latest developments in religious movements and often include news items based on sermons delivered from your town's major pulpits. Newspapers make a practice of complete impartiality in selecting and editing church news. Your church editor gives equal space to Jewish, Catholic and Protestant congregations in his columns. Sometimes he attends services in one or more of the churches. Because churches often sponsor worthy charitable projects in your community, the church editor considers any help given them to be part of his job. Many times your newspaper is the first to encourage building of new churches. In its columns is printed news concerning social activities in the church and in groups connected with it. Your paper is a churchgoer's paper.

Nixon Says Yalta Pact Hard Blow To Polish Freedom

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Richard M. Nixon paid tribute yesterday to Polish hero Casimir Pulaski, and called for renewed faith that his country may once again be free.

Pulaski Day was celebrated here yesterday with a 16th annual parade on Fifth avenue. The actual anniversary of the Polish general, who fought and died in the American Revolution, falls on Oct. 11.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, said in a statement released here by the Democratic national committee that Poles are "again enslaved and dominated by a tyrannical government that is not of their own choosing."

Nixon, the Republican vice presidential candidate, spoke over local station WWRL from the reviewing stand of the parade.

The GOP nominee said in part: "We must give hope to the people of Poland for their eventual freedom. That hope can be rekindled by our repudiation of Yalta commitments that abet the Communist slavery of free nations and by working unremittingly in peaceful fashion for Poland's liberation."

U. S. Has Responsibility

"Unless we take a positive step in this direction, the Polish people will interpret our inaction as acquiescence in their perpetual slavery. That would be unworthy of the American people."

Nixon said the Yalta agreement was "shameful" and that the U. S. unfortunately bears "an awful responsibility" for it. He said that because of the agreement and Russia's violation of it, Poland "is shackled by its Communist masters."

Stevenson said in his statement that the memory of Pulaski "should prompt those of us who enjoy liberty to rededicate ourselves to the task of strengthening the free world in order to achieve a just and permanent peace."

Halley Backs Counts

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—City Council President Rudolph Halley has announced his endorsement of Prof. George S. Counts, Liberty party nominee for U. S. senator from New York. Halley, who refers to himself as an independent Democrat, told Counts in a letter made public yesterday: "Your name, your standing as an educator and leader in good causes and your campaigning and constructive program will help gather the strength of the independents in this state for a Stevenson victory in November." The Liberal party is backing the Stevenson-Sparkman Democratic ticket. Halley said the Democratic Senate nominee, Brooklyn Borough President John Cashmore, is "a machine-picked candidate."

Letter to Peck Stresses British Feeling for City

"Kingston was the tops," was the verdict of the crew of the British frigate, HMS Burghead Bay, which spent four days here in mid-September.

The statement was contained in a letter from Chief Petty Officer Eric Joyce to Richard Peck, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Peck of 37 Franklin street, with whom Joyce became acquainted during his stay here.

After thanking Peck for a set of photographs, Joyce wrote: "We were all very sorry to leave Kingston. . . . We are still enjoying ourselves on this our first visit to the States, but we all agree that Kingston was the tops. I am only one who will have much to say about you five weeks and 17 hours from now. If you do come to England, I will do all I can to try and show the same wonderful friendship and hospitality to you that your folks and friends did to me."

The Burghead Bay docked at Kingston on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 11, for a four-day visit in connection with the celebration of Kingston's 300th Anniversary.

Joyce's letter was mailed from Portland, Me., on Sept. 25.

Teen Drinkers Resent Police, Throw Bricks

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Three resentful teenagers, shooed from the front stoop of 142 West 63rd street at 2:45 a. m. today by a policeman because they were drinking beer there, went to the roof and showered the policeman and a police radio car with bricks, police reported.

The foot patrolman, James McDermott, 28, of 62-15 136th street, Flushing, Queens, received minor injuries to the chest and lower back. He remained on duty after being treated at Roosevelt Hospital. Two policemen in the radio car ran to the roof and caught Arnold Epel, 19, and later arrested Timothy Garrett, 16, and Edward Graffin, 16, in their homes.

After McDermott chased the trio from the stoop he remained in the area a few minutes. The radio car, which was damaged slightly by the shower of bricks, came along and the policeman walked to the car to talk to his colleagues. A few seconds later they were showered with bricks.

The youths were booked on charges of felonious assault and malicious mischief.

Fire Prevention Week Observance Here October 5 to 11

If Home Catches Fire You Can Risk Death By Doing Wrong Thing

By LEONARD RUPPERT
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York — (NEA) — If your home catches on fire, the odds are you'll be so confused that you'll do almost everything you shouldn't. That's why you should plan your steps well in advance —preferably now.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, in connection with Fire Prevention Week, October 5-11, points out that fire is one of the major menaces facing the American home owner. Last year, fire damaged or destroyed some 300,000 dwellings, yet many persons still haven't the faintest idea of what to do when it strikes.

Doing the wrong thing—delay in notifying the fire department, trying to put out the blaze yourself, looking for valuables to save—may result in death or serious injury.

Don't for example, make the same near-fatal error that was committed by an east coast housewife. Instead of directing her six-year-old son to snap the handle at the corner alarm box, she sent him several blocks away to the firehouse.

The obedient youngster followed orders and then sauntered back with the information that "the fire engines weren't home."

Fortunately for the mother, a taxi driver turned in the alarm and no one was injured. But the results might just as easily have been tragic.

Fire last year took 11,000 lives. Had the families involved taken the time to plan their means of escape in advance, authorities agree that the total of deaths might easily have been halved.

A "family plan" for coping with a fire in the home takes little time to discuss, but may well pay life-saving dividends.

First on the family check-list, say the Fire Underwriters, should be learning how to turn in an alarm. Children—and adults, too — should be taught where the nearest fire alarm box is, and how to use it.

An alternative means of reporting a fire is the telephone. The number of the fire department should be written down and kept near the phone. But if it isn't call the operator and say: "I want to report a fire." Then wait to be connected and distinctly give the correct address of the fire.

Once the alarm has been turned in, get everyone out of the house. But be careful doing it.

Should you wake at night and smell smoke, for instance, don't rush to open your bedroom door. Feel it first to see if it's hot. If it is, don't open it, for behind that door can lurk lethal gases, heat and smoke that can swiftly overcome you.

If the door isn't hot and you can leave the room, close the door behind you to impede the spread of the fire.

Persons trapped on upper floors should try to remain calm and wait for help to arrive. If they can't wait, the best thing to do is to throw a mattress out of the window to break their fall, then lower themselves on a "rope" of bed sheets.

Chief Murphy Says Fire Losses Are Preventable

"Americans are paying an ever higher price for carelessness," Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today. "In 1951, according to the National Fire Protection Association, the price was over 12,000 lives and $823,500,000. This was a new high in destruction, but it is safe to predict that at the present rate new records will be set in 1952."

The Chief says the primary cause of the fires which take such a high toll of life and property is carelessness. "We seem to forget the handful of hazards which account for the great majority of fires, and fail to keep them out of our homes. It is to focus attention on the ways and means to prevent these losses that Fire Prevention Week is being observed October 5 to 11.

"We in the Fire Department are limited as to what we can do to prevent fires. We have the skilled personnel and the equipment to keep almost any fire under control, if we are called as soon as the fire is discovered, but whether we're kept on the jump or not largely depends on the living habits of the individual.

"Unlike fire fighting," the Chief continued, "fire prevention is not a complicated science. There are few fires which cannot be prevented if we are sincerely interested in preventing them."

Asked to define the major fire causes, the Chief listed seven hazards that account for nine of 10 fires:

The careless smoker continues to be fire's friend No. 1. Be careful where and how you smoke. Don't smoke in bed or near flammable liquids, or near highly combustible materials. Don't discard burning cigarettes or matches. Keep matches out of reach of children.

Be a good housekeeper. A clean house seldom burns. Don't clutter closets, basements, and attics with old magazines and papers, old furniture and mattresses, or rags and discarded clothing. It's all good tinder for a spark.

Make sure the cleaning fluid you use is non-explosive. Don't keep gasoline, kerosene or other flammable liquids in the house.

Recover combustible wood shingle roofs with fire-resistant roofing, such as asphalt shingles. When you protect your home with fire-resistant roofing, you often pay less for insurance.

Clean furnaces once a year. Make needed repairs promptly. Install heaters with plenty of space around them so walls, ceilings and floors cannot get dangerously hot.

Don't overload electrical circuits. Replace worn cords. Don't run cords under rugs. Don't try to operate defective appliances. If a fuse blows, don't replace it with a large one. Don't allow dust and dirt to accumuate around fuse boxes."

"Fire control," Chief Murphy concluded, "is largely a matter of self-control. It's a question of living carefully not carelessly . . . a question of constant vigilance."

Hot and Cold Mercury

Since the planet Mercury always presents approximately the same face to the sun, the temperature of the sunny side is estimated to be far above the boiling point of water and the dark side almost at absolute zero.

Canada gets about half the coal she uses from the United States.

Shoots Wife, Self

East Keansburg, N. J., Oct. 6 (AP)—A 44-year-old man shot three bullets into his estranged wife last night, critically wounding her, and then shot himself to death, police reported. Police identified the dead man as William Gaston Rodgers, Jr., who moved here three weeks ago and formerly lived at 43-24 215th street, Bayside, L. I. His 25-year-old wife, Eileen, found in her home at 30 Monmouth avenue, was taken to Riverview Hospital in nearby Red Bank where her condition was reported as critical. William Del Cruz, 25, of 222 Lorillard avenue, Union Beach, a male visitor to Mrs. Rodgers' home, told police Rodgers fired two shots at him, but missed.

Fire Prevention Week Observance Here October 5 to 11

If Home Catches Fire You Can Risk Death By Doing Wrong Thing

By LEONARD RUPPERT
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York — (NEA) — If your home catches on fire, the odds are you'll be so confused that you'll do almost everything you shouldn't. That's why you should plan your steps well in advance —preferably now.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, in connection with Fire Prevention Week, October 5-11, points out that fire is one of the major menaces facing the American home owner. Last year, fire damaged or destroyed some 300,000 dwellings, yet many persons still haven't the faintest idea of what to do when it strikes.

Doing the wrong thing—delay in notifying the fire department, trying to put out the blaze yourself, looking for valuables to save—may result in death or serious injury.

Don't for example, make the same near-fatal error that was committed by an east coast housewife. Instead of directing her six-year-old son to snap the handle at the corner alarm box, she sent him several blocks away to the firehouse.

The obedient youngster followed orders and then sauntered back with the information that "the fire engines weren't home."

Fortunately for the mother, a taxi driver turned in the alarm and no one was injured. But the results might just as easily have been tragic.

Fire last year took 11,000 lives. Had the families involved taken the time to plan their means of escape in advance, authorities agree that the total of deaths might easily have been halved.

A "family plan" for coping with a fire in the home takes little time to discuss, but may well pay life-saving dividends.

First on the family check-list, say the Fire Underwriters, should be learning how to turn in an alarm. Children—and adults, too — should be taught where the nearest fire alarm box is, and how to use it.

An alternative means of reporting a fire is the telephone. The number of the fire department should be written down and kept near the phone. But if it isn't call the operator and say: "I want to report a fire." Then wait to be connected and distinctly give the correct address of the fire.

Once the alarm has been turned in, get everyone out of the house. But be careful doing it.

Should you wake at night and smell smoke, for instance, don't rush to open your bedroom door. Feel it first to see if it's hot. If it is, don't open it, for behind that door can lurk lethal gases, heat and smoke that can swiftly overcome you.

If the door isn't hot and you can leave the room, close the door behind you to impede the spread of the fire.

Persons trapped on upper floors should try to remain calm and wait for help to arrive. If they can't wait, the best thing to do is to throw a mattress out of the window to break their fall, then lower themselves on a "rope" of bed sheets.

The quickest way to escape from any room in the house should be discussed by the entire family. Then, if an emergency does arrive, panic will be lessened and everyone will know where to go.

Whatever you do, adds the NBFU as a final warning, once you and the members of your family are safely out of the building, don't return.

You may not be as lucky as the women reported by Boston police to have successfully escaped from a burning three-story building only to dash back in and return with—of all things — a completely filled-out and ready-to-mail income tax form.

There's no known reason for the fly. Though slightly frosted by now in the upcountry, and holing in wherever it is that flies go in the Winter, the sages who take note of nature's vagaries agree that this last Summer broke all records in the fly department.

Of all the vast insect realm, the fly knows his place least of any. He moves right into cottage and castle to spread disease and discomfort. As far back as records delve man has been fighting flies.

Slaves waved palms over Cleopatra and the Caesars. Pharaoh's fair daughter fought flies through the bullrushes, bringing Moses out. They stowed aboard the ark in the lion's mane, maybe right in Noah's beard — hence, the fly.

The contemptible mites have thwarted science. No sooner a poison to exterminate them than they develop immunity and eat it as a food. About the only enemy that they haven't taken over as a utility is the reliable old fly swatter, whose ancestor is as old as the fly.

DOES YOUR childhood recollection of flies go back to a country kitchen? My pastoral picture hangs in memory something like this:

It is a sweltering day, late August. Aunt Sarah lifts a big kettle of canning tomatoes off the fire long enough to toss in another stick of hickory from the knotty pine wood box. She opens the oven for a look at two green apple pies, mops her brow with the corner of her gingham apron, and rushes to close the screen door.

Tige just nosed in and left it ajar. Doesn't matter much 'cause it's warped anyway; and the big hole scratched out by the cats hasn't been patched yet. It's just cloth mosquito bar, tacked on new each year—and over every window.

Aunt Sarah's next chore is to clear out the flies. When their buzz drowns the cackle of the hens, that's the time. From the ceiling hangs a bunch of sweet clover, where flies are supposed to gather. They do, but there isn't room for all and they swarm through the hot, pleasant-odored kitchen like bees.

AUNT SARAH grasps her weapons, one in each hand. They are getting battered, she thinks; she must make some new ones; will after the next baking. The Pillsbury sack will be empty by then. Not hard to make; just a flour sack cut into long one-inch strips from the open end and fastened to a sawed-off broom handle; an indispensable persuader to shoo flies outdoors.

First Aunt Sarah lashes about the parlor, careful to miss the what-not and Pncle Jimmy's picture on the melodion. The flies are soon assembled in the kitchen. She closes the parlor and pantry doors, props open the porch door and goes to battle in earnest. The swarms fight back but at length they retreat; to return in half an hour and bring their friends with them.

THE PIES come out of the oven, and here's where Aunt Sarah gets the best of the flies. Over each pie she places a queer gadget, such as likely you've ever seen. It is a wire screen hemisphere with a handle on top. She has different sizes, big ones for platters, smaller for plates, taller ones for bowls. They baffle the flies.

At mealtime they move to the table with the food, lifted only to make a serving. From then on the responsibility is the diner's. He eats with one hand, fights flies with the other.

Flypaper, yes it catches a few, but isn't favored. Tige once lashed his tail into a sheet and plastered it around the leg of Uncle Jimmy's new pants; besides it really hurt Aunt Sarah to harm even a fly.

DOWN AT Donovan's saloon they had a different system. After closing, Squawker Dunn earned the right to sleep there by cleaning the cuspidors, sweeping out the beer-soured sawdust and spreading new.

Hot Summertime he pioneered as the first fly exterminator—and was well equipped aromatically for his task. At the price of a beer for each appearance he would stand at the bar while all the flies settled on him.

When his tattered clothing was well obscured he would move like a rundown robot toward the door. There was a knack about this that approached a science. With movement scarcely perceptible, lest he lose a fly, he edged outside.

Once out, a couple of rugged shakes and the air was filled with bar flies—on their way back in with the first entering customer.

Squawker knew better than to shake too far from the door. It was bad for his profession.

SIMPLE RULE SETTLES FIGHT

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Many readers of this column seem to have the same trouble with the rules of Samba governing the frozen pack. Perhaps I can clear it up.

You always need a pair of natural cards to take the discard pile for a new meld. This does not mean, however, that the discard pile is always frozen.

Suppose, for example, that you have melded three kings (among other good and valuable securities). The player at your right discards a king. You can pick up the discard pile, adding that discarded king to your meld of kings. In other words, the discard pile is not frozen, and you can add a discard to a meld that you have previously made.

Let's take another example. Suppose that you or your partner has melded the queen-jack-ten of spades at some time during the play of the hand. Several plays later, the opponent at your right throws the king of spades. You can pick up the discard pile, and add that king of spades to your queen-jack-ten of spades.

What is the procedure if you have a canasta of queens, let us say, and the player at your right throws a queen? According to the rules of Samba, you are not allowed to pick up a card that matches your closed canasta. (Let me make it absolutely clear, if I can, that this is not the rule in ordinary canasta. In regular canasta the official rule allows you to pick up a card that matches your closed Samba.)

Even in Samba, however, you are not completely forbidden to pick up that discarded queen. If you have a pair of queens in your hand, you can pick up the discard pile with your natural pair and start an entirely new meld of queens.

Let's take another situation that occurs very often. The opponent discards the king of spades, and you have the queen-jack-ten of spades in your hand. Can you use that sequence to pick up the discarded king of spades?

No, you cannot do so. The previous discard can be added to a sequence that was melded at a previous turn but not to a sequence that was still in your hand when your turn to play began.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Federal Taxes

October 2, 1952

Editor, The Freeman,

Many people are under the misapprehension that we can't do anything about taxes, especially the major bite, the open and hidden federal taxes.

We all know that at least 75 per cent of all federal taxes go to defense. Nobody who has the interests of our country at heart will quarrel about an adequate defense, or the amount of money an adequate defense requires. Most of us have near relatives in the armed services, or sons about to be called into the service of our country. It is necessary that they have the best possible training and equipment and that our armed services have the most potent weapons of defense and offense that modern science can devise. There is no quarrel about that.

The question I want to raise is, are we getting a dollar value for each dollar we spend in our effort, or as near to it as it is humanly possible? When we are sick we go to our doctor, pay his fee, and do whatever he advises regardless of cost and know that the cost is well worth regaining our health.

Now in regard to our defense effort in my opinion there is no better authority, no man better qualified by experience and training to speak on this subject than General Eisenhower. Unification of the armed services was intended to stop waste and duplication of effort and expense; but has it?

General Eisenhower has said that instead of getting unification of the armed services we have triplication. That billions of dollars could be cut from our defense spending without impairing our defense effort. His opponent says this can't be done. Here we have a choice. Shall we follow a man whose career was the armed services, with his record of achievement, who knows what he is talking about and means what he says? I realize that in scrutinizing taxes we should be impartial, that our political affiliations and beliefs should not influence our judgment, but here we have a clear cut issue. Shall we follow a man like General Eisenhower whose record as an executive, organizer and diplomat would be invaluable as the chief executive of our country. I think we should. With General Eisenhower as the overall director of our defense effort we will come much nearer getting a full dollar value for our tax dollar, and our defense will be in the most capable hands.

Old Stove Round-Up Contest

Enter Your Old Gas Range

In this area there must be plenty of old gas ranges — 20, 25, 30 years old . . . yes, some even 35 to 40 years old. The owner of the oldest gas range entered in this contest is going to get a spanking new Natural Gas range without a cent of cost to him!

How will this oldest gas range be found? That's up to you!

Here's what you do. Between now and December 26th replace your old gas range with a new one. Buy your range at any local store selling gas ranges. Pay for it in cash or on easy terms — in whatever way is agreeable between yourself and the store with whom you deal. If yours is the oldest gas range turned in during this time the entire purchase price of the new range will be refunded to you.

ENTER THIS CONTEST! You'll be a winner regardless of whether or not yours is the oldest range. You can't miss! You'll find good cooking easier than ever before . . . burners that light without matches, smokeless broilers at convenient height, ovens designed for modern low temperature roasting and quick preheating.

SOME SIMPLE RULES

1. Between now and December 26, 1952 local gas appliance dealers will keep track of the oldest range.
2. Any old gas range can qualify — combination coal-and-gas, combination oil-and-gas or straight gas range. Gas hot plates will not count.
3. Old range must have been in use at place of replacement during the past year.
4. Old gas range must be replaced with a new one having top burner pilot, insulated oven and oven heat control.
5. Award will be made only where city gas is supplied.
6. Central Hudson employees and their immediate families; gas appliance dealers, their employees and their immediate families are not eligible to enter.
7. The decision of qualified judges in determining the oldest range will be final.
8. Winner will agree that photographs of himself and the winning gas range may be used in Company publicity.

See the sleek new gas ranges now being shown in local stores. Take time to select the burner arrangement you prefer . . . the special features that mean so much in your kitchen. Replace your old range NOW!

NYU Announces Plan For $102,105,000

New York, Oct. 6 (AP) — New York University has announced a ten-year, $102,105,000 development program.

A weekend statement from NYU said 50 millions will be sought for general endowment purposes of the university such as increases in faculty salaries, operating expenses, scholarships and new educational programs.

The other $52,105,000 will be spnt for acquisition of land, construction of buildings, new equipment and retirement of outstanding building indebtedness.

Dr. Henry T. Heald, chancellor of the university, said he expects to get the money through gifts or bequests and the creation of endowments.

Heald said the university's present endowment is 19 millions with its physical plant valued at 35 mlions. NYU has 45,000 students.

Senior President

DONALD BARNES

Donald Barnes was recently elected president of the senior class. Balloting will take place next week on the office of treasurer.

Heads Marshals

Jack Hickey was elected captain of KHS marshals at a recent meeting. Will Rogers, Mike Flanagan and Ken Kouphout were named executive assistants while Art Harder was elected secretary and treasurer.

Navy Exams

High School students were recently informed that the navy will conduct its seventh nationwide competitive examination for its College Training Program, Dec. 13, 1952. This exam will be open to high school seniors or graduates within the age requirements. Successful candidates will be given a four-year college education at government expense and will be commissioned as officers of the navy or marine corps upon graduation.

The program is open to male citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21, and quotas have been assigned to each state and territory on the basis of its high school population. Those who are successful in passing the aptitude test will be interviewed and given physical examinations; then, if they are found in all respects qualified, their names will be submitted to state and territorial selection committees composed of prominent citizens and naval officers. The navy expects to enter about 2,000 students into the program commencing with the fall term of college. 1953.

Exchange Pupil

MARGUERITE LETENNEUR

French

Born in Le Havre, France, 17 years ago, Marguerite Letenneur, French exchange student, came to this country six weeks ago on a small boat with several students from France and Belgium. Marguerite, who was brought here by Prisma and the American Field Service, will stay here until June as the guest of Cynthia Haver, a sophomore at KHS.

Miss Letenneur was surprised to see boys and girls going to the same school. In France, she says, girls are not required to attend high school. School in France is taken more seriously than here she explained because they carry four or five more subjects than the average student here and they have fewer activities.

The French students have a more serious and mature outlook on life but in America there is a closer relationship between students and teachers.

Culture and philosophy are studied more extensively there, but she says subjects taught in America are more practical. In France, she studies French, English, German, Latin, geometry, algebra, French history, geography, physics and chemistry. Here she is studying German, Latin, social studies, public speaking and English.

She prefers classical literature to comic books and would rather see a dramatic movie than a comedy or musical. She was surprised to see high school girls wearing lipstick. Girls in France wear more simple clothing of better quality, she commented.

Paid Assemblies

Roy and Bob Dill will present a story of archery and display their skill at the sport in the assembly Oct. 30 and 31 in the high school auditorium.

This attraction will be followed by two other top-notch entertainers in Sigurd Rascher, one of the greatest saxaphone players in the world, who will appear Nov. 13 and 14, and Robert Looms, who will present a movie entitled, The Adventurous Yankee on Feb. 19 and 20.

Dame Rumor

The first issue of Dame Rumor was distributed to the school body last Friday. Although this year's paper will be five columns wide instead of six, it still retains all the regular features and news stories that it had in the past.

Heading the paper this year are Marni Paley and Glenn Edinger, serving as co-editors-in-chief. The managing editor is Lynda Sulko. Filling other positions are Shirley Craig, business manager; Edward Strong, sports editor and Fleurette Reon, advertising manager.

Five associate editors also are working with Dame Rumor. They are Elizabeth Nussbaum, Nadya Spassenko, Robin Strongin, Donald Terry and Joan Wilson.

Student Movie Cards

Student Council, composed of representatives from each homeroom, conducted a meeting in the school library Thursday to discuss selling of student movie cards. The cards will be distributed through Student Council homeroom representatives this week and next. A small fee will be charged to each student. The bearer of this card will be admitted to any of the three Walter Reade Theatres, uptown, Broadway and 9-W Drive In, for a reduced rate.

Sweater Hop

Senior Leader's Club girls at Kingston High School held their annual hop in the MJM gymnasium Saturday night with dancing from 8 to 11 o'clock to Harry Freer's orchestra.

This year's dance was a sweater hop and all students appeared in sweaters as prizes were awarded for the most original and gayest.

Committees for this year's hop were as follows: decorations, Carol Tremper, chairman; Barbara Greene and Shirley Cowan; tickets, Anne Griffin, chairman, Janet Alte and Maggie Jackson. Refreshments were in charge of Mary Ellen Adams, chairman, Carol Feidler and Mary Meyers; publicity, Barbara Chmura, chairman, Mimi Levintan and Pat Cullum.

Reports on Trip

Martha Davenport, winner of last year's Prisma trip, spoke at a special assembly last week. Not only did she tell of her trip to Germany but also showed the students a film of her adventures.

In the assembly, she stressed the point that the German people are very frank and hard working, besides being kind and friendly.

The film shown consisted of the four-week bike trip which Martha took and various places that she visited while on the trip.

Martha stated that she had a lot of fun while visiting Germany and felt that summer was very worthwhile.

Harvest Moon Dance

First in the fall series of important social events for high school students will be the Harvest Moon Dance scheduled for 8 p. m. Oct. 11 in the MJM Gym. This will be a semi-formal dance with girls bid. Refreshments will be served.

Prisma Hears Guest

Prisma members were given a glimpse into how different their life is from that of French high school students when Marguerite Litenneur addressed a special girls' assembly Tuesday morning. She is Prisma's foreign exchange student who is spending a year in the United States and is attending Kingston High School.

Journalism Trip

Kingston High School's Journalism class of 1952-53 visited The Kingston Freeman Publishing Company Sept. 23 and was given an opportunity to observe the various steps taken in composing and printing a daily paper.

Marshal Jackets

Arrangements for manufacturing new jackets for the marshals have been completed with the Board of Education president, Clarence Rowland, manager of Fuller Shirt Company, who have contracted to make the jackets.

The jackets will be made up of maroon corduroy, based on a college blazer type without a collar.

The eyes of the world's bridge players will be fastened on New York three weeks from today, when the world championship match begins in that city. If your eyes go that way, keep them on George Rapee, one of the stars of the American team. If you blink for an instant you may find out that George has chosen that moment to steal a trick.

For example, take today's hand —which was played in a rubber bridge game recently. Rapee was my partner, and the opponents were two of the best known bridge players in the country. That didn't stop George from getting to an ambitious contract which should have been set—except that he made it!

West was at his brilliant best when he led the deuce of spades. If he had opened the five of hearts, Rapee would have had time to develop the diamonds and also the king of clubs. The defenders would get two hearts, a diamond, and a club, but declarer would take the rest.

The spade opening was far more troublesome. Rapee played low from dummy, and East played the queen to guard against the possibility that South had the doubIton ace-jack. Rapee won with the king of spades and nonchalantly made the key play of the hand.

Just in case you haven't worked out that key play yourself, let's go through Rapee's lightning analysis at a slower pace. If the diamond finess is going to succeed (actually, it won't, but South doesn't know at this moment), South will easily make two spades, two hearts, and five diamonds.

If the diamond finesse is going to lose, there are only eight fast tricks, and a ninth trick will be needed.

It will do no good to go after the diamonds immediately, since the enemy will continue spades. Then the fat will be in the fire and there will be no chance to develop the ninth trick later on.

The only chance was to go after the ninth trick immediately in the hope of stealing it. So Rapee led the three of clubs at the second trick.

West would have been a hero if he had hopped up with the ace of clubs and returned the jack of spades. But West wasn't sure that the spades were only one trick from establishment, so he played a low club, allowing dummy to win with the king of clubs.

That was only the second trick of the hand, but it was actually Rapee's ninth trick. He could now safely switch to diamonds, losing a finesse to the king, and to make his game with two spades, two hearts, four diamonds, and that very valuable stolen club trick.

Fifty Years Of Changes in Kingston City

(This is the first of two articles comparing Kingston today with Kingston 50 years ago.)

Fifty years brings many changes in the life of a community, changes so gradual they often pass unnoticed until some half-century old facts and figures turn up to be contracted with present day information.

Such a comparison is possible in Kingston today, using as a basis a booklet published in 1902 by the Kingston Board of Trade, forerunner of the Chamber of Commerce. The illustrated booklet, The City of Kingston, Birthplace of New York State, was written by Howard Hendricks, and its sub-title indicated it continued a short historical survey, an account of the city's "rare native attractions and its modern advantages for business and home life."

Several copies of the booklet are still in possession of local families. The copy used in this series was found recently by H. J. Greene of the Anderson School, Staatsburg, and loaned by him to Louis W. Kantrowitz of this city, who is turn passed it along to The Freeman.

Kingston today has eight times as much money in savings banks as it did 50 years ago. The breadwinner earns as much in one hour today as he did in a whole day a half-century ago. And he spends it faster, too. A new suit, for instance, costs him five times as much as it did in 1902.

Travel has changed over the past half-century. Then, speed was in a large part confined to the river and the rails, and Kingston boasted of the palatial river steamboats that stopped here daily during the season of navigation. Highways were thought of mostly for pleasant drives or "wheeling"—bicycling was in its prime. Today, Kingston is forgotten as a port-of-call by the few remaining steamboats. Nearly every family has its own automobile and area promotion stresses high speed highways and "most direct routes."

The industrial emphasis has changed, too. Fifty years ago, cigar-making was Kingston's leading industry. Today, it is the needletrades. In the huge underground caverns left by the cement miners of a half-century ago, today other men are growing mushrooms.

Some of the impressive mansions pictured in the Board of Trade's 1920 booklet have been made into apartments, offices or lodge halls. At least one other has been demolished to make way for a multiple dwelling development. Instead of erecting a mansion in the city, the moderately well-to-do homebuilder of today tends toward an acre or two in the suburbs with a view and a picture window.

Here are some comparative facts and figures:

Kingston's population in 1900 was 24,535. Fifty years later it was 28,859.

The city's five commercial banks had an aggregate capital of one million dollars in 1902. Its three savings banks had deposits totaling $5,923,449. On Jan. 1, 1952, the five commercial banks had assets totaling $35,113,085.75. Assets of the three savings banks totaled $49,201,872.16. In addition, there are two savings and loan associations with combined assets of $16,663,488.56.

In 1902 the average wake in industry in Kingston was $1.21 per day, according to the Board of Trade's booklet. (And the seven and one-half or eight hour day was unknown, oldtimers point out.) Kingston's largest single industry at the time was cigar making, employing 493 men and boys and 1,300 young women, with a weekly payroll of $10,400—an average of $5.80 for each employe each week.

Today, 50 years later, a summary of general information prepared in May by the Chamber of Commerce notes that the minimum wage for unskilled workers runs from 75 to 80 cents to $1 an hour. Semi-skilled and skilled industrial workers average $1.50 to $1.75 and up per hour, it has been estimated by Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

It is interesting, too, to check the prices in 1902 advertisements in The Freeman. Butter was selling at 23 cents a pound; eggs were going at 23½ cents a dozen and some merchants were tossing in an extra and advertising 13 eggs for a quarter. Ham brought 16 cents a pound; bacon, 20 cents; steak, 14 cents; mixed nuts, 11 cents a dozen.

Men's suits were advertised in 1902 at various prices such as $3.72, $5.18 and $6.50. An extra fine quality suit sold for $15. Men's shoes cost $2 a pair, and an eight-room house could be rented at $16 a month.

Onteora Central School Elects Class Officers, Outlines Programs for School Year

Officers and student council delegates have been elected to serve classes at the Onteora Central School during the ensuing year. Information relative to the student council, adult education and intramural program has also been announced. The school enrollment numbers 850 pupils.

Junior Class, Andrew Shekita, advisor, has chosen James Ayer, president; Rosemarie Colosimo, vice-president; Joan Warnes, secretary, and Leslie Foster, treasurer.

Seventh grade—Class president, Charles Gange; delegates, Richard Craig and Dolores Fichtner; alternates, John Iapoce and Frances Stanzl.

Eighth grade—Class president, Kirsten Warnes; delegates, Caroline Draper and Paul Shultis; alternates, Wallace Krom and Barbara Timpson.

11th grade — Class president, Jim Ayer; delegates, Ed Sedlmeier and Bill Frankle; alternates, Ingrid Allerman and Lena Forlini.

Classes will begin Wednesday, Nov. 5, and will continue until June except for those classes which the adults and the teacher agree may be terminated previous to June.

After the first session, adult education classes will meet on Tuesday evenings instead of Wednesday. The first class will be held on Wednesday in order not to conflict with Election Day.

It will be possible for adults to register for, and to be in attendance at, two different classes each night.

Further information may be had by calling or writing Howard H. Mosher, director of adult education, Onteora Central School, Boiceville; phone Phoenicia 3246.

Student Council

One of the first areas of activity for the student body as a group, was the organization of the Onteora Central School student council. Officers will be elected by the student body.

The council immediately began to discuss proposals for a constitution and by-laws. After complete organization, the council will begin to study such areas of activity as school colors, songs and cheers.

Adult Education

The members of the Onteora Central School Adult Education Committee met on Thursday evening, Sept. 18, at the new school to discuss plans for the adult education program. Members present were Nelson Shultis, chairman; Mrs. Frankle, secretary; Mrs. Bishop, publicity director and Mrs. Stanley Shultis, Mrs. Howland, Mrs. Quick, Mrs. Bedell, Mrs. Cruickshank, Mrs. Aalto, Mrs. Roosa, Mrs. Byron, Mr. Fox, Mrs. Hill and Dr. Porter.

Registration is scheduled, tentatively, for Monday evening, Oct. 27, 1952, in the new school beginning at 8 o'clock. Any person, resident of the Onteora Central School district, who is interested in any type of adult education, is urged to register on this date. Classes will begin on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Intramural Program

The intramural program at the Onteora Central School got underway Monday with thirteen teams signed up to participate. In the senior league, composed of sophomores and juniors there are four teams, the Browns, Eagles, Redskins and Giants. Edward Sedlmeier, Bill Frankle, Carl Bremer and Louis Bolter are team captains.

There are six teams in the intermediate circuit which is composed entirely of freshmen. They are the Bruins, Canadiens, Blackhawks, Rangers, Red Wings and Maple Leaves. Elbert Harrison, Martini Rotella, Bill Reynolds, Ray Shultis, James Quinn, and Bob Shultis are the team captains in this league.

Also in the junior circuit there are seven teams composed entirely of seventh and eighth graders. The teams are the Panthers, Rams, Indians, Tigers, Pirates, 49'ers, and the Dodgers. Billy Harrison, Robert Myers, Kurt Hahn, Wayne Grant, Richard Murphy, Richard Craig, and Jurgen Bracklow.

Married in Double Ring Ceremony

MRS. BENJAMIN GULNICK, JR.

Rose Marie Resso, Benjamin Gulnick Jr. Wed in St. Joseph's

Miss Rose Marie Resso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Resso, became the bride of Benjamin Gulnick, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gulnick, Sr., 31 Lindsley avenue, at 2 p. m., on Sunday, Sept. 28, in St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. James V. Keating officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 350 guests was held at the Yacht Club.

The church was decorated with bouquets of chrysanthemums. Traditional wedding selections were played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over bridal satin, styled with fitted nylon bodice and full, floor length skirt terminating in a cathedral train. Her full length French illusion veil was attached to a coronet of pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of pompons.

Miss Betsy Gulnick, sister of the bridegroom was the maid-of-honor. With her aqua nylon net over taffeta gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice and bouffant floor length skirt, she wore a small capelet of shirred net, and a matching net picture hat.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Rose Marie Florima, cousin of the bride, Amsterdam; Beverly Hooker 79 Hudson street; Marie Carraro, Glasco; and Pat Yerry, 109 Clinton avenue, a cousin to the bridegroom. Their gowns, identically styled like the honor attendant's, were in colors of orchid, pink, blue, and maize, respectively. All of the attendants carried bouquets of pompons.

Miss Jo Ann Lamaro and Miss Nancy Lucoi, were flower girls. They wore nylon tulle over taffeta gowns of nile green and white, respectively, styled with hooped skirts. Their headpieces were bands of matching flowers and leaves.

Vito C. Florima Jr., Amsterdam, a cousin of the bride, was best man. Serving as ushers were Joseph Perry Jr., 11 Crane street; Burton and George L. Gulnick, brothers of the bridegroom; and Dominick Petramale, Glasco. Nicholas Buonfiligo Jr., the bride's cousin, was ringbearer.

Upon their return from a trip to Florida, the couple will reside at 87 Clinton avenue. For traveling, the bride chose a navy blue ensemble and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Gulnick was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '49, and is employed by Kingston Knitting Mills.

Mr. Gulnick attended Kingston High School, served for three years with the U. S. Army Artillery, and the air force, and is employed by Packard-Kingston Company Inc.

B'nai B'rith Will Hear Guest Speaker

MONROE H. SHEINBERG

Monroe H. Sheinberg, director of the New York regional office of the Anti-Defamation League, will be the guest speaker at the next monthly meeting of Zephaniah Lodge 131, B'nai B'rith, it was announced today by Louis W. Kantrowitz, president of the local lodge.

The meeting will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 8:45 p. m., and will be open to members and friends.

Prior to World War 2, Sheinberg was head of the research department of the Anti-Defamation League, in which position he analyzed and reported extensively on un-American and subversive publications and literature. His work in this field led to the founding and development of that department.

Enlisting as a private in 1943, he was assigned to the Ordnance Department and advanced to the rank of captain in less than two and one-half years. He served two years in the European Theatre and was awarded a Certificate of Merit as well as an army commendation ribbon.

He is a graduate of the College of the City of New York, where he was captain of the varsity track team. After graduation, he joined the staff of the college as faculty guidance advisor. A degree of bachelor of law from Fordham University followed, and then his admission to the New York State Bar. He practiced law for six years and served as attorney investigator for the New York Civil Service Commission. Noted as a dynamic speaker, he has appeared on television and radio. His articles have been printed in many publications.

Forty-five thousand different species of plants are housed, protected, and studied, in Kew Gardens, outside London, England.

WORDING INVITATIONS

A reader this morning explains: "I am known professionally as Barbara Lee. I am soon to be married and am having quite a large wedding and reception. Many of the invitations will be sent to professional friends who know me only as Barbara Lee. Will you please tell me how the invitations should be worded under the circumstances?

You will have to have your engraver add (Barbara Lee) under your name in parenthesis on the certain number of invitations to be sent to those who are unlikely to know your name.

Embarrassing Situation

Dear Mrs. Post: After five years of marriage, my husband and I were exceedingly happy when we learned we were going to become parents. We just couldn't keep it a secret and told everyone we knew the good news. Everyone was very happy for us and many of my friends are plannink stork showers for me. However, a terrible mistake has been made and I am not only very disappointed but embarrased as well. Will you please tell me how I can go about telling people before I am caused further embarrassment?

Answer: I think you simply have to be frank and tell these same friends of your bitter disappointment just as you have written it to me. The people will certainly understand your unhappiness.

Presents May Be Kept

Dear Mrs. Post: Up until a week ago I had been going out with a young man for over a year, although we were not engaged. During this time he gave me a very beautiful piece of luggage for my birthday and last Christmas he gave me a wrist watch. I would like to know if these presents should be returned to him.

Answer: Since these gifts were not engagement presents, you need not return them.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me who is supposed to give the rehearsal dinner, and who, beside the wedding party, is invited to this party?

Answer: The bride's parents give the dinner and usually none but the bride and groom's attendants are invited.

Are you planning to give a simple shower for a friend or bride-to-be? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, leaflet E-13, "Showers," includes various kinds of showers, entertainment and gifts. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Miss TenEyck to Sing In Potsdam Recital

Miss Joan TenEyck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William TenEyck, Hurley, will sing at the season's first senior recital at State University Teachers College at Potsdam, Wednesday at 8:15 p. m. Miss TenEyck was graduated from Kingston High School in 1949, and is a senior in the college's Crane Department of Music.

She will sing Voce Di Donna, by Ponchielli, Von Ewiger Liebe, the Frackenpohl arrangement of three folk songs, Woe Unto Him, from Mendelssohn's Elijah and Amour Viens Aider, by Saint Saens. Miss TenEyck a contralto, will conclude the program by singing a duet with baritone John LaFalce, Crudel Perche Finora, from Mozart's Marriage of Figaro.

Miss TenEyck was a soloist at the college's May Festival, and took part in the Crane Departments' performance at Carnegie Hall last winter, when the group appeared as part of Robert Shaw's Choral Masterworks series.

Lomontville Reception After Hurley Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ettinger cut a wedding cake at a reception in Lomontville following their wedding in Hurley, Saturday afternoon.

Miss Gretchen Dedy Becomes Bride of William H. Ettinger

The marriage of Miss Gretchen Dedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dedy of Lomontville, to William H. Ettinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Ross of Encino, Cal., took place Saturday, Sept. 27, at 5 p. m. in the Hurley Reformed Church. The Rev. John Dykstra, pastor, read the double ring ceremony. A supper reception and dance for 100 guests was held in the Lomontville community hall, Lomontville, with music by Julius Tellier.

The church was decorated with palms, candles, and baskets of white gladioli and white and yellow pompons. The pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white Skinner satin and Chantilly lace gown styled with a fitted bodice, long sleeves, illusion neckline and a full skirt ending in a circular train. Her French illusion veil was attached to a white marquisette tiara type headpiece. She carried a white prayer book with white roses and ribbon streamers.

Miss Irmgard S. Dedy of New York City was her sister's only attendant. She was attired in a gown of light cerise taffeta with a matching overskirt and stole. Her headpiece was a tiara of small yellow pompons. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Serving as his nephew's best man was Joseph Pfrommer of this city.

The couple left by automobile for California. They will reside in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Ettinger was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '52, and has been employed by the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mr. Ettinger was graduated from Fairfax High School in Los Angeles, class of '46, and attended the Los Angeles City College. He received his discharge in August, after four years' serveice with the U. S. Air Force.

Psychopatic people cannot distinguish between dreams and reality, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Personal Notes

Miss Marcia S. Waterous of Woodstock, a junior at Smith College, has been named to the Dean's list. The list is composed of students who have maintained an academic average of B or better during the past college year.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bishop and their sons, left on Saturday for a two weeks' trip to Washington, D. C. and Virginia. While there, they will visit the Bishops' son, John and his bride at Alexandria, Va.

Miss Mary Jo Haulenbeek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Haulenbeek of 278 Washington avenue, is enrolled as a freshman at Green Mountain Junior College, Poultney, Vt.

UC Home Bureau Fall Rally Exhibits Projects, Mrs. Day Urges Defense of Sound Americanism

The fall rally of the Ulster County Home Bureau was held at the First Baptist Church on Albany avenue Tuesday, Sept. 30. Over 300 persons viewed the exhibits illustrating the 1952-53 projects.

Value American Privileges

The evening program was well attended when Mrs. Homer Day of Oxford, president of the New York State Federation of Home Bureaus, gave an address entitled Backbone or Wishbone. Mrs. Day summarized the importance of women and their influence both in the home and in community activities. She urged her listeners to value the privileges that come to us as American citizens, called their attention to the importance of their thinking through their responsibilities and defending the values of sound Americanism.

Among the exhibits, one of the most popular was that of wall plaques and shadow boxes prepared by Miss Helena Olds of New Paltz and Mrs. Marie Gunther of Kingston. Training schools in these projects are scheduled for the month of October.

Model Dresses

Mrs. Fred Fahnrich, Mrs. Thomas Turck, and Mrs. Mary Penning modeled the rayon dresses they had made and Mrs. Peter Torigan modeled the cotton dress she had made.

There was a collection of hooked mats, rugs, gloves, both leather and fabric, articles decorated with stitchery, smocked aprons and children's dresses, refinished furniture, caned chairs, slip covers, toothbrush rugs, wool skirts, wool jacket, sewing screens, Christmas decorations, dried flower arrangements, textile stencilling, pictures in the home, handbags, both fabric and plastic, and exhibits on quick hearty suppers, weight control, family life, history and folklore, meals for many, good grooming.

Mrs. Alvin Stiller took charge of the display on care and adjustment of the sewing machine and enrollments were received. Mrs. J. H. Haulenbeck, Mrs. Harry VandeMark and Mrs. Gustav Irmisch discussed the foods project, Quick Hearty Suppers.

Folklore Meetings Set

Mrs. Millard Davis presided at the meeting, Mrs. William Douglas being absent through illness. Mrs. Davis reported that the memberships now in the office for 1953 exceed by over 300 the number in at the same time last year and she complimented the vice chairmen on their activities to date. Miss Marie Siemsen discussed the study club, the first meeting of which is scheduled for the evening of October 21, on history and folklore. It will be under the direction of Miss Siemsen, Miss Neva Shultis and Harry Siemsen.

Members of the executive committee were introduced.

Mrs. Eugene Rider, Mrs. Henry Thiel, Mrs. Harry VandeMark, and Mrs. L. VanWezemaal took care of the registration. Executive committee members acted as hostesses in the afternoon and the unit chairmen were hostesses for the evening.

Singing was led by Mrs. William Powers and Mrs. O. Orlowski was the pianist.

Fish Preparation

Miss Helen Diehl of the State Department of Education has invited any women who are interested in quantity food preparation or homemakers who may care to see a demonstration on quantity fish preparation to attend a meeting to be conducted by Miss Violet Brooks from the Division of Fish and Wildlife of the United States Department of Interior which will be held at the George Washington School Tuesday, Oct. 14, at 7:30 p. m.

This meeting is sponsored jointly by the United States Department of Interior and the New York State Department of Education.

Local Nursing Director to Speak in Cleveland

Miss Esther Schisa, RN, director of public health nursing for the Ulster County Health Department, will address one of the sessions at the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association in Cleveland, the week of Oct. 20. (Freeman Photo)

Meeting Scheduled

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital will hold its first fall meeting Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the nurses' home.

All members are requested to attend this important business meeting and to make returns on the project now in progress.

Married in Double Ring Ceremony

MRS. BENJAMIN GULNICK, JR.

Rose Marie Resso, Benjamin Gulnick Jr. Wed in St. Joseph's

Miss Rose Marie Resso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Resso, became the bride of Benjamin Gulnick, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gulnick, Sr., 31 Lindsley avenue, at 2 p. m., on Sunday, Sept. 28, in St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. James V. Keating officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 350 guests was held at the Yacht Club.

The church was decorated with bouquets of chrysanthemums. Traditional wedding selections were played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over bridal satin, styled with fitted nylon bodice and full, floor length skirt terminating in a cathedral train. Her full length French illusion veil was attached to a coronet of pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of pompons.

Miss Betsy Gulnick, sister of the bridegroom was the maid-of-honor. With her aqua nylon net over taffeta gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice and bouffant floor length skirt, she wore a small capelet of shirred net, and a matching net picture hat.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Rose Marie Florima, cousin of the bride, Amsterdam; Beverly Hooker 79 Hudson street; Marie Carraro, Glasco; and Pat Yerry, 109 Clinton avenue, a cousin to the bridegroom. Their gowns, identically styled like the honor attendant's, were in colors of orchid, pink, blue, and maize, respectively. All of the attendants carried bouquets of pompons.

Miss Jo Ann Lamaro and Miss Nancy Lucoi, were flower girls. They wore nylon tulle over taffeta gowns of nile green and white, respectively, styled with hooped skirts. Their headpieces were bands of matching flowers and leaves.

Vito C. Florima Jr., Amsterdam, a cousin of the bride, was best man. Serving as ushers were Joseph Perry Jr., 11 Crane street; Burton and George L. Gulnick, brothers of the bridegroom; and Dominick Petramale, Glasco. Nicholas Buonfiligo Jr., the bride's cousin, was ringbearer.

Upon their return from a trip to Florida, the couple will reside at 87 Clinton avenue. For traveling, the bride chose a navy blue ensemble and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Gulnick was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '49, and is employed by Kingston Knitting Mills.

Mr. Gulnick attended Kingston High School, served for three years with the U. S. Army Artillery, and the air force, and is employed by Packard-Kingston Company Inc.

B'nai B'rith Will Hear Guest Speaker

Monroe H. Sheinberg, director of the New York regional office of the Anti-Defamation League, will be the guest speaker at the next monthly meeting of Zephaniah Lodge 131, B'nai B'rith, it was announced today by Louis W. Kantrowitz, president of the local lodge.

The meeting will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 8:45 p. m., and will be open to members and friends.

Prior to World War 2, Sheinberg was head of the research department of the Anti-Defamation League, in which position he analyzed and reported extensively on un-American and subversive publications and literature. His work in this field led to the founding and development of that department.

Enlisting as a private in 1943, he was assigned to the Ordnance Department and advanced to the rank of captain in less than two and one-half years. He served two years in the European Theatre and was awarded a Certificate of Merit as well as an army commendation ribbon.

He is a graduate of the College of the City of New York, where he was captain of the varsity track team. After graduation, he joined the staff of the college as faculty guidance advisor. A degree of bachelor of law from Fordham University followed, and then his admission to the New York State Bar. He practiced law for six years and served as attorney investigator for the New York Civil Service Commission. Noted as a dynamic speaker, he has appeared on television and radio. His articles have been printed in many publications.

Forty-five thousand different species of plants are housed, protected, and studied, in Kew Gardens, outside London, England.

WORDING INVITATIONS

A reader this morning explains: "I am known professionally as Barbara Lee. I am soon to be married and am having quite a large wedding and reception. Many of the invitations will be sent to professional friends who know me only as Barbara Lee. Will you please tell me how the invitations should be worded under the circumstances?

You will have to have your engraver add (Barbara Lee) under your name in parenthesis on the certain number of invitations to be sent to those who are unlikely to know your name.

Embarrassing Situation

Dear Mrs. Post: After five years of marriage, my husband and I were exceedingly happy when we learned we were going to become parents. We just couldn't keep it a secret and told everyone we knew the good news. Everyone was very happy for us and many of my friends are plannink stork showers for me. However, a terrible mistake has been made and I am not only very disappointed but embarrased as well. Will you please tell me how I can go about telling people before I am caused further embarrassment?

Answer: I think you simply have to be frank and tell these same friends of your bitter disappointment just as you have written it to me. The people will certainly understand your unhappiness.

Presents May Be Kept

Dear Mrs. Post: Up until a week ago I had been going out with a young man for over a year, although we were not engaged. During this time he gave me a very beautiful piece of luggage for my birthday and last Christmas he gave me a wrist watch. I would like to know if these presents should be returned to him.

Answer: Since these gifts were not engagement presents, you need not return them.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me who is supposed to give the rehearsal dinner, and who, beside the wedding party, is invited to this party?

Answer: The bride's parents give the dinner and usually none but the bride and groom's attendants are invited.

Are you planning to give a simple shower for a friend or bride-to-be? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, leaflet E-13, "Showers," includes various kinds of showers, entertainment and gifts. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Miss TenEyck to Sing In Potsdam Recital

Miss Joan TenEyck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William TenEyck, Hurley, will sing at the season's first senior recital at State University Teachers College at Potsdam, Wednesday at 8:15 p. m. Miss TenEyck was graduated from Kingston High School in 1949, and is a senior in the college's Crane Department of Music.

She will sing Voce Di Donna, by Ponchielli, Von Ewiger Liebe, the Frackenpohl arrangement of three folk songs, Woe Unto Him, from Mendelssohn's Elijah and Amour Viens Aider, by Saint Saens. Miss TenEyck a contralto, will conclude the program by singing a duet with baritone John LaFalce, Crudel Perche Finora, from Mozart's Marriage of Figaro.

Miss TenEyck was a soloist at the college's May Festival, and took part in the Crane Departments' performance at Carnegie Hall last winter, when the group appeared as part of Robert Shaw's Choral Masterworks series.

Lomontville Reception After Hurley Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ettinger cut a wedding cake at a reception in Lomontville following their wedding in Hurley, Saturday afternoon.

Miss Gretchen Dedy Becomes Bride of William H. Ettinger

The marriage of Miss Gretchen Dedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dedy of Lomontville, to William H. Ettinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Ross of Encino, Cal., took place Saturday, Sept. 27, at 5 p. m. in the Hurley Reformed Church. The Rev. John Dykstra, pastor, read the double ring ceremony. A supper reception and dance for 100 guests was held in the Lomontville community hall, Lomontville, with music by Julius Tellier.

The church was decorated with palms, candles, and baskets of white gladioli and white and yellow pompons. The pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white Skinner satin and Chantilly lace gown styled with a fitted bodice, long sleeves, illusion neckline and a full skirt ending in a circular train. Her French illusion veil was attached to a white marquisette tiara type headpiece. She carried a white prayer book with white roses and ribbon streamers.

Miss Irmgard S. Dedy of New York City was her sister's only attendant. She was attired in a gown of light cerise taffeta with a matching overskirt and stole. Her headpiece was a tiara of small yellow pompons. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Serving as his nephew's best man was Joseph Pfrommer of this city.

The couple left by automobile for California. They will reside in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Ettinger was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '52, and has been employed by the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mr. Ettinger was graduated from Fairfax High School in Los Angeles, class of '46, and attended the Los Angeles City College. He received his discharge in August, after four years' serveice with the U. S. Air Force.

UC Home Bureau Fall Rally Exhibits Projects, Mrs. Day Urges Defense of Sound Americanism

The fall rally of the Ulster County Home Bureau was held at the First Baptist Church on Albany avenue Tuesday, Sept. 30. Over 300 persons viewed the exhibits illustrating the 1952-53 projects.

Value American Privileges

The evening program was well attended when Mrs. Homer Day of Oxford, president of the New York State Federation of Home Bureaus, gave an address entitled Backbone or Wishbone. Mrs. Day summarized the importance of women and their influence both in the home and in community activities. She urged her listeners to value the privileges that come to us as American citizens, called their attention to the importance of their thinking through their responsibilities and defending the values of sound Americanism.

Among the exhibits, one of the most popular was that of wall plaques and shadow boxes prepared by Miss Helena Olds of New Paltz and Mrs. Marie Gunther of Kingston. Training schools in these projects are scheduled for the month of October.

Model Dresses

Mrs. Fred Fahnrich, Mrs. Thomas Turck, and Mrs. Mary Penning modeled the rayon dresses they had made and Mrs. Peter Torigan modeled the cotton dress she had made.

There was a collection of hooked mats, rugs, gloves, both leather and fabric, articles decorated with stitchery, smocked aprons and children's dresses, refinished furniture, caned chairs, slip covers, toothbrush rugs, wool skirts, wool jacket, sewing screens, Christmas decorations, dried flower arrangements, textile stencilling, pictures in the home, handbags, both fabric and plastic, and exhibits on quick hearty suppers, weight control, family life, history and folklore, meals for many, good grooming.

Mrs. Alvin Stiller took charge of the display on care and adjustment of the sewing machine and enrollments were received. Mrs. J. H. Haulenbeck, Mrs. Harry VandeMark and Mrs. Gustav Irmisch discussed the foods project, Quick Hearty Suppers.

Folklore Meetings Set

Mrs. Millard Davis presided at the meeting, Mrs. William Douglas being absent through illness. Mrs. Davis reported that the memberships now in the office for 1953 exceed by over 300 the number in at the same time last year and she complimented the vice chairmen on their activities to date. Miss Marie Siemsen discussed the study club, the first meeting of which is scheduled for the evening of October 21, on history and folklore. It will be under the direction of Miss Siemsen, Miss Neva Shultis and Harry Siemsen.

Members of the executive committee were introduced.

Mrs. Eugene Rider, Mrs. Henry Thiel, Mrs. Harry VandeMark, and Mrs. L. VanWezemaal took care of the registration. Executive committee members acted as hostesses in the afternoon and the unit chairmen were hostesses for the evening.

Singing was led by Mrs. William Powers and Mrs. O. Orlowski was the pianist.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

THE SILVER CHALICE
By THOMAS B. COSTAIN

Against a background of barbaric splendor of the Roman Empire at the time of the early Christian Era, the author paints a brilliant word picture of the trials, dangers and triumphs of a devoted band of followers of the Saviour, and the persecutions endured in their efforts to protect the Sacred Cup used at the Last Supper.

Shortly after the crucifixion, the cup was given to Joseph of Arimathaea and he kept it hidden in his palatial home in Jerusalem, tellling none about it. Joseph has a lovely young granddaughter, Deborra, who has told the apostle, Luke, who frequently comes to see Joseph that she would like to have a model of her grandfather's head made in silver, since he is now old and ill and may not be with her much longer.

During a visit to Antioch, Luke hears of a talented young artist, Basil, a slave owned by a silversmith there and manages to secure his release and bring him to Jerusalem. Basil was born free, adopted by Ignatius, a very wealthy trader in Antioch and then upon the sudden death of Ignatius" brother of Linus and by him sold into slavery.

In Jerusalem he was welcomed into the home of Joseph of Arimathaea, wealthy patron of the Christian church, and immediately modeled a bust of Joseph in clay. So greatly did this please Joseph and his granddaughter that he was entrusted with the secret of the hiding place of the sacred Cup, and commissioned to make for it a fitting chalice.

Then begins a series of dramatic events and much travel for Basil as he sought out the apostles whom he has chosen to model for the chalice. Luke and Mark are near at hand. John, Peter and Paul as the most outstanding proponents of Christianity were both hated and feared by the Roman zealots and so were often forced to go into hiding. However with the help of Christian friends he was able to find them after a long, tortuous trip by camel train to Rome. He modeled John by flickering torchlight as he preached to a group of his followers; Peter when humbly scrubbing floors at a lowly inn in Rome and Peter in prison.

For a time in Rome Basil was favored by Nero and ordered to the model Emperor's head. He was clothed in fine raiment and made a welcome guest at the unbelievably extravagant banquets which were daily fare for the Emperor and his court. A description of one of these feasts gives a clear picture of the decadence which was finally to doom the Empire. The first course consisted of such delicacies as many varieties of sea food, encircled with damson plums and sprinkled with cummin and benzoin root; sausages made with eggs and breast of pheasant; eggs made of paste and colored blue with the yolks in which nested a fine fat little ortolan roasted to a turn; grasshoppers fried to a light golden brown and sweetened with honey; lettuce and large black olives; pomgranates cut open and garnished with rosebuds. That was only the first course, served with military precision by slaves bearing the food on heavy trays carried high above their heads and preceded by musicians and dancers, playing and capering before them.

This was followed by wild boars head, capons, ducks, wild game, pigs roasted whole. Quarters of stag, beef, etc., deposited upon the Emperor's 40-foot table, covered with cloth of gold and embellished with countless flowers. And much fine old wine in profusion. A scene of brilliance and beauty—and of grossness and debauchery.

Basil was at once astounded and disgusted by these orgies and when the Emperor ordered a beautiful little dancer to be tortured to death because she was brave enough to acknowledge that she was a Christian, Basil shouted his disapproval and only escaped a similar fate by being carried out in the beautiful pastry cart which had brought the dancer in.

The chalice is finally finished and although heavily guarded while being shown to a favored few, it proves to be much too precious and too desirable to be held long by the small, weak group of the faithful, and one night it is stolen. However in a prophetic vision Luke is assured that no forces of evil can keep it permanently, and moreover he foresees that although the cup will be returned, and again taken away, it will always come back to restore faith and hope to the world just when it is most needed.

There is much more about the life and times of the Jews, Samaritans and the Romans and about the ancient cities of Antioch, Jerusalem and Rome and the country surrounding them. Though it all runs the threat of the ambitious siren, Helena, a beautiful slave, to the otherwise perfect romance of Deborra and Basil. Giving an element of suspense up to the very end of the book.

As Pegler Sees It

binsky and took evasive action.

In the issue of the revolutionary Socialist Review which I have mentioned, Brown had an article entitled: "A program of militant centrism."

The intentions of this political agent of the Dubinsky Socialist empire movement in Europe are stated in these excerpts:

"It must be the task of revolutionary Socialists to smash the Bourgeois set-up (not merely get control of state machinery and use it for establishing socialism)."

Brown said it must be the task of his group to "substitute the workers' state through its Soviets which develop in the struggle for power."

He called attention, with approval, to the "appeal" of the revolutionary policy committee, wherein it said: "Workers' councils, organized in direct response to a growing revolutionary situation, shall constitute the basic units by which the working class can carry through an armed insurrection. These councils constitute the basic revolutionary idea of the state as opposed to Bourgeois, Democratic Parliament."

In a jibe at the Norman Thomas Socialists, who were known as the "Militants," a misnomer because they were a watery lot, Brown wrote: "We should like to call attention to the following from the Communist manifesto: 'Of all the classes that stand face-to-face with the bourgeoisie, the proletariat, alone, is a really revolutionary class.' This has always been the ABC of Marxian socialism. The constant attempt to avoid that awful pharsing but in a basic change of ship—results not merely in a rephrasing but in a basic chance of idea. The revolutionary policy committee stated  'workers' democracy has no clear meaning unless it is definitely related to some form of working class dictatorship. We must affirm the essentially democratic nature of the proletarian dictatorship.'

"There can be no course precluding the possibility of the working class seizing power and establishing the dictatorship. Once the dictatorship is established and the Soviet state begins to function, it is preposterous to speak of the continuance of a multi-party system. To maintain that every sphere of Soviet life is crushed by the so-called bureaucratic regime is to blind oneself to the tremendous creative and controlling forces throughout Soviet Russia."

Newlyweds at Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Claude J. Markle attend a wedding reception at Roseland following their marriage in St. Joseph's Church.

Mary Ellen Thurin, Claude J. Markle Have Church Wedding

Miss Mary Ellen Thurin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Thurin, 16 Prospect street, was married to Claude James Markle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Markle, Sr., of 302 Washington avenue, on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 28, in St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. James V. Keating officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 100 guests was held at Roseland.

Traditional wedding music was played by the church organist, Mrs. Frank Rafferty. The soloist, Robert Cahill, sang the Ave Maria, Mother At Thy Feet, and On This Day, O Beautiful Mother.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace, styled with a basque bodice, and a nylon accordion plaited skirt, over white bridal satin. Her triple-tiered chapel length veil was attached to a bridal cap of matching lace and seed pearls. She carried a prayer book with white satin streamers, pompons and ferns.

Mrs. Bernard Jones as the honor attendant, wore a gown of moss green satin and nylon net, fashioned with a fitted bodice, plaited ballerina length skirt and Spencer jacket; a small bandeau of matching flowers and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow pompons.

The bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen Klarick and Mrs. Richard Van Bramer, sister of the bridegroom. They were attired in identical honey colored gowns, fashioned like the honor attendant's. Bandeaux of matching leaves and cascade bouquets of bronze and rust pompons, completed the ensembles.

William Markle was best man for his brother. The ushers were Bernard Jones and Joseph Hartman, Jr., a brother-in-law of the bride.

The couple left for a trip. They will live at 55 Garden street. For traveling, the bride wore a navy blue faille suit with blue and white accessories.

Mrs. Markle was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '49 and is employed at C. A. Baltz and Sons.

Mr. Markle served with the U. S. Navy during Warld War 2, and is employed at Electrol Incorporated.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

THE SILVER CHALICE
By THOMAS B. COSTAIN

Against a background of barbaric splendor of the Roman Empire at the time of the early Christian Era, the author paints a brilliant word picture of the trials, dangers and triumphs of a devoted band of followers of the Saviour, and the persecutions endured in their efforts to protect the Sacred Cup used at the Last Supper.

Shortly after the crucifixion, the cup was given to Joseph of Arimathaea and he kept it hidden in his palatial home in Jerusalem, tellling none about it. Joseph has a lovely young granddaughter, Deborra, who has told the apostle, Luke, who frequently comes to see Joseph that she would like to have a model of her grandfather's head made in silver, since he is now old and ill and may not be with her much longer.

During a visit to Antioch, Luke hears of a talented young artist, Basil, a slave owned by a silversmith there and manages to secure his release and bring him to Jerusalem. Basil was born free, adopted by Ignatius, a very wealthy trader in Antioch and then upon the sudden death of Ignatius" brother of Linus and by him sold into slavery.

In Jerusalem he was welcomed into the home of Joseph of Arimathaea, wealthy patron of the Christian church, and immediately modeled a bust of Joseph in clay. So greatly did this please Joseph and his granddaughter that he was entrusted with the secret of the hiding place of the sacred Cup, and commissioned to make for it a fitting chalice.

Then begins a series of dramatic events and much travel for Basil as he sought out the apostles whom he has chosen to model for the chalice. Luke and Mark are near at hand. John, Peter and Paul as the most outstanding proponents of Christianity were both hated and feared by the Roman zealots and so were often forced to go into hiding. However with the help of Christian friends he was able to find them after a long, tortuous trip by camel train to Rome. He modeled John by flickering torchlight as he preached to a group of his followers; Peter when humbly scrubbing floors at a lowly inn in Rome and Peter in prison.

For a time in Rome Basil was favored by Nero and ordered to the model Emperor's head. He was clothed in fine raiment and made a welcome guest at the unbelievably extravagant banquets which were daily fare for the Emperor and his court. A description of one of these feasts gives a clear picture of the decadence which was finally to doom the Empire. The first course consisted of such delicacies as many varieties of sea food, encircled with damson plums and sprinkled with cummin and benzoin root; sausages made with eggs and breast of pheasant; eggs made of paste and colored blue with the yolks in which nested a fine fat little ortolan roasted to a turn; grasshoppers fried to a light golden brown and sweetened with honey; lettuce and large black olives; pomgranates cut open and garnished with rosebuds. That was only the first course, served with military precision by slaves bearing the food on heavy trays carried high above their heads and preceded by musicians and dancers, playing and capering before them.

This was followed by wild boars head, capons, ducks, wild game, pigs roasted whole. Quarters of stag, beef, etc., deposited upon the Emperor's 40-foot table, covered with cloth of gold and embellished with countless flowers. And much fine old wine in profusion. A scene of brilliance and beauty—and of grossness and debauchery.

Basil was at once astounded and disgusted by these orgies and when the Emperor ordered a beautiful little dancer to be tortured to death because she was brave enough to acknowledge that she was a Christian; Basil shouted his disapproval and only escaped a similar fate by being carried out in the beautiful pastry cart which had brought the dancer in.

The chalice is finally finished and although heavily guarded while being shown to a favored few, it proves to be much too precious and too desirable to be held long by the small, weak group of the faithful, and one night it is stolen. However in a prophetic vision Luke is assured that no forces of evil can keep it permanently, and moreover he foresees that although the cup will be returned, and again taken away, it will always come back to restore faith and hope to the world just when it is most needed.

There is much more about the life and times of the Jews, Samaritans and the Romans and about the ancient cities of Antioch, Jerusalem and Rome and the country surrounding them. Though it all runs the threat of the ambitious siren, Helena, a beautiful slave, to the otherwise perfect romance of Deborra and Basil. Giving an element of suspense up to the very end of the book.

Traffic Club Meeting

The Mid-Hudson Traffic Club will hold its October dinner meeting Oct. 8 at 7 p. m., in the Newburgh Hotel. P. J. Coughlin, vice-president of the National Carloading Corp., New York, will be the guest speaker on the subject The Place of the Freight Forwarder in Our National Transportation Picture.

As Pegler Sees It

binsky and took evasive action.

In the issue of the revolutionary Socialist Review which I have mentioned, Brown had an article entitled: "A program of militant centrism."

The intentions of this political agent of the Dubinsky Socialist empire movement in Europe are stated in these excerpts:

"It must be the task of revolutionary Socialists to smash the Bourgeois set-up (not merely get control of state machinery and use it for establishing socialism)."

Brown said it must be the task of his group to "substitute the workers' state through its Soviets which develop in the struggle for power."

He called attention, with approval, to the "appeal" of the revolutionary policy committee, wherein it said: "Workers' councils, organized in direct response to a growing revolutionary situation, shall constitute the basic units by which the working class can carry through an armed insurrection. These councils constitute the basic revolutionary idea of the state as opposed to Bourgeois, Democratic Parliament."

In a jibe at the Norman Thomas Socialists, who were known as the "Militants," a misnomer because they were a watery lot, Brown wrote: "We should like to call attention to the following from the Communist manifesto: 'Of all the classes that stand face-to-face with the bourgeoisie, the proletariat, alone, is a really revolutionary class.' This has always been the ABC of Marxian socialism. The constant attempt to avoid that awful pharsing but in a basic change of ship—results not merely in a rephrasing but in a basic chance of idea. The revolutionary policy committee stated  'workers' democracy has no clear meaning unless it is definitely related to some form of working class dictatorship. We must affirm the essentially democratic nature of the proletarian dictatorship.'

"There can be no course precluding the possibility of the working class seizing power and establishing the dictatorship. Once the dictatorship is established and the Soviet state begins to function, it is preposterous to speak of the continuance of a multi-party system. To maintain that every sphere of Soviet life is crushed by the so-called bureaucratic regime is to blind oneself to the tremendous creative and controlling forces throughout Soviet Russia."

The blurp introducing Brown said he was an instructor in "workers' education classes of the ILGWU," the Dubinsky union.

"This past summer," the Revolutionary Socialist Review said, "Henson had extensive contacts with the Socialist movement in Europe."

The Reader's Digest has given no intimation of the true political purpose of the Dubinsky machine in many foreign lands where it operates with the active connivance of the Truman State Department.

Erskine's Pitching, Duke's Bat...Furillo, Pafko too Much for Yankees

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—The official World Series program says on page 25, speaking of Duke Snider, that "if he gets hot, he can break this Series wide open." They can write that again.

The Duke became torrid yesterday, along with a pair of his outfielding mates, Carl Furillo and Andy Pafko, and if the Series isn't broken it's at least severely bent. The Dodgers needed only one more victory as they faced the Yankees in their own little Ebbets Field today, and they were moving with great momentum after yesterday's 6-5, 11-inning thriller.

Billy Loes was Manager Charlie Dressen's nominee to try to wrap it up, and the youngster had been told very firmly that he was to rear back and fire the ball instead of trying to out-think the Yank batters, as he did in a disastrous relief stint during the second game. Billy promised.

The Dodgers' chances of winning their first world championship in six games probably depended almost entirely upon whether Big Vic Raschi would be in something less than the brilliant form he was last Thursday, when he gave them a rare hiding.

Two Great Catches

The job the Dodgers turned in on a couple of second-line bomber throwers, Ewell Blackwell and Johnny Sain, yesterday was a beaut. Snider won it with his three timely blasts—home run, double, single—and Furillo and Pafko saved it for game Carl Erskine with two as magnificent catches as will be seen in any World Series.

That was all Casey Stengel could talk about—the two catches, that is—as he sat in the deathly quiet of the Yankee dressing rooms. Well, he did have a few well chosen words to say about the call that Umpire Art Passarella made on Sain's grounder to start the 10th inning, but mostly he talked about Pafko and Furillo going up in the stands and practically mingling with the crowd in right field to rob his team of two home runs.

"You saw it," said the Yankee manager. "There's nothing I need to tell you. That fellow (Erskine) doesn't get that kind of fielding behind him, we win it. Never saw two better catches anywhere. That fellow got better as he went along, but if he didn't get that kind of fielding we beat him."

Retires 19 in Row

Which was absolutely true. Erskine didn't permit another Yank hit after Old Jawn Mize unloaded his three-run homer to put the Bombers out in front 5-4 in the fifth. In fact, he retired the last 19 Yank batters in succession, but he could have been badly bruised with anything less than the magnificent support he received.

Some thought that Pafko made the greater catch when he leaped to make a one-handed stab of Gene Woodling's long belt in the second inning. Others thought Furillo's robbery of Mize for the second out in the 11th won the prize.

To a man, the Dodgers conceded that they were dying while Mize's 11th inning blast sailed out there. They thought it was going in, sure.

Terrific Game

It was a brawling game in which so many things happened. First there was Snider bringing the great crowd of 70,536 to its feet, and then Mize, only a few minutes later, rendering them virtually delirious with his mighty three-run slam into the chairs. Again there was Snider tying it up at 5-5 with a line single in the seventh, and finally the Duke winning it with his double in the 11th.

It would be easy to overlook Erskine's remarkable performance. The box score says that the Yankees made five hits, but you should have seen them. The first one, by Mickey Mantle to lead off the fourth, was a drag bunt. The next three, which put the Yanks back in business in the fifth, were mangy singles through the Brook infield. The only one worthy of the name was Mize's homer.

Sain's hopper past the mound to lead off the 10th was a difficult ball to handle, and without much doubt, Sain was across the bag when first baseman Hodges caught Jackie Robinson's throw. Passarella apparently was "black out" on the play. When, after some hesitation, he called Sain out, his ears were badly singed by Coach Bill Dickey and other interested Yankees.

The American Leaguers argued long and loud last night that, but for the bad call, they would have scored in the inning and won the contest.

High School Turns Back Poughkeepsie in DUSO League Thriller, 20-19

Two Quick Touchdowns Gives Maroon Early Jump in Spectacular Contest

Kingston High racked up two fast touchdowns in the first eight minutes of play and then held off a menacing challenge by Poughkeepsie High to defeat the Blues, 20-19, in a Saturday schoolboy thriller at municipal stadium.

In the final analysis it was Gene Massa's toe that made the difference. The Maroon halfback converted two out of three placement attempts while Poughkeepsie cashed in only one in three tries.

The first DUSO victory for Kingston emerged from a spectacular battle in which swiftly-changing fortunes and bewildering action enthralled not only the paying fans but a host of DUSO League scouts.

In the "lost touchdown" department, Poughkeepsie led 2 to 1, but the Maroons were resourceful and resolute under pressure and had it in the clutch on the extra points.

Billings Scores Twice

Quarterback Roger Billings rammed over twice from inside the one-yard line for two Kingston scores. Bob Kozlowski was on the scoring end of a 27-yard pass from Gene Massa that evolved under harrowing circumstances to account for another Kingston TD.

On the first Kingston score, a pitchout from quarterback Billings went to the little man who wasn't there. The ball was rolling loose on the ground when Massa raced back from the tailback, picked it up and fired downfield to Kozlowski who made a beautiful catch and equally brilliant dash to the corner for the TD.

Early in the first period Orville Giles broke away for a 55-yard romp from the Kingston 45 and crossed the goal line standing up but the beautiful run (his second in two games) was nullified by a clipping penalty on the Poughkeepsie 35. Undaunted the Maroon picked up steam and travelled to the goal line for its first touchdown in four plays.

Leo Elwell, Poughkeepsie's senior halfback and slippery climax runner, was as dangerous as the advance clippings. He raced 90 yards with an intercepted pass for the first Blue TD and later scored on a reverse play from the 7-yard stripe.

Elwell demonstrated spectacular form on the long run. Three Kingston men appeared to have him boxed in on the side lines but some how he managed to elude them and did a tight rope down the sideline right in front of the wildly-cheering Poughkeepsie bench.

Long Gainer

Poughkeepsie's third touchdown resulted from a beautifully executed reverse-lateral play which Coach Sam Kalloch still keeps in the Poughkeepsie repertoire. The play started as a lateral from quarterback Ronnie Bub to end Don Dahouski. The latter flipped a lateral to Bob Johnson (brother of the famed "Eggie" Johnson) and the burley Negro back scampered 58-yards down the sidelines to make the score 20-19.

Lining up for the crucial extra point play, the ball went to Elwell, who had exercised several options on two previous attempts. This time Bob Hooper, the Kingston end crashed through to spin Elwell an his pants and end the final threat.

The Blues were down on the Kingston 20 when the contest ended with Pat Manfro intercepting a last-second desperation heave inside the 10.

Both Poughkeepsie heartbreaks occurred in the first half. The first saw Dahouski drop a touchdown pass in the end zone without a Kingston player near him. Later Dom Pacio, the Little Bull, bolted through the Kingston line from the 5. He was in the clear in the end zone with a sure TD when the ball squirted out of his hands and Kozlowski pounced on it for a touchback.

Fumble Pays Off

A fumble recovery by Bob Scott, a Kingston reserve, set up the winning sequence for Coach Bill Burke's charges. Scott pounced on the ball on the Poughkeepsie 13. Two shots at the line by Pat Manfro and a 5-yard burst by Massa off tackle set the ball on the half-yard stripe from whence Billings sneaked over for his second score of the game.

Poughkeepsie relied heavily on a series of forward pass plays that were patterned out of single or double reverses. Statistically there wasn't much difference on the ground. The Blues had 13 first downs to Kingston's 12 but the Maroons outgained them 196 yards to 192.

The Blues attempted 21 passes and completed eight for 135 yards. Kingston's only completion in five attempts was the 27-yard TD pass from Massa to Kozlowski.

Doser-Chapman Win

Osterville, Mass., Oct. 6 (AP)—The combination of professional Clarence Doser of Scarsdale, N. Y., and former National Amateur king Dick Chapman of the host Oyster Harbors Club topped a 40-team field in the fifth annual Cape Cod Indian Summer golf tournament. The stocky swinger from New York teamed with Chapman for a best ball of 68—four under par — in yesterday's concluding round of the four-day event.

Satterfield Choice

Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—Bob Satterfield meets Harold Johnson for the second time tonight when the two light heavyweights engage in a ten-rounder at the Arena. Johnson, a Philadelphian, is favored over his Chicago opponent, to whom he lost a close decision in their first contest.

Vern Benson, who has been playing some third base for the St. Louis Cardinals, broke into the majors with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1943.

HOME-COMING

Big Jawn Mize comes home after his fifth-inning homer which scored McDougald and Rizzuto ahead of him to lead the Dodgers 5-4. Mize's third homer of the 1952 World Series, however, was lost in the Brooklyn victory of the fifth game, 6-5. (NEA Telephoto)

Penn Challenge To Tiger Streak

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Princeton's 24-game winning streak faces its most serious challenge Saturday when the Tigers play host to Penn.

Not only is this one important from the point of view of maintaining the skein, but it also could be the most important game on the Ivy League schedule. The teams started hostilities as co-favorites for the championship.

Princeton has two victories to show for the season's work, a 14-0 triumph over Columbia and a 61-19 shellacking of Rutgers. Neither of these teams was regarded as particularly strong.

Penn played a 7-7 tie with tough Notre Dame, but narrowly squeaked by Dartmouth, 7-0.

Coach Charlie Caldwell of Princeton tried out his entire team against neighboring Rutgers and looked over Dick Frye, Bob Tryon and Bob Unger as they directed his single wing attack. All were impressive.

Penn scored its only goal against Dartmouth on a 57-yard pass from Walt Hynoski to Bill Deuber.

Columbia beat Harvard, 16-7, as Mitch Price threw for one touchdown and scored another; Navy thrashed Cornell, 31-7, and Yale clouted Brown, 27-0, on Ed Molloy's passing.

Photos Back Yankee Squawk on Call in Tenth Inning, But Dressen Quips "Somebody Painted the Ball In . ."

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—A picture sequence of yesterday's World Series game appeared today to show that American League umpire Art Passarella made a wrong call—and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick admitted it.

Passarella called New York Yankee pitcher Johnny Sain out at first base in the tenth inning. The pictures, taken by Associated Press photographer John Lindsay, showed Sain's foot on the bag and the ball not yet in first baseman Gil Hodges' mitt.

"According to the picture, it looks like Passarella called a wrong play," Frick said.

"If he did, he's only human. I assure you it's not the first wrong call ever made by an umpire, if it was that. What's all the shouting about? Players make mistakes, too. So do officials. So does the Commissioner. A player makes an error, another forgets to cover a base, a pitcher makes a wild pitch, a catcher lets a ball get away from him. Very little is said.

"But once an umpire makes a wrong call, he is crucified. Why? An umpire is only human. He can make mistakes, too. All I'm interested in is whether he was in the right position to make the call. The picture shows he was."

LEAPIN' DODGER

Ump Adamant

Passarella said he didn't blame the editors for showing the picture.

"It's a good one," he said. "But pictures don't always tell the true story. I was on top of the play and called it as I saw it. In my judgment, the runner, whoever he was, was out. That's the way I called it, and I'll stick to it."

Sain was leading off the 10th when the disputed play occurred. If he had been called safe, it would have put a runner on first with none out.

In that case, it would seem likely that the Yanks would have had the next batter, Gil McDougald, try to sacrifice Sain to second, where a well-placed single could score him.

But, Sain was called out—and McDougald and the next hitter, Phil Rizzuto, were retired.

Yankee officials, seeing the picture for the first time, reacted strongly. They said it only bore out what they thought they had seen on the field—that Sain was safe. The Yankees, led by Sain and first base coach Bill Dickey, had staged a bitter protest over the decision.

Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, took one look and quipped:

"At least it shows that Sain touched the bag."

Chuck Dressen, Brooklyn manager, pointed to the ball, shown suspended in the air several feet from Hodges' glove, and remarked:

"Sure that's the ball?" he asked. "Sure somebody didn't paint it into the picture? How do you know Hodges doesn't have the ball in his glove?"

Coast Football Starts Comeback; Wisconsin May Be in Big Ten

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Things may be different next January 1, but right now Pacific Coast football partisans are very happy, thank you, about gridiron contests with the Big 10.

Stanford's thrilling 14-7 victory over Michigan—with millions of viewers watching the nationwide telecast—and California's 49-13 trampling of Minnesota Saturday made it four straight for coast teams over the big bad Big 10 boys. If that sort of thing keeps up, one of the far west powers may snap the midwest winning streak in the Rose Bowl at six games.

Bob Mathias, Stanford's two-time Olympic Decathlon champion, got his name in the headlines again as he bulled over for the winning touchdown from the one-yard line. Big man for California, ranked fourth in the country in last week's Associated Press poll, was halfback Don Johnson with four touchdowns, one of them an 84-yard dash.

It looks now as though there'll be a horse stamping around among the roses in the January 1 classic, which should cause as much commotion as a herd of cows in a cornfield. The horse, of course, would be Alan Ameche, Wisconsin's hard-running fullback who stomped all over Illinois in the Badgers' 20-6 victory Saturday. Now They're saying the Wisconsin team will sweep through the rest of their Big 10 schedule if they can get by Ohio State this week without a letdown.

The Badgers, eighth in the last AP poll, should jump much higher after downing the second-ranked Illini.

Spartans Eke Win

They could vault all the way to the top spot held by Michigan State, which was thankful to escape with a 17-14 victory over Oregon State. For the third straight year, the Oregon State made it rough for Michigan State, but the Spartans won it on a field goal by Eugene Lekenta with two seconds to play. He missed his first three-point try, but Oregon State was offside, so he got another chance.

Look for a movement by Texas lawmakers to ban intersectional football games. After four defeats in five games Saturday, the Southwest Conference lads are down to their last few oil wells.

Notre Dame, looking like the Frank Leahy powerhouses of old, led the invasion of the Lone Star State with a second-half surge that buried Texas, No. 5 in the poll, by 14-3 in an afternoon game.

The roof fell in at night, however, when sixth-rated Georgia Tech trounced Southern Methodist, 20-7; Kentucky edged Texas A & M, 10-7; and Louisiana State made its first victory of the season a 27-7 pasting of Rice. Baylor averted a shutout by whipping Washington State, 31-7.

Tigers Roll On

Princeton, preparing for its key Ivy League clash with Penn next Saturday, made Rutgers wish the two schools hadn't started college football back in 1869. The Tigers rolled to a 61-19 victory, their 24th in a row, while Penn had to struggle to down Dartmouth, 7-0, on a 56-yard pass from Walt Hynoski to Bill Deuber.

Southern California, which hopes to dispute the Pacific Coast title with California and Stanford, solidified its eighth-place poll ranking with a 22-0 victory over game but outgunned Army, while Kansas, No. 9, whipped Colorado, 21-12. The Kansas have their big one with Oklahoma Oct. 18, but Nebraska, a 16-0 victor over Iowa State, is also in the Big 7 fight.

If Wisconsin does falter in the Big 10 race, Purdue will be right on their heels. The Boilermakers made a recovered fumble, blocked kick and intercepted pass pay off for a 21-14 victory over Ohio State, stretching their string of conference victories to four.

TRAILSWEEPERS SKI CLUB STAGES OPEN HOUSE

Getting an early start for an anticipated banner season (didn't the Bear Mountain man say this would be a rugged winter?) the Trailsweepers Ski Club held an open house this week at Laughton Park. Prominent area ski-personalities who attended were: Seated, left to right: Ralph Yerry, Shandaken; Lili Draper, Belleayre; Noami Van Steenburgh, Kingston, vice-president of the Trailsweepers Club; Mrs. Blanche Davenport, and Francis Davenport, both of Highmount Ski Center. Standing in usual order: Cal Cantrell, Belleayre ski instructor; Abe Molyneaux, president of the Trailsweepers; Wally Keller, Newburgh Ski Club, and Jim Andrews, Belleayre instructor. Erskine's Pitching, Duke's Bat...Furillo, Pafko too Much for Yankees

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—The official World Series program says on page 25, speaking of Duke Snider, that "if he gets hot, he can break this Series wide open." They can write that again.

The Duke became torrid yesterday, along with a pair of his outfielding mates, Carl Furillo and Andy Pafko, and if the Series isn't broken it's at least severely bent. The Dodgers needed only one more victory as they faced the Yankees in their own little Ebbets Field today, and they were moving with great momentum after yesterday's 6-5, 11-inning thriller.

Billy Loes was Manager Charlie Dressen's nominee to try to wrap it up, and the youngster had been told very firmly that he was to rear back and fire the ball instead of trying to out-think the Yank batters, as he did in a disastrous relief stint during the second game. Billy promised.

The Dodgers' chances of winning their first world championship in six games probably depended almost entirely upon whether Big Vic Raschi would be in something less than the brilliant form he was last Thursday, when he gave them a rare hiding.

Two Great Catches

The job the Dodgers turned in on a couple of second-line bomber throwers, Ewell Blackwell and Johnny Sain, yesterday was a beaut. Snider won it with his three timely blasts—home run, double, single—and Furillo and Pafko saved it for game Carl Erskine with two as magnificent catches as will be seen in any World Series.

That was all Casey Stengel could talk about—the two catches, that is—as he sat in the deathly quiet of the Yankee dressing rooms. Well, he did have a few well chosen words to say about the call that Umpire Art Passarella made on Sain's grounder to start the 10th inning, but mostly he talked about Pafko and Furillo going up in the stands and practically mingling with the crowd in right field to rob his team of two home runs.

"You saw it," said the Yankee manager. "There's nothing I need to tell you. That fellow (Erskine) doesn't get that kind of fielding behind him, we win it. Never saw two better catches anywhere. That fellow got better as he went along, but if he didn't get that kind of fielding we beat him."

Retires 19 in Row

Which was absolutely true. Erskine didn't permit another Yank hit after Old Jawn Mize unloaded his three-run homer to put the Bombers out in front 5-4 in the fifth. In fact, he retired the last 19 Yank batters in succession, but he could have been badly bruised with anything less than the magnificent support he received.

Some thought that Pafko made the greater catch when he leaped to make a one-handed stab of Gene Woodling's long belt in the second inning. Others thought Furillo's robbery of Mize for the second out in the 11th won the prize.

To a man, the Dodgers conceded that they were dying while Mize's 11th inning blast sailed out there. They thought it was going in, sure.

Terrific Game

It was a brawling game in which so many things happened. First there was Snider bringing the great crowd of 70,536 to its feet, and then Mize, only a few minutes later, rendering them virtually delirious with his mighty three-run slam into the chairs. Again there was Snider tying it up at 5-5 with a line single in the seventh, and finally the Duke winning it with his double in the 11th.

It would be easy to overlook Erskine's remarkable performance. The box score says that the Yankees made five hits, but you should have seen them. The first one, by Mickey Mantle to lead off the fourth, was a drag bunt. The next three, which put the Yanks back in business in the fifth, were mangy singles through the Brook infield. The only one worthy of the name was Mize's homer.

Sain's hopper past the mound to lead off the 10th was a difficult ball to handle, and without much doubt, Sain was across the bag when first baseman Hodges caught Jackie Robinson's throw. Passarella apparently was "black out" on the play. When, after some hesitation, he called Sain out, his ears were badly singed by Coach Bill Dickey and other interested Yankees.

The American Leaguers argued long and loud last night that, but for the bad call, they would have scored in the inning and won the contest.

High School Turns Back Poughkeepsie in DUSO League Thriller, 20-19

Two Quick Touchdowns Gives Maroon Early Jump in Spectacular Contest

Kingston High racked up two fast touchdowns in the first eight minutes of play and then held off a menacing challenge by Poughkeepsie High to defeat the Blues, 20-19, in a Saturday schoolboy thriller at municipal stadium.

In the final analysis it was Gene Massa's toe that made the difference. The Maroon halfback converted two out of three placement attempts while Poughkeepsie cashed in only one in three tries.

The first DUSO victory for Kingston emerged from a spectacular battle in which swiftly-changing fortunes and bewildering action enthralled not only the paying fans but a host of DUSO League scouts.

In the "lost touchdown" department, Poughkeepsie led 2 to 1, but the Maroons were resourceful and resolute under pressure and had it in the clutch on the extra points.

Billings Scores Twice

Quarterback Roger Billings rammed over twice from inside the one-yard line for two Kingston scores. Bob Kozlowski was on the scoring end of a 27-yard pass from Gene Massa that evolved under harrowing circumstances to account for another Kingston TD.

On the first Kingston score, a pitchout from quarterback Billings went to the little man who wasn't there. The ball was rolling loose on the ground when Massa raced back from the tailback, picked it up and fired downfield to Kozlowski who made a beautiful catch and equally brilliant dash to the corner for the TD.

Early in the first period Orville Giles broke away for a 55-yard romp from the Kingston 45 and crossed the goal line standing up but the beautiful run (his second in two games) was nullified by a clipping penalty on the Poughkeepsie 35. Undaunted the Maroon picked up steam and travelled to the goal line for its first touchdown in four plays.

Leo Elwell, Poughkeepsie's senior halfback and slippery climax runner, was as dangerous as the advance clippings. He raced 90 yards with an intercepted pass for the first Blue TD and later scored on a reverse play from the 7-yard stripe.

Elwell demonstrated spectacular form on the long run. Three Kingston men appeared to have him boxed in on the side lines but some how he managed to elude them and did a tight rope down the sideline right in front of the wildly-cheering Poughkeepsie bench.

Long Gainer

Poughkeepsie's third touchdown resulted from a beautifully executed reverse-lateral play which Coach Sam Kalloch still keeps in the Poughkeepsie repertoire. The play started as a lateral from quarterback Ronnie Bub to end Don Dahouski. The latter flipped a lateral to Bob Johnson (brother of the famed "Eggie" Johnson) and the burley Negro back scampered 58-yards down the sidelines to make the score 20-19.

Lining up for the crucial extra point play, the ball went to Elwell, who had exercised several options on two previous attempts. This time Bob Hooper, the Kingston end crashed through to spin Elwell an his pants and end the final threat.

The Blues were down on the Kingston 20 when the contest ended with Pat Manfro intercepting a last-second desperation heave inside the 10.

Both Poughkeepsie heartbreaks occurred in the first half. The first saw Dahouski drop a touchdown pass in the end zone without a Kingston player near him. Later Dom Pacio, the Little Bull, bolted through the Kingston line from the 5. He was in the clear in the end zone with a sure TD when the ball squirted out of his hands and Kozlowski pounced on it for a touchback.

Fumble Pays Off

A fumble recovery by Bob Scott, a Kingston reserve, set up the winning sequence for Coach Bill Burke's charges. Scott pounced on the ball on the Poughkeepsie 13. Two shots at the line by Pat Manfro and a 5-yard burst by Massa off tackle set the ball on the half-yard stripe from whence Billings sneaked over for his second score of the game.

Poughkeepsie relied heavily on a series of forward pass plays that were patterned out of single or double reverses. Statistically there wasn't much difference on the ground. The Blues had 13 first downs to Kingston's 12 but the Maroons outgained them 196 yards to 192.

The Blues attempted 21 passes and completed eight for 135 yards. Kingston's only completion in five attempts was the 27-yard TD pass from Massa to Kozlowski.

Newburgh Routs Raiders, 26-6

Mighty Newburgh Academy continued to run wild Friday, crushing Mont Pleasant of Schenectady, 26-6, on the upstate gridiron. It was one of the worst defeats ever suffered by Mont Pleasant on its home field.

Meanwhile, Port Jervis trounced Oyster Bay, 30-0. A week earlier NFA had overwhelmed the Oyster Bay eleven, 65-0.

Doser-Chapman Win

Osterville, Mass., Oct. 6 (AP)—The combination of professional Clarence Doser of Scarsdale, N. Y., and former National Amateur king Dick Chapman of the host Oyster Harbors Club topped a 40-team field in the fifth annual Cape Cod Indian Summer golf tournament. The stocky swinger from New York teamed with Chapman for a best ball of 68—four under par — in yesterday's concluding round of the four-day event.

Satterfield Choice

Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—Bob Satterfield meets Harold Johnson for the second time tonight when the two light heavyweights engage in a ten-rounder at the Arena. Johnson, a Philadelphian, is favored over his Chicago opponent, to whom he lost a close decision in their first contest.

Vern Benson, who has been playing some third base for the St. Louis Cardinals, broke into the majors with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1943.

HOME-COMING

Big Jawn Mize comes home after his fifth-inning homer which scored McDougald and Rizzuto ahead of him to lead the Dodgers 5-4. Mize's third homer of the 1952 World Series, however, was lost in the Brooklyn victory of the fifth game, 6-5. (NEA Telephoto)

When a Soldier Needs a Friend

Somewhere in Korea, Oct. 6 (AP)—It was the last of the 11th inning. The Yanks trailed, 6-5. Yogi Berra was up with the count of two and two.

American soldiers lucky enough to be near a radio Sunday huddled closer. The wind-up, the pitch . . . then—

Penn Challenge To Tiger Streak

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Princeton's 24-game winning streak faces its most serious challenge Saturday when the Tigers play host to Penn.

Not only is this one important from the point of view of maintaining the skein, but it also could be the most important game on the Ivy League schedule. The teams started hostilities as co-favorites for the championship.

Princeton has two victories to show for the season's work, a 14-0 triumph over Columbia and a 61-19 shellacking of Rutgers. Neither of these teams was regarded as particularly strong.

Penn played a 7-7 tie with tough Notre Dame, but narrowly squeaked by Dartmouth, 7-0.

Penn scored its only goal against Dartmouth on a 57-yard pass from Walt Hynoski to Bill Deuber.

Columbia beat Harvard, 16-7, as Mitch Price threw for one touchdown and scored another; Navy thrashed Cornell, 31-7, and Yale clouted Brown, 27-0, on Ed Molloy's passing.

Photos Back Yankee Squawk on Call in Tenth Inning, But Dressen Quips "Somebody Painted the Ball In . ."

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—A picture sequence of yesterday's World Series game appeared today to show that American League umpire Art Passarella made a wrong call—and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick admitted it.

Passarella called New York Yankee pitcher Johnny Sain out at first base in the tenth inning. The pictures, taken by Associated Press photographer John Lindsay, showed Sain's foot on the bag and the ball not yet in first baseman Gil Hodges' mitt.

"According to the picture, it looks like Passarella called a wrong play," Frick said.

"If he did, he's only human. I assure you it's not the first wrong call ever made by an umpire, if it was that. What's all the shouting about? Players make mistakes, too. So do officials. So does the Commissioner. A player makes an error, another forgets to cover a base, a pitcher makes a wild pitch, a catcher lets a ball get away from him. Very little is said.

"But once an umpire makes a wrong call, he is crucified. Why? An umpire is only human. He can make mistakes, too. All I'm interested in is whether he was in the right position to make the call. The picture shows he was."

LEAPIN' DODGER

Ump Adamant

Passarella said he didn't blame the editors for showing the picture.

"It's a good one," he said. "But pictures don't always tell the true story. I was on top of the play and called it as I saw it. In my judgment, the runner, whoever he was, was out. That's the way I called it, and I'll stick to it."

Sain was leading off the 10th when the disputed play occurred. If he had been called safe, it would have put a runner on first with none out.

In that case, it would seem likely that the Yanks would have had the next batter, Gil McDougald, try to sacrifice Sain to second, where a well-placed single could score him.

But, Sain was called out—and McDougald and the next hitter, Phil Rizzuto, were retired.

Yankee officials, seeing the picture for the first time, reacted strongly. They said it only bore out what they thought they had seen on the field—that Sain was safe. The Yankees, led by Sain and first base coach Bill Dickey, had staged a bitter protest over the decision.

Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, took one look and quipped:

"At least it shows that Sain touched the bag."

Chuck Dressen, Brooklyn manager, pointed to the ball, shown suspended in the air several feet from Hodges' glove, and remarked:

"Sure that's the ball?" he asked. "Sure somebody didn't paint it into the picture? How do you know Hodges doesn't have the ball in his glove?"

Coast Football Starts Comeback; Wisconsin May Be in Big Ten

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Things may be different next January 1, but right now Pacific Coast football partisans are very happy, thank you, about gridiron contests with the Big 10.

Stanford's thrilling 14-7 victory over Michigan—with millions of viewers watching the nationwide telecast—and California's 49-13 trampling of Minnesota Saturday made it four straight for coast teams over the big bad Big 10 boys. If that sort of thing keeps up, one of the far west powers may snap the midwest winning streak in the Rose Bowl at six games.

Bob Mathias, Stanford's two-time Olympic Decathlon champion, got his name in the headlines again as he bulled over for the winning touchdown from the one-yard line. Big man for California, ranked fourth in the country in last week's Associated Press poll, was halfback Don Johnson with four touchdowns, one of them an 84-yard dash.

It looks now as though there'll be a horse stamping around among the roses in the January 1 classic, which should cause as much commotion as a herd of cows in a cornfield. The horse, of course, would be Alan Ameche, Wisconsin's hard-running fullback who stomped all over Illinois in the Badgers' 20-6 victory Saturday. Now They're saying the Wisconsin team will sweep through the rest of their Big 10 schedule if they can get by Ohio State this week without a letdown.

The Badgers, eighth in the last AP poll, should jump much higher after downing the second-ranked Illini.

Spartans Eke Win

They could vault all the way to the top spot held by Michigan State, which was thankful to escape with a 17-14 victory over Oregon State. For the third straight year, the Oregon State made it rough for Michigan State, but the Spartans won it on a field goal by Eugene Lekenta with two seconds to play. He missed his first three-point try, but Oregon State was offside, so he got another chance.

Look for a movement by Texas lawmakers to ban intersectional football games. After four defeats in five games Saturday, the Southwest Conference lads are down to their last few oil wells.

Notre Dame, looking like the Frank Leahy powerhouses of old, led the invasion of the Lone Star State with a second-half surge that buried Texas, No. 5 in the poll, by 14-3 in an afternoon game.

The roof fell in at night, however, when sixth-rated Georgia Tech trounced Southern Methodist, 20-7; Kentucky edged Texas A & M, 10-7; and Louisiana State made its first victory of the season a 27-7 pasting of Rice. Baylor averted a shutout by whipping Washington State, 31-7.

Tigers Roll On

Princeton, preparing for its key Ivy League clash with Penn next Saturday, made Rutgers wish the two schools hadn't started college football back in 1869. The Tigers rolled to a 61-19 victory, their 24th in a row, while Penn had to struggle to down Dartmouth, 7-0, on a 56-yard pass from Walt Hynoski to Bill Deuber.

Southern California, which hopes to dispute the Pacific Coast title with California and Stanford, solidified its eighth-place poll ranking with a 22-0 victory over game but outgunned Army, while Kansas, No. 9, whipped Colorado, 21-12. The Kansas have their big one with Oklahoma Oct. 18, but Nebraska, a 16-0 victor over Iowa State, is also in the Big 7 fight.

If Wisconsin does falter in the Big 10 race, Purdue will be right on their heels. The Boilermakers made a recovered fumble, blocked kick and intercepted pass pay off for a 21-14 victory over Ohio State, stretching their string of conference victories to four.

Bill Holmes Beats Wheatcroft in Five Sets to Retain Tennis Title

Saugerties Ace Retires Kiwanis Club Trophy

Scores 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 3-6, 6-3 in Finals

Repelling a tremendous challenge by Irving Wheatcroft, the English-born tennis ace, Bill Holmes of Saugerties won his third Ulster county amateur tennis crown Saturday at Forsyth Park.

The 37-year-old Saugerties wizard had to call on all of his strategy and resources to turn back Wheatcroft in a blistering five-set match, 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 3-6, 6-3.

The victory gave Holmes permanent possession of the Kiwanis Club trophy which is emblematic of Ulster county amateur tennis supremacy.

When Holmes, a slight favorite, reeled off first two sets, it looked like a breeze in straight sets but Wheatcroft rallied magnificently. Stroking beautifully, he captured the third set, 6-2 and copped the fourth, 6-3, to square the match.

The fifth and crucial set was perhaps another example of the eternal battle between age and youth, although both principals are somewhat beyond their physical peaks, tennis-wise.

Wheatcroft Tires

Holmes, who had let a straight-set triumph slip from his grip in the third set, was equal to the occasion. He moved ahead quickly and beat back the last desperation challenge of a gallant opponent who had obviously run out of gas.

With his third straight singles crown nailed down, Holmes set out in quest of the double title with his son, Bruce Holmes, but here the Holmes tandem came a cropper against Nick Fowler and Ed Lacey.

The Fowler-Lacey tandem flashed brilliant form to move into the doubles finals where they meet the defending champions—Irving Wheatcroft and Joe Scott—next Sunday.

Melvin Navy and Cy Werbalowsky defeated Marty Kantrowitz and Charlie Engle, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, to qualify for a match with Fowler and Lacey and were promptly eliminated, 6-1, 6-1.

Lacey and Fowler then took on the Holmes tandem and ground out a 6-1, 6-3 triumph.

Boxer Dies

New Orleans, Oct. 6 (AP)—Middleweight fighter Jimmy (Bud) Taylor died yesterday of brain injuries after his 13th professional bout. His death was the year's first ring fatality. The 21-year-old Miami, Fla., Negro was taken to Charity Hospital Friday night following a boxing match with Charley Joseph of New Orleans.

Angels Blast Lincolns, 95-76

Lafayette "Champ" Holstein and Andy Juhl unloaded 49 points between them to spark Harry's Angels to a 95-76 conquest of the Lincoln Park Inn cagers in Saturday night's Y Autumn League action.

George Carpouzis had another big night for the Lincolns with 29 points. He hit with 11 fields and seven singletons. Teammate George Glaser rimmed 19 while Bill Tierney and George Magley shared 21.

Hooker Flips 23

George Hooker's 23 points failed to save the Central Lunch from a 58-47 trouncing by the veteran Newkirk Aces. Bob Kozlowski (18) and Ronnie Crispino (11) did the heavy damage for Newkirks.

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

When the New York State Women's Bowling Association president, Mrs. Iolia Lasher of Albany, rhapsodized on the quality of Kingston's female bowling at the Bev Port testimonial Thursday, she was merly stating the facts.

The record books make Kingston out to be a major league woman's bowling town from the standpoint of state and national awards and superior accomplishments of its individuals.

Sue Heins and Mrs. Port gave the city a one-two punch in production of high singles among the state's keglerettes. Miss Heins' 289 topped the state during the 1950-51 season. Mrs. Port's 288 was second best last year.

Rose Schatzel's record of capturing two successive New York state all-events titles is a unique achievement in state bowling annals. To anyone who realizes what a difficult task it is to win one all-events title, to repeat is an accomplishment of major league magnitude.

With characteristic grace and passion for detail, the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association did itself proud in the Bev Port testimonial. There were honors for many, remembrance for the past presidents and officers and workers who developed the KWBA into a potent bowling factor in the area from its modest origin in 1939 or thereabouts.

Watching the parade of past presidents to the speaker's dias from Mrs. Ardis Miller to the current Mary Elizabeth Schoonmaker, your mind wandered back to the primitive era of women's bowling. It received its first impetus from the building of Homer Emerick's establishment on Albany avenue extension. Emerick, incidentally, one of the tenpin titans of the past, was in the audience.

In those early days, an average of 150 was considered major league. Among the early standouts were Evelyn Dolson, Ruth Creagh, Violet Hales, Adelaide Gilbert, Mrs. Miller and a few others. Time has changed many of the names and only Miss Dolson is still active.

Mrs. Gilbert, who retired from the New York Telephone Company this past weekend, was a southpaw keglerette and one of the early stylists of the area. Violet Hales would have developed into a 170-average kegler if she hadn't abandoned tenpins at the peak of her form and Mrs. Miller also had great potential.

Then two meteors burst forth on the bowling horizon—one a bright blonde, the other a dark dynamiter. Meaning, of course, Rose Schatzel and Evelyn Gross. Mrs. Schatzel gave little promise of a brilliant career in her first season with a straight ball. They she switched to a hook and was the first local keglerette to throw a legitimate middle alley curve. The rest is history. Mrs. Gross was an early bowling fanatic and once rolled 20 consecutive games on alleys 7 and 8 at Emerick's for a 145 average. That was quite a fantastic figure in those days when a "500" was something out of this world.

The next batch of stars included, among others, Charlotte Kandzia, Marge Jansen, Dot Flemings, Rita Markle, Betty Bailey, Chrissie Wilson, Bea Coddington and others. Many of those names also have been changed by the passing years. Reta Frederick and Dot Rawding achieved prominence in the post-war period. Elizabeth Bruck also came into prominence.

Perhaps the four finest prospects of the moment are Elizabeth Schoonmaker, who handles the toastmaster's duties with precision even when she's obviously nervous; Bev Port, Sue Heins and Adabelle Markle. All four are capable of shooting in the 170 bracket and "180" doesn't seem beyond any of them. The others we have mentioned are solid 160-plus shooters which is topflight bowling for women. Of the rookie crop, Mrs. Charles E. Burnett, Eleanor Dumenigo and Jennie Spada look like the best prospects for stardom in the near future.

All the great local keglerettes—the ones who win championships and medals—have a common characteristic. They were all catapulted to the top by sheer determination, persistence and practice, practice, practice. Sports greatness never comes easily and the Schatzels, Grosses and others worked hard at perfecting their natural talents. Others with equally great potentials fell by the wayside because they refused to devote the time necessary for greatness.

When you think of Rose Schatzel's flock of huge "600" triples, her two state titles, the WIBC Sweepstakes sectional crowns; Betty Schoonmaker's WIBC achievements, Evelyn Gross's "600s"; the big solos by Bev Port and Sue Heins (288 and 289), Dot Flemings' 279 and her 1240-plus doubles with Ada Markle, you appreciate the fact that we have major league women's bowling in Kingston.

And the young ladies coming up the tenpin ladder will note one common characteristic among our topflight distaff personalities. They never sold themselves short in the matter of practice, application and enthusiasm. Without those factors, girlies, you're only rolling for the exercise.

Famous Golf Figures Speak At Trophy Dinner

Wiltwyck Club Expects Record Attendance

Gene Sarazen of Germantown, a golf immortal who was recently voted No. 3 among the all-time greats of the PGA, and Robert Trent Jones, the nation's foremost golf architect, will address the annual Wiltwyck Golf Club Trophy Dinner tonight at Leherbs.

Arrangements for Sarazen's appearance were announced Saturday by Wiltwyck president, Arthur A. Davis, at the President's Ball.

Sarazen, who has made two other trips to Kingston in the past three years, was scheduled to confer with Davis at noon today on the proposed plans to enlarge Wiltwyck to an 18-hole golf course after the Thruway slices the present course in half.

Jones to Survey

Jones, who has built some of the nation's finest golf courses, will be here as a consultant. If Wiltwyck Golf Club goes through with plans to increase to 18 holes, Jones will do the surveying.

Despite the lateness of the announcement, President Davis expects a jam-packed house to hear Sarazen tonight.

After luncheon at noon, a survey of Wiltwyck was scheduled this afternoon, with a report being made to the membership at tonight's dinner on the feasibility of revamping the present Wiltwyck property for an 18-hole course.

Club champion, Bill Van Aken, will receive the championship trophy and presentations will be made to the various flights and to the Seniors and President's Cup winners.

Baseball

New York—Dodgers defeated Yankees, 6-5, in 11 innings to take 3-2 lead in World Series.

Rochester, N. Y.—Rochester Red Wings won the Little World Series, four games to three, by beating Kansas City, 6-4.

Milwaukee—Bucky Walters resigned as manager of the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association.

Boxing

Havana—Kid Gavilan retained his world welterweight title with a 15-round decision over Billy Graham.

Tennis

Mexico City—Seeded players led by top ranked Vic Seixas of Philadelphia advanced through second round of Pan-American tournament.

Racing

New York—One Count ($9.60) came on in the stretch to win the $75,000 added Belmont Gold Cup over Mark-Ye-Well and Crafty Admiral, covering the two miles in 3:24 1/5.

Gavilan Scores Easy Victory Over Graham

Havana, Cuba, Oct. 6—(AP)—Cuba's Kid Gavilan outboxed and outsmarted New York's Billy Graham in their second battle for the welterweight boxing championship of the world.

Gavilan last night took at least 11 of the 15 rounds, and left no doubt about the decision this time. There are still many who say Graham should have had the decision in their New York title bout Aug. 29, 1951.

But Gavilan this time was the master of the situation nearly all the way. But the Cuban was so cautious not to let his welterweight crown get away from him that it was not much of a spectacle, as a fight.

Graham himself commented that Gavilan threw him off by not leading. "As the champion, I figured he would carry the fight to me, and give the folks of his own country a real battle. But he didn't, and if I hadn't taken the fight to him, there would not have been any fight."

As for his own showing, Graham said:

"I wasn't nearly as sharp, nor as fast, as I expected to be." This was a masterpiece of understatement. At times Graham looked like a novice as he swung wildly, on a few occasions coming no closer than two feet to Gavilan.

The 15-round battle, fought in open air, under clear skies, came after their Saturday night encounter had been washed out by a tropical downpour.

Sports department officials estimated the crown at 35,000 to 40,000, but a check-up with Stadium officials showed official attendance of only 15,824. The one-day delay and threatening weather Sunday was blamed for the drop.

Originally, the length of the human foot was the basis for the foot as an English unit of measurement.

Mirons' HVBL Streak Reaches 12 Straight

This must be a different year for Miron Lumber in the Hudson Valley Bowling League.

Not only did the Kingston powerhouse extend its winning streak to 12 straight Saturday night, but they swept a series at expense of one of their ancient tormentors.

The Saugerties Recreation has been the scene of many unhappy moments for the boys in the past. But Saturday night they squeezed by the first game, 868-857, and then ground out decisive wins with 925 and 941.

The three wins gave the Lumberjacks a string of 12 straight triumphs since the start of the HVBL season. All this without a "600" series. Top man was Harold Broskie with 205-560. Capt. Charlie Manfro tossed a 558. R. McGee tossed 545 for the home keglers. The Mirons shot 2734.

Rapp's Trip Elstons

Powered by Jim Moss' 611 and Frank Grimaldi's 601, Rapp's Express keglers drew first blood in an intra-city series this season with a 2-1 decision over Elston's Sport Shop at the Bowlodrome.

Moss sandwiched a 177 with 213 and 221, while Grimaldi reeled off 169, 191 and 214. Charlie Gildersleeve, home on leave from the navy, posted 203-209-583 for the losers. Rapp's racked up a 2723 team series.

Bill Holmes Beats Wheatcroft in Five Sets to Retain Tennis Title

Saugerties Ace Retires Kiwanis Club Trophy

Scores 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 3-6, 6-3 in Finals

Repelling a tremendous challenge by Irving Wheatcroft, the English-born tennis ace, Bill Holmes of Saugerties won his third Ulster county amateur tennis crown Saturday at Forsyth Park.

The 37-year-old Saugerties wizard had to call on all of his strategy and resources to turn back Wheatcroft in a blistering five-set match, 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 3-6, 6-3.

The victory gave Holmes permanent possession of the Kiwanis Club trophy which is emblematic of Ulster county amateur tennis supremacy.

When Holmes, a slight favorite, reeled off first two sets, it looked like a breeze in straight sets but Wheatcroft rallied magnificently. Stroking beautifully, he captured the third set, 6-2 and copped the fourth, 6-3, to square the match.

The fifth and crucial set was perhaps another example of the eternal battle between age and youth, although both principals are somewhat beyond their physical peaks, tennis-wise.

Wheatcroft Tires

Holmes, who had let a straight-set triumph slip from his grip in the third set, was equal to the occasion. He moved ahead quickly and beat back the last desperation challenge of a gallant opponent who had obviously run out of gas.

With his third straight singles crown nailed down, Holmes set out in quest of the double title with his son, Bruce Holmes, but here the Holmes tandem came a cropper against Nick Fowler and Ed Lacey.

The Fowler-Lacey tandem flashed brilliant form to move into the doubles finals where they meet the defending champions—Irving Wheatcroft and Joe Scott—next Sunday.

Melvin Navy and Cy Werbalowsky defeated Marty Kantrowitz and Charlie Engle, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, to qualify for a match with Fowler and Lacey and were promptly eliminated, 6-1, 6-1.

Lacey and Fowler then took on the Holmes tandem and ground out a 6-1, 6-3 triumph.

Boxer Dies

New Orleans, Oct. 6 (AP)—Middleweight fighter Jimmy (Bud) Taylor died yesterday of brain injuries after his 13th professional bout. His death was the year's first ring fatality. The 21-year-old Miami, Fla., Negro was taken to Charity Hospital Friday night following a boxing match with Charley Joseph of New Orleans.

Angels Blast Lincolns, 95-76

Lafayette "Champ" Holstein and Andy Juhl unloaded 49 points between them to spark Harry's Angels to a 95-76 conquest of the Lincoln Park Inn cagers in Saturday night's Y Autumn League action.

George Carpouzis had another big night for the Lincolns with 29 points. He hit with 11 fields and seven singletons. Teammate George Glaser rimmed 19 while Bill Tierney and George Magley shared 21.

Hooker Flips 23

George Hooker's 23 points failed to save the Central Lunch from a 58-47 trouncing by the veteran Newkirk Aces. Bob Kozlowski (18) and Ronnie Crispino (11) did the heavy damage for Newkirks.

When the New York State Women's Bowling Association president, Mrs. Iolia Lasher of Albany, rhapsodized on the quality of Kingston's female bowling at the Bev Port testimonial Thursday, she was merly stating the facts.

The record books make Kingston out to be a major league woman's bowling town from the standpoint of state and national awards and superior accomplishments of its individuals.

Sue Heins and Mrs. Port gave the city a one-two punch in production of high singles among the state's keglerettes. Miss Heins' 289 topped the state during the 1950-51 season. Mrs. Port's 288 was second best last year.

Rose Schatzel's record of capturing two successive New York state all-events titles is a unique achievement in state bowling annals. To anyone who realizes what a difficult task it is to win one all-events title, to repeat is an accomplishment of major league magnitude.

With characteristic grace and passion for detail, the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association did itself proud in the Bev Port testimonial. There were honors for many, remembrance for the past presidents and officers and workers who developed the KWBA into a potent bowling factor in the area from its modest origin in 1939 or thereabouts.

Watching the parade of past presidents to the speaker's dias from Mrs. Ardis Miller to the current Mary Elizabeth Schoonmaker, your mind wandered back to the primitive era of women's bowling. It received its first impetus from the building of Homer Emerick's establishment on Albany avenue extension. Emerick, incidentally, one of the tenpin titans of the past, was in the audience.

In those early days, an average of 150 was considered major league. Among the early standouts were Evelyn Dolson, Ruth Creagh, Violet Hales, Adelaide Gilbert, Mrs. Miller and a few others. Time has changed many of the names and only Miss Dolson is still active.

Mrs. Gilbert, who retired from the New York Telephone Company this past weekend, was a southpaw keglerette and one of the early stylists of the area. Violet Hales would have developed into a 170-average kegler if she hadn't abandoned tenpins at the peak of her form and Mrs. Miller also had great potential.

Then two meteors burst forth on the bowling horizon—one a bright blonde, the other a dark dynamiter. Meaning, of course, Rose Schatzel and Evelyn Gross. Mrs. Schatzel gave little promise of a brilliant career in her first season with a straight ball. They she switched to a hook and was the first local keglerette to throw a legitimate middle alley curve. The rest is history. Mrs. Gross was an early bowling fanatic and once rolled 20 consecutive games on alleys 7 and 8 at Emerick's for a 145 average. That was quite a fantastic figure in those days when a "500" was something out of this world.

The next batch of stars included, among others, Charlotte Kandzia, Marge Jansen, Dot Flemings, Rita Markle, Betty Bailey, Chrissie Wilson, Bea Coddington and others. Many of those names also have been changed by the passing years. Reta Frederick and Dot Rawding achieved prominence in the post-war period. Elizabeth Bruck also came into prominence.

Perhaps the four finest prospects of the moment are Elizabeth Schoonmaker, who handles the toastmaster's duties with precision even when she's obviously nervous; Bev Port, Sue Heins and Adabelle Markle. All four are capable of shooting in the 170 bracket and "180" doesn't seem beyond any of them. The others we have mentioned are solid 160-plus shooters which is topflight bowling for women. Of the rookie crop, Mrs. Charles E. Burnett, Eleanor Dumenigo and Jennie Spada look like the best prospects for stardom in the near future.

All the great local keglerettes—the ones who win championships and medals—have a common characteristic. They were all catapulted to the top by sheer determination, persistence and practice, practice, practice. Sports greatness never comes easily and the Schatzels, Grosses and others worked hard at perfecting their natural talents. Others with equally great potentials fell by the wayside because they refused to devote the time necessary for greatness.

When you think of Rose Schatzel's flock of huge "600" triples, her two state titles, the WIBC Sweepstakes sectional crowns; Betty Schoonmaker's WIBC achievements, Evelyn Gross's "600s"; the big solos by Bev Port and Sue Heins (288 and 289), Dot Flemings' 279 and her 1240-plus doubles with Ada Markle, you appreciate the fact that we have major league women's bowling in Kingston.

And the young ladies coming up the tenpin ladder will note one common characteristic among our topflight distaff personalities. They never sold themselves short in the matter of practice, application and enthusiasm. Without those factors, girlies, you're only rolling for the exercise.

Mirons' HVBL Streak Reaches 12 Straight

This must be a different year for Miron Lumber in the Hudson Valley Bowling League.

Not only did the Kingston powerhouse extend its winning streak to 12 straight Saturday night, but they swept a series at expense of one of their ancient tormentors.

The Saugerties Recreation has been the scene of many unhappy moments for the boys in the past. But Saturday night they squeezed by the first game, 868-857, and then ground out decisive wins with 925 and 941.

The three wins gave the Lumberjacks a string of 12 straight triumphs since the start of the HVBL season. All this without a "600" series. Top man was Harold Broskie with 205-560. Capt. Charlie Manfro tossed a 558. R. McGee tossed 545 for the home keglers. The Mirons shot 2734.

Rapp's Trip Elstons

Powered by Jim Moss' 611 and Frank Grimaldi's 601, Rapp's Express keglers drew first blood in an intra-city series this season with a 2-1 decision over Elston's Sport Shop at the Bowlodrome.

Moss sandwiched a 177 with 213 and 221, while Grimaldi reeled off 169, 191 and 214. Charlie Gildersleeve, home on leave from the navy, posted 203-209-583 for the losers. Rapp's racked up a 2723 team series.

Famous Golf Figures Speak At Trophy Dinner

Wiltwyck Club Expects Record Attendance

Gene Sarazen of Germantown, a golf immortal who was recently voted No. 3 among the all-time greats of the PGA, and Robert Trent Jones, the nation's foremost golf architect, will address the annual Wiltwyck Golf Club Trophy Dinner tonight at Leherbs.

Arrangements for Sarazen's appearance were announced Saturday by Wiltwyck president, Arthur A. Davis, at the President's Ball.

Sarazen, who has made two other trips to Kingston in the past three years, was scheduled to confer with Davis at noon today on the proposed plans to enlarge Wiltwyck to an 18-hole golf course after the Thruway slices the present course in half.

Jones to Survey

Jones, who has built some of the nation's finest golf courses, will be here as a consultant. If Wiltwyck Golf Club goes through with plans to increase to 18 holes, Jones will do the surveying.

Despite the lateness of the announcement, President Davis expects a jam-packed house to hear Sarazen tonight.

After luncheon at noon, a survey of Wiltwyck was scheduled this afternoon, with a report being made to the membership at tonight's dinner on the feasibility of revamping the present Wiltwyck property for an 18-hole course.

Club champion, Bill Van Aken, will receive the championship trophy and presentations will be made to the various flights and to the Seniors and President's Cup winners.

Gavilan Scores Easy Victory Over Graham

Havana, Cuba, Oct. 6—(AP)—Cuba's Kid Gavilan outboxed and outsmarted New York's Billy Graham in their second battle for the welterweight boxing championship of the world.

Gavilan last night took at least 11 of the 15 rounds, and left no doubt about the decision this time. There are still many who say Graham should have had the decision in their New York title bout Aug. 29, 1951.

But Gavilan this time was the master of the situation nearly all the way. But the Cuban was so cautious not to let his welterweight crown get away from him that it was not much of a spectacle, as a fight.

Graham himself commented that Gavilan threw him off by not leading. "As the champion, I figured he would carry the fight to me, and give the folks of his own country a real battle. But he didn't, and if I hadn't taken the fight to him, there would not have been any fight."

As for his own showing, Graham said:

"I wasn't nearly as sharp, nor as fast, as I expected to be." This was a masterpiece of understatement. At times Graham looked like a novice as he swung wildly, on a few occasions coming no closer than two feet to Gavilan.

The 15-round battle, fought in open air, under clear skies, came after their Saturday night encounter had been washed out by a tropical downpour.

Sports department officials estimated the crown at 35,000 to 40,000, but a check-up with Stadium officials showed official attendance of only 15,824. The one-day delay and threatening weather Sunday was blamed for the drop.

Originally, the length of the human foot was the basis for the foot as an English unit of measurement.

Port Ewen Woman In Auto Accident Near Bloomington

Mrs. Edna Burr, 35, of Port Ewen was treated by Dr. Eugene Galvin of Rosendale for contusions and abrasions of her forehead following a three-vehicle crash on Route 32 at Bloomington about 8:10 p. m. Sunday, state police reported.

Troopers said Mrs. Burr was riding in an automobile driven by Raymond Burr, 39, of Port Ewen, which was involved in a collision with a coupe driven by Joseph Rectenwald, 24, of 102 Main street, Rosendale, and another automobile driven by Vincent Rainieri, 34, of Highland. The collision occurred as Rectenwald was attempting to turn left off Route 32, troopers said, while Burr was driving straight north and Rainieri was going straight south on the two-lane highway. No arrest was made.

Criticizes Lag

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Justice Department, says a House investigating group, has recovered only $300,000 of allegedly fraudulent World War 2 contracts totaling 21 million dollars. Asserting the fraud charges were referred to the department four years ago by the General Accounting Office (GAO), a House Judiciary Subcommittee said the department has "taken an excessive amount of time in moving to recover money due the United States government."

Truman Feud

imply that the drum major has made a mess of things . . . so confusion reigns among them. And now we are getting an educated accent welded on to the old Democrat demagoggery."

This was the kind of "give-'em-hell" talk that Eisenhower had never attempted before. His lieutenants were elated by the reaction from the Fargo audience.

Generally they felt the speech was one of the most effective the general has delivered—and that the reaction pointed a broad avenue of future attack.

Jersey Crash

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 6 (AP)—Nine cars and two trucks piled up one after another in a patch of heavy fog on the New Jersey Turnpike today, hospitalizing four persons. State police said the 11-vehicle chain reaction smashup occurred about 7:30 a. m. when Edward Salzano, 26, of Jersey City, hit the fog bank and slowed down. Then a truck rammed him from the rear, state police said, the truck swinging around and blocking both southbound lanes of the superhighway. Then, one after another, the other cars and the second truck loomed up in the fog, their brakes squealing, and crashed into the mess.

Cold Snap Continues

(By The Associated Press)

A cold snap that dropped Sunday temperatures far below freezing between the Great Lakes and the Rockies continued today. But it was less intense. There were no readings today to match Sunday's 21 at Green Bay, Wis.; Duluth, Minn., and Fargo, N. D., or Rapid City, S.D.'s 19. The unseasonably cool weather covered all but the Atlantic and Pacific coast states and the south. It brought rain to many areas. There were snow flurries in the Lake Superior region and in the mountains of Colorado. Early morning temperatures included Chicago 32, Detroit and St. Louis 36, Minneapolis 37, New York 60, Miami 72, Seattle 59 and Los Angeles 61.

Says He Knew About Plot

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—A friend said today he had known for months that he and the slain Dominican Republic revolutionary, Andres Requena, had a $5,000 price on their heads. Requena was ambushed and assassinated last Thursday night in the hallway of a Lower East Side tenement. Nicholas Silfa, describing himself as a friend and fellow-revolutionist, said enemies "paid an assassin $5,000 to kill Requena and myself." The slain man published a pamphlet, De Patria, that was bitterly critical of the Trujillo regime in the Dominican Republic.

New Dugout Hours

As advertised in The Freeman Saturday, the Rainbow Inn, the Bowery Dugout and the Bowery Penthouse announced a new policy of hours. Open Sundays from 1 p. m. to 12 midnight and open weekdays from 5 p. m. to 2:30 a. m., instead of 12:30 as was advertised. All are closed on Mondays.

Puerto Rico Does Share

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—Puerto Rico accounted for 138 of 301 American battle casualties in Korea identified by the Defense Department today. A new list reported totals of 25 killed, 210 wounded, 46 missing and 20 injured. Puerto Rico's share was five killed, 76 wounded, 44 missing and 13 injured.

Struggle Up Mountain

New Delhi, India, Oct. 6 (AP)—Six Swiss mountain climbers toiled up the bleak slopes of unconquered Mount Everest today for a final struggle toward the snow-covered summit, five and a half miles high. No man has ever climbed this world's tallest peak and returned to tell about it.

Plenty of Tea

London, Oct. 6 (AP)—Tea came off the ration in Britain today for the first time since July, 1940. Stores said there was no rush to buy.

Truman Train Is

mission, and no invitation is involved insofar as the national committee is concerned.

Party Couldn't Pay

Whoever happens to be president at the time gets the advantage of the secret service protection in a campaign year. No political party could raise enough that fall by law to a president.

Because they must assure his protection at all times, they send out agents in advance to go every step of the route he must travel.

How much is this service costing, in terms of salary, Pullman accommodations and per diem up to a maximum of $9 a day?

That would require a lot of treasury experts with figures on the salaries of each and every man on the White House detail, field office secret service men are brought into play.

Communications Costly

There are others, who are required to be with the president at all times, wherever he is and whatever he is doing. Like the army signal corps officers who have an elaborate communications system of radio telephone and radio teletype which keeps the president of the United States in touch with the White House and all world capitals at all times.

How much do their salaries and expenses amount to? That would require a first-hand statement from each just as it would in the case of the secret service men.

Always Official Business

Truman aides point out that Truman didn't request the secret service to come along on the trip, that the army signal corps men have to be available at all times, and that no matter how deeply the president involves himself in politics, there is always official business to be transacted when he is on the road.

As for the salaries of the president and his staff during the period they are away on political missions, these aides point out that the salaries of campaigning governors, senators, and representatives go on during campaigns, as do those of their secretaries, clerks and other aides.

They ask, "Would you deduct two weeks of the president's salary under the circumstances?"

Cashmore on Tour

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—John Cashmore, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, today launched a four-day auto tour of 13 upstate cities. His wife went with him. A luncheon at Newburgh was his first scheduled speech. On Thursday, Cashmore joins President Truman for a New York state whistle-stop swing.

Nixon in Connecticut

Po'keepsie Man Fined $50 After Downtown Mishap

Three persons were injured last night in a three-car collision at Broadway and Brewster street, following which, one driver was arrested on a reckless driving charge.

Gertrude Buboltz, 36, of 136 Third avenue, suffered a fractured nose; Peggy Bujak, 43, of 18 Second avenue, suffered a head injury, and Helen Forman, 44, of Lake Katrine, suffered lacerations of the scalp, contusions of the chest and abrasions of the right knee.

They were taken to Kingston Hospital by ambulance and each was reported in "apparently good" condition today.

Fined as Reckless Driver

A report at 11:10 p. m., by Officers James Harbeck and William Norton said a station wagon owned and operated by James Forman, 49, of Lake Katrine, was headed east on Broadway, and cars driven by Dennis Jordan Lee, 23, of South Road, Poughkeepsie, and Lionel Coddington, RD, Kingston, were headed west on Broadway when they collided.

Lee was arrested by Forman on a charge of reckless driving and was fined $50 when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

The police report, indicating that Lee might also have been slightly injured, said he refused treatment.

Officers William Hanley and Raymond Wells were assigned to direct traffic at the intersection until the wrecked vehicles were removed.

A. T. Post Air Pioneer Dies; Singer and Actor

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Col. Augustus T. Post, 78, pioneer of the air and gasoline age, died here Saturday night.

He became an advocate of balloon travel in 1900 after going aloft in a 52-passenger balloon. A few years later he and Alan R. Hawley set an American record of 1,173 miles for free ballooning.

In 1909 he added another record—this one with Clifford B. Harmon. They established an American balloon duration mark of 48 hours, 26 minutes.

For years Post piloted racing motorcycles and automobiles, and he was the 13th man to fly a plane in this country.

He was a founder of the Automobile Club of America, incorporator of the Aero Club of America and organizer of the first sightseeing automobile club in the country.

Post also was known as a singer, actor, writer and lecturer.

Called Wrong Play—Frick

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—A converted aerial camera, making three pictures a second, was used by AP Photographer John Lindsay yesterday to record the disputed play involving Johnny Sain of the New York Yankees in the tenth inning of the fifth World Series game. Umpire Art Passarella of the American League, called Sain out on a close play at first base. Pictures taken by Lindsay show Sain's foot dug into the bag with the ball still several feet away from Gil Hodges' glove. A roll of film used by the camera has 50 frames. Only five frames remained when he shot the picture which prompted Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick to say today that "it looks like Passarella called a wrong play."

May Do Business

Tehran, Iran, Oct. 6 (AP)—A source close to Iran's government suggested last night that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh may seek further negotiations on the latest British-American notes on the oil crisis, even though the western replies ignored Iran's recent "last-ditch" demands and stood on the west's last offer.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

organization bureau (Orgburo) by a presidium.

Malenkov's bitter charges against the United States were preceded by similar accusations from another Politburo member, former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who denounced U. S. "ruling circles" for creating "aggressive war alliances like the North Atlantic bloc directed against peace-loving states of the Soviet Union, the Chinese Peoples Republic and countries of the peoples democracies."

"The bosses of the United States," said Molotov, "* * * knew from the experience of the Hitlerites * * * that it was impossible even to dream about world domination without the use of force."

Refers to Atom Use

Malenkov said Soviet discovery of the means for producing atomic energy had "liquidated the dominant position of the U. S. A. in this field and dealt a serious blow to the warmongers, who tried to use the atomic secret and possession of the atomic weapon for purposes of blackmail to frighten other people."

Malenkov gave no information about Soviet atomic weapons, but said the "Soviet state is deeply interested in having this new type of energy used for peaceful purposes."

On the economic front, Malenkov accused the United States of boosting exports by "shameless dumping" and forcing the other capitalist nations to adopt a "war economy." This, he declared, had raised economic output but was developing widespread strikes, falling living standards and bitter rivalries between nations.

Says Capitalists Weaken

All this, he continued, "means the world system of the capitalist economy as a whole has become much weaker than it has been before the war."

Before his address, the Congress elected a 16-man presidium for its session. This body is separate from the presidium to be chosen later to replace the Politburo.

The Congress Presidium includes eight members of the present Politburo and eight leaders of party organizations in various of the Soviet republics. The Politburo members named to the Presidium were Stalin, Malenkov, Molotov, Lavrenty P. Beria, K. Y. Voroshilov, N. A. Bulganin, L. M. Kaganovitch and H. S. Khrushchev.

Tass said foreign visitors attending the opening session included French Communist Leader Maurice Thorez, who long has been convalescing in Moscow; Harry Pollitt, head of the British Communist Party, and Wilhelm Pieck, president of the East German Republic.

Lightkeeper Saves Man From River

Warning signals picked up by Herman Lange, of the U. S. Coast Guard, keeper of the Rondout light, saved Raymond Hoetger, 29, of 10 Valley street, from a serious struggle with the waters of the Hudson early last night.

Hoetger was testing an outboard motor on the eight-foot racing hull Wigwag, when it upset in the wake of a tug pushing an oil tanker in the river a half mile southeast of the lighthouse at about 5:45 p. m.

The tug sounded a danger signal, flashed a light, which Lange noticed, and someone yelled, "Man overboard!" Lange rowed out to the overturned craft and found Hoetger clinging to it in the chilly water.

The lighthouse keeper took Hoetger aboard and towed the hull. They stopped at the lighthouse to replace the cold, wet clothing, and Lange took Hoetger ashore from where he went home by cab.

Marines Fail

First Marine Division, was identified as the unit involved in savage fighting south of Panmunjom the past few days. The Communists took the outpost hill position in that area Friday and defended it against savage South Korean attacks Saturday and Sunday.

Stopped at Bunker Hill

Allied troops threw back three Chinese probes on Bunker Hill yesterday. The Eighth Army said the Reds lost 86 men killed or wounded. The Chinese also probed Big Nori and Little Nori hills on the western front.

Across the peninsula, several Communist probes hit the alllied line above the Punch Bowl and northeast of the Punch Bowl near "Luke the Gook's Castle."

An allied patrol in the same area encountered 60 Reds at dusk yesterday and killed or wounded an estimated 23 Communists.

Gets 30-Day Term

DeWitt Curtis, 65, of Big Indian was sentenced Saturday afternoon to a 30-day jail term as a third offender on a charge of being an unlicensed operator of a motor vehicle. He was arrested in Big Indian by State Police Cpl. Ray Dunn, who said Curtis had failed to answer a summons issued Sept. 29 on that charge. He was taken before Justice of the Peace Edward France, who imposed sentence. A second charge, that of operating an unregistered motor vehicle, has been filed against Curtis, to be heard after Curtis serves the present sentence, Cpl. Dunn reported.

Port Ewen Woman In Auto Accident Near Bloomington

Mrs. Edna Burr, 35, of Port Ewen was treated by Dr. Eugene Galvin of Rosendale for contusions and abrasions of her forehead following a three-vehicle crash on Route 32 at Bloomington about 8:10 p. m. Sunday, state police reported.

Troopers said Mrs. Burr was riding in an automobile driven by Raymond Burr, 39, of Port Ewen, which was involved in a collision with a coupe driven by Joseph Rectenwald, 24, of 102 Main street, Rosendale, and another automobile driven by Vincent Rainieri, 34, of Highland. The collision occurred as Rectenwald was attempting to turn left off Route 32, troopers said, while Burr was driving straight north and Rainieri was going straight south on the two-lane highway. No arrest was made.

Criticizes Lag

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Justice Department, says a House investigating group, has recovered only $300,000 of allegedly fraudulent World War 2 contracts totaling 21 million dollars. Asserting the fraud charges were referred to the department four years ago by the General Accounting Office (GAO), a House Judiciary Subcommittee said the department has "taken an excessive amount of time in moving to recover money due the United States government."

imply that the drum major has made a mess of things . . . so confusion reigns among them. And now we are getting an educated accent welded on to the old Democrat demagoggery."

This was the kind of "give-'em-hell" talk that Eisenhower had never attempted before. His lieutenants were elated by the reaction from the Fargo audience.

Generally they felt the speech was one of the most effective the general has delivered—and that the reaction pointed a broad avenue of future attack.

Jersey Crash

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 6 (AP)—Nine cars and two trucks piled up one after another in a patch of heavy fog on the New Jersey Turnpike today, hospitalizing four persons. State police said the 11-vehicle chain reaction smashup occurred about 7:30 a. m. when Edward Salzano, 26, of Jersey City, hit the fog bank and slowed down. Then a truck rammed him from the rear, state police said, the truck swinging around and blocking both southbound lanes of the superhighway. Then, one after another, the other cars and the second truck loomed up in the fog, their brakes squealing, and crashed into the mess.

Cold Snap Continues

(By The Associated Press)

A cold snap that dropped Sunday temperatures far below freezing between the Great Lakes and the Rockies continued today. But it was less intense. There were no readings today to match Sunday's 21 at Green Bay, Wis.; Duluth, Minn., and Fargo, N. D., or Rapid City, S.D.'s 19. The unseasonably cool weather covered all but the Atlantic and Pacific coast states and the south. It brought rain to many areas. There were snow flurries in the Lake Superior region and in the mountains of Colorado. Early morning temperatures included Chicago 32, Detroit and St. Louis 36, Minneapolis 37, New York 60, Miami 72, Seattle 59 and Los Angeles 61.

Says He Knew About Plot

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—A friend said today he had known for months that he and the slain Dominican Republic revolutionary, Andres Requena, had a $5,000 price on their heads. Requena was ambushed and assassinated last Thursday night in the hallway of a Lower East Side tenement. Nicholas Silfa, describing himself as a friend and fellow-revolutionist, said enemies "paid an assassin $5,000 to kill Requena and myself." The slain man published a pamphlet, De Patria, that was bitterly critical of the Trujillo regime in the Dominican Republic.

Puerto Rico Does Share

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—Puerto Rico accounted for 138 of 301 American battle casualties in Korea identified by the Defense Department today. A new list reported totals of 25 killed, 210 wounded, 46 missing and 20 injured. Puerto Rico's share was five killed, 76 wounded, 44 missing and 13 injured.

Struggle Up Mountain

New Delhi, India, Oct. 6 (AP)—Six Swiss mountain climbers toiled up the bleak slopes of unconquered Mount Everest today for a final struggle toward the snow-covered summit, five and a half miles high. No man has ever climbed this world's tallest peak and returned to tell about it.

London, Oct. 6 (AP)—Tea came off the ration in Britain today for the first time since July, 1940. Stores said there was no rush to buy.

Truman Train Is

mission, and no invitation is involved insofar as the national committee is concerned.

Party Couldn't Pay

Whoever happens to be president at the time gets the advantage of the secret service protection in a campaign year. No political party could raise enough that fall by law to a president.

Because they must assure his protection at all times, they send out agents in advance to go every step of the route he must travel.

How much is this service costing, in terms of salary, Pullman accommodations and per diem up to a maximum of $9 a day?

That would require a lot of treasury experts with figures on the salaries of each and every man on the White House detail, field office secret service men are brought into play.

Communications Costly

There are others, who are required to be with the president at all times, wherever he is and whatever he is doing. Like the army signal corps officers who have an elaborate communications system of radio telephone and radio teletype which keeps the president of the United States in touch with the White House and all world capitals at all times.

How much do their salaries and expenses amount to? That would require a first-hand statement from each just as it would in the case of the secret service men.

Always Official Business

Truman aides point out that Truman didn't request the secret service to come along on the trip, that the army signal corps men have to be available at all times, and that no matter how deeply the president involves himself in politics, there is always official business to be transacted when he is on the road.

As for the salaries of the president and his staff during the period they are away on political missions, these aides point out that the salaries of campaigning governors, senators, and representatives go on during campaigns, as do those of their secretaries, clerks and other aides.

They ask, "Would you deduct two weeks of the president's salary under the circumstances?"

Cashmore on Tour

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—John Cashmore, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, today launched a four-day auto tour of 13 upstate cities. His wife went with him. A luncheon at Newburgh was his first scheduled speech. On Thursday, Cashmore joins President Truman for a New York state whistle-stop swing.

Nixon in Connecticut

Po'keepsie Man Fined $50 After Downtown Mishap

Three persons were injured last night in a three-car collision at Broadway and Brewster street, following which, one driver was arrested on a reckless driving charge.

Gertrude Buboltz, 36, of 136 Third avenue, suffered a fractured nose; Peggy Bujak, 43, of 18 Second avenue, suffered a head injury, and Helen Forman, 44, of Lake Katrine, suffered lacerations of the scalp, contusions of the chest and abrasions of the right knee.

They were taken to Kingston Hospital by ambulance and each was reported in "apparently good" condition today.

Fined as Reckless Driver

A report at 11:10 p. m., by Officers James Harbeck and William Norton said a station wagon owned and operated by James Forman, 49, of Lake Katrine, was headed east on Broadway, and cars driven by Dennis Jordan Lee, 23, of South Road, Poughkeepsie, and Lionel Coddington, RD, Kingston, were headed west on Broadway when they collided.

Lee was arrested by Forman on a charge of reckless driving and was fined $50 when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

The police report, indicating that Lee might also have been slightly injured, said he refused treatment.

Officers William Hanley and Raymond Wells were assigned to direct traffic at the intersection until the wrecked vehicles were removed.

A. T. Post Air Pioneer Dies; Singer and Actor

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Col. Augustus T. Post, 78, pioneer of the air and gasoline age, died here Saturday night.

He became an advocate of balloon travel in 1900 after going aloft in a 52-passenger balloon. A few years later he and Alan R. Hawley set an American record of 1,173 miles for free ballooning.

In 1909 he added another record—this one with Clifford B. Harmon. They established an American balloon duration mark of 48 hours, 26 minutes.

For years Post piloted racing motorcycles and automobiles, and he was the 13th man to fly a plane in this country.

He was a founder of the Automobile Club of America, incorporator of the Aero Club of America and organizer of the first sightseeing automobile club in the country.

Post also was known as a singer, actor, writer and lecturer.

May Do Business

Tehran, Iran, Oct. 6 (AP)—A source close to Iran's government suggested last night that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh may seek further negotiations on the latest British-American notes on the oil crisis, even though the western replies ignored Iran's recent "last-ditch" demands and stood on the west's last offer.

Says Capitalists Weaken

All this, he continued, "means the world system of the capitalist economy as a whole has become much weaker than it has been before the war."

Before his address, the Congress elected a 16-man presidium for its session. This body is separate from the presidium to be chosen later to replace the Politburo.

The Congress Presidium includes eight members of the present Politburo and eight leaders of party organizations in various of the Soviet republics. The Politburo members named to the Presidium were Stalin, Malenkov, Molotov, Lavrenty P. Beria, K. Y. Voroshilov, N. A. Bulganin, L. M. Kaganovitch and H. S. Khrushchev.

Tass said foreign visitors attending the opening session included French Communist Leader Maurice Thorez, who long has been convalescing in Moscow; Harry Pollitt, head of the British Communist Party, and Wilhelm Pieck, president of the East German Republic.

Lightkeeper Saves Man From River

Warning signals picked up by Herman Lange, of the U. S. Coast Guard, keeper of the Rondout light, saved Raymond Hoetger, 29, of 10 Valley street, from a serious struggle with the waters of the Hudson early last night.

Hoetger was testing an outboard motor on the eight-foot racing hull Wigwag, when it upset in the wake of a tug pushing an oil tanker in the river a half mile southeast of the lighthouse at about 5:45 p. m.

The tug sounded a danger signal, flashed a light, which Lange noticed, and someone yelled, "Man overboard!" Lange rowed out to the overturned craft and found Hoetger clinging to it in the chilly water.

The lighthouse keeper took Hoetger aboard and towed the hull. They stopped at the lighthouse to replace the cold, wet clothing, and Lange took Hoetger ashore from where he went home by cab.

Marines Fail

First Marine Division, was identified as the unit involved in savage fighting south of Panmunjom the past few days. The Communists took the outpost hill position in that area Friday and defended it against savage South Korean attacks Saturday and Sunday.

Stopped at Bunker Hill

Allied troops threw back three Chinese probes on Bunker Hill yesterday. The Eighth Army said the Reds lost 86 men killed or wounded. The Chinese also probed Big Nori and Little Nori hills on the western front.

Across the peninsula, several Communist probes hit the alllied line above the Punch Bowl and northeast of the Punch Bowl near "Luke the Gook's Castle."

An allied patrol in the same area encountered 60 Reds at dusk yesterday and killed or wounded an estimated 23 Communists.

Gets 30-Day Term

DeWitt Curtis, 65, of Big Indian was sentenced Saturday afternoon to a 30-day jail term as a third offender on a charge of being an unlicensed operator of a motor vehicle. He was arrested in Big Indian by State Police Cpl. Ray Dunn, who said Curtis had failed to answer a summons issued Sept. 29 on that charge. He was taken before Justice of the Peace Edward France, who imposed sentence. A second charge, that of operating an unregistered motor vehicle, has been filed against Curtis, to be heard after Curtis serves the present sentence, Cpl. Dunn reported.

Rifenbary Named Foreman of Jury

Jay W. Rifenbary of Kingston was named foreman of the Grand jury at the opening session of Supreme Court today at 11 a. m. Edward J. Ryan of Kingston was named acting foreman by Justice Harry E. Schirick, presiding justice.

On the call of the Grand jury five asked to be excused and one member of the panel has died since the jury list was made up.

Of the 36 trial jurors 11 were excused and Justice Schirick made an order directing that an additional panel of 20 jurors be drawn. Civil matters were taken up at 2 p. m.

The Weather

MONDAY, OCT. 6, 1952

Sun rises at 5:46 a. m.; sun sets at 5:18 p. m., E.S.T.
Weather: Partly cloudy.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 51 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 73 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity: Increasing cloudiness today followed by occasional rain, beginning this afternoon or tonight and continuing into Tuesday. Mild again today with highest temperatures around 70. Cooler tonight, lowest temperature near 50. Clearing and cooler Tuesday afternoon, highest temperature near 60.

Eastern New York: Cloudy and cooler with rain today and tonight. Lowest tonight around 35 north portion and 40 south portion. Tuesday partly cloudy and continued cool.

The city's engineer's weather records today showed a temperature of 62 degrees at 10 a. m., a barometric pressure of 29.7 inches, a humidity of 61 per cent, and a southwest wind with a velocity of two miles an hour. The high temperature yesterday was 68 at 2 p. m., and the low was 44 at 6 a. m. The mean temperature was 56 and the normal is 58. The humidity was 99 at 1 p. m., and 77 at 3 p. m. The barometric pressure was 29.8 at 1 a. m., and 29.62 at 8 p. m. The top velocity of a southwest wind was eight miles an hour.

Mexico's westernmost possession, the Guadalupe Islands, contains oaks which bear the largest known acorns, fully two inches in diameter.

Area Scout Group Reports Goal for Camporee in West

Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, has set 66 boys and nine leaders as its attendance goal for the 1953 National Jamboree to be held next July in Santa Ana, Calif.

A committee headed by William S. Keyser is already at work urging Scouts from the Ulster-Greene county area to sign up for this "once-in-a-lifetime" trip.

The third National Jamboree will be held on the Irvine Ranch near Santa Ana, one of the few remaining Spanish grant ranches.

Itinerary Is Given

With the Boy Scout national office stressing the opportunity of conducting tours and sightseeing en route, the local council has submitted a tentative itinerary to the National Association of Railroads for approval. It will be a round trip of 6,480 miles, all by rail on a special Boy Scout train. It will include stops at Chicago, National Glacier Park, Portland, San Francisco and Grand Canyon. There may also be a steamer trip from Seattle to Vancouver, B. C.

The trip, in the words of local Council committeemen, affords the boy, "unexcelled adventures, education, travel, and association with boys of many lands, at an unparalleled low cost."

The Jamboree itself will be encamped from July 17 through 23, 1953, with approximately 50,000 Scouts in attendance. The local contingent will leave Kingston about July 10 and return about July 29, according to present plans.

Total cost of the trip to a boy from this area has been estimated at $350.

Preliminary reservations will be accepted at the Rip Van Winkle Council office, 260 Fair street, Kingston. Parents' permission is a necessity, and the national Boy Scout office has set requirements that all boys attending must be at least Second Class Scouts or Explorer Apprentices, and must be at least 12 years of age on Jan. 1, 1953.

Nabbed With Bomb

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 6 (AP)—A man carrying a ticking time bomb was arrested yesterday in the Israeli foreign office. Witnesses said he was nabbed as he was trying to set the mechanism to explode six minutes later. Police identified the man as Dov Schliansky, of Tel Aviv, a married man with one child. Officials said he refused to answer any questions. Investigators speculated that the bombing attempt was connected with the 822 million dollar reparations agreement signed Sept. 10 between West Germany and Israel.

Ridgway Says Reds Are Now Stronger Than West Forces

New York, Oct. 6—(AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway says the north Atlantic treaty organization's military strenght is "dangerously inadequate" and is surpassed by the Soviet Union's.

Ridgway and Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, were honored last night by Freedom House, a private organization dedicated to the "one world" idea of the late Wendell L. Willkie. Both recently were announced as winners of the group's annual freedom awards.

In his speech, which was recorded on film at his headquarters in France, the supreme allied commander in Europe asserted that he rejected "as unjustified and dangerous the promise that potential aggressors do not want war, are not ready for war and will not precipitate war."

Must Build Defenses

"There can be no excuse for any slackening of effort in building NATO defenses," Ridgway said, until the "present power ratio between soviet capability for attack and ours for defense" swings to NATO'S favor.

Conant, in his address, said the "present operation of the selective service act is far from satisfactory." He said it is "uncertain and unfair, and hence it is not conductive to good morale among men of military age."

The Harvard president, who was at the gathering, said he believes that, beginning in early 1951, every able-body young man on reaching 18 should have been inducted for two years' military service with "no deferments for farmers, industrial workers or college students."

Messages were read at the dinner from President Truman, democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson, and republican presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Juke Box in Church

Harrison, N. J., Oct. 6 (AP)—A juke box in a church? You'll find one in St. John's Lutheran Church here, and when you make a selection, out pours the soothing strains of a hymn. It was the church's pastor, 37-year-old Rev. Theodore Bornhoeft, who got the idea of installing the juke box—an idea born of concern over the fact that there wasn't enough of a response to a new policy of keeping the church open all day as a place for prayer and meditation. So the juke box, with its flashing lights was installed about a month ago in the choir loft, and, according to the Rev. Mr. Bornhoeft, is fast becoming one of the most played music machines in town.

Amazing store demonstration proves new Devoe WONDER-1-COAT House Paint has double the hiding power of ordinary paint

The above figures for competitive two-coat paints and Devoe WONDER-1-COAT paint show the number of whiteness units per gallon — which indicates the comparative degrees of HIDING POWER! Devoe WONDER-1-COAT far surpasses all other paints!

COMPARED to the average of all other type paints, the hiding power of Devoe WONDER-1-COAT House Paint is more than double. We'll be tickled to show you a demonstration board (illustrated above) to show what hiding power is.

Briefly: we drop equal portions of leading white paints and Devoe WONDER-1-COAT — all on a dark board. Then we level out each portion to THE SAME THICKNESS. The result is startling! Only WONDER-1-COAT paint hides the surface completely. Only Devoe WONDER-1-COAT has enough whiteness units — and consequently hiding power — to completely cover in one stroke.

The above picture gives you only a bare idea. Come in and see the actual demonstration board itself. It will prove the magic of revolutionary new DEVOE WONDER-1-COAT as nothing else can. Come in soon, won't you?

★ A Company Is Known By the Customers It Keeps!
In glancing over our books of the past 20 years we find many, many customers who have employed us ever since we started in the business of Roofing and Roof Repairs, Gutters, Siding Installation, and the sale of such materials.
This indicates that we're "well-known," and we are justly proud of it. It also means that our continuous efforts to bring you a Job Well Done, has "paid-off!" When you need the services of a reliable roofing establishment — we are as near as your telephone, and just as dependable!

Amazing store demonstration proves new Devoe WONDER-1-COAT House Paint has double the hiding power of ordinary paint
The above figures for competitive two-coat paints and Devoe WONDER-1-COAT paint show the number of whiteness units per gallon — which indicates the comparative degrees of HIDING POWER! Devoe WONDER-1-COAT far surpasses all other paints!
COMPARED to the average of all other type paints, the hiding power of Devoe WONDER-1-COAT House Paint is more than double. We'll be tickled to show you a demonstration board (illustrated above) to show what hiding power is.
Briefly: we drop equal portions of leading white paints and Devoe WONDER-1-COAT — all on a dark board. Then we level out each portion to THE SAME THICKNESS. The result is startling! Only WONDER-1-COAT paint hides the surface completely. Only Devoe WONDER-1-COAT has enough whiteness units — and consequently hiding power — to completely cover in one stroke.
The above picture gives you only a bare idea. Come in and see the actual demonstration board itself. It will prove the magic of revolutionary new DEVOE WONDER-1-COAT as nothing else can. Come in soon, won't you?
